Knock out nematodes

WITH EASY-TO-USE D-D SOIL FUMIGANT

Clear your soil of nematodes now and get bigger—better tobacco yields at harvest. Use D-D soil fumigant.

D-D soil fumigant is an easy-to-use liquid. You can apply it directly to the soil with gravity-flow or inexpensive pressure equipment. Underground it becomes a lethal gas, killing root knot and other harmful nematodes as it spreads. Economical, too—one treatment lasts an entire season.

This season use D-D soil fumigant before you plant. It's available from your local pesticide dealer. See him today.

Legislative Summary

NOTE: This is the second of a series of weekly summaries prepared by the legislative staff of the Institute of Government on the work of the North Carolina General Assembly of 1957. It is confined to discussions of matters of general interest and major importance.

Reapportionment

After failure to reapportion legislative seats in 1951 and 1953, the 1955 General Assembly tossed the hot political potato to a special study commission. That commission tossed the potato right back this week. SB 47 provides a new basis for apportionment, specifying that no county may have over two senators and no senatorial district may include more than four counties. If the four county limitation should have the effect of increasing the number of senators beyond 50, apparently some county entitled to two senators would lose one or some district having less than four counties would have counties added so that the total number of senators would not pass 50. House membership would be increased from 120 to 130.

Budget Matters

The Finance Committees of the two houses (plus members of the appropriations committee sitting in invitation) began their consideration of the 300-page Revenue Bill submitted last week. Chairman Brandon Hodges of the Tax Study Commission, Revenue Commissioner Shaw, and Assistant Budget Director Coltrane appeared on successive days to explain various aspects of the measure. Examination of the other side of the budgetary coin will begin Tuesday, when the joint Appropriations Committees will hear agency representatives outline spending requests.

World Day Prayer At St. Gabriels

The World Day of Prayer will be observed at St. Gabriels Episcopal Church Friday afternoon. Mrs. O. L. McCullen will be in charge of the program. All the churches in town will take part in the program.

North Duplin PTA Hears Dr. Glascock

The Parent-Teachers Association of North Duplin High School met Monday night at the school. Mr. William McCullen, president of the association, presided over the meeting. The devotional was led by Mrs. Elbert Davis. Mrs. J. B. Stroud, Jr., introduced the speaker for the evening, Dr. D. W. Glascock. Dr. Glascock spoke on the 'Value of Education.'

Teachers Honored At Tea In Room

Pupils of the Special Education class, taught by Mrs. Elizabeth Clifton, honored their teachers Thursday afternoon. A tea was held in their classroom. The February decorations and favors were made by the pupils. The pupils greeted the guests and served the tea.

Miss Berta Stroud Rates Superior

The music contest, sponsored by N. C. Music Education Association, was held in Wilmington Friday. Miss Berta Stroud, pupil of Mrs. J. W. Middleton of Warsaw, entered the contest, playing a piano solo. Miss Stroud received superior rating on her number.

State Government Reorganization

Proposals of three legislative study commissions for reorganization of the state government were introduced this week with the blessings of the Governor. They included a bill to revamp the State Highway and Public Works Commission, recommended by a commission headed by Senator Claude Currier; two constitutional amendments recommended by the Commission on Legislative Representation, headed by Dean Carroll Weathers of the Wake Forest Law School; and the first four bills submitted by the Commission on Reorganization of State Government, headed by Representative David Clark.

Highway Commission

The 14 member State Highway and Public Works Commission would be replaced by a 7 member State Highway Commission representing the whole state rather than particular districts. The Commission would be limited to making general policy and rules and regulations, rather than actively administering the road-building program. That function would be turned over to a career Director of Highways, a chief engineer, and 14 district engineers. Another major innovation would forbid active politicking by Commission employees. To keep the new department in touch with local highway needs, provision is made for regular consultation with county commissioners, but final decisions would remain with the Director.

Reorganization Commission Bill

Efficiency and economy were twin watchwords of four Reorganization Commission bills. The major measure would create a new Department of Administration out of the present Budget Bureau and Division of Purchase and Contract, with the addition of new long-range planning, administrative analysis, and property control functions. An eventual home in this Department of General Services replacing the present Board of Public Buildings and Grounds, with the housekeeping functions of the present Board and also responsibility for a new central motor pool for state agencies in Raleigh and such other centralized services as might be found feasible. To handle increased duties in preparing long-range capital improvements programs, the Advisory Budget Commission would be given an additional member and one of its appointive members would be required to have legislative experience. The fourth bill sets up standardized procedures to be followed in the acquisition and disposition of real property, and provides for effective use of presently unused state lands.

Motor Vehicles

Safety on the highways regularly furnishes much of the grist for the legislative mill. Three of the early bills in this session would

Miscellaneous

A 3 year project sponsored by the State Board of Health culminated in introduction of the first thoroughgoing revision of the state's public health laws. Tobacco growers' troubles were reflected in a bill requiring that products be labeled to show whether they are made from natural or homogenized or reconstituted leaf. A $1 minimum wage would apply to all workers except salesmen on commission and those in agriculture, government, domestic service, or paid largely by tips.
