Leroy Simmons Opens Albertson Hog Market

Leroy Simmons, a native of Duplin County, and a farmer of the Albertson Community, has opened a Hog Market near his corn and feed mill near Albertson.

He has been operating the feed mill for the past five years.

Simmons' Hog Buying Station will operate daily, Monday through Friday, from sun up until 4 p.m. On Saturdays, the market will be open from sun up until 10 a.m.

Free pick-up service is being offered customers of the hog market.

Simmons points out that his reason for closing the market so early each day is to enable him to give the best possible service. Hogs must be delivered at their selling station before 6 p.m.

"I am interested in seeing to it that the farmer gets the best advantage of the situation and plan to work toward that end," Simmons said.

By establishing a hog market in reach of many farmers, it will mean that more corn and grain can be used locally in feeding out hogs. By using the grain and corn grown locally, it will mean that the farmer will receive more in return for the money he has invested.

"We have a program whereby we can locate and get pigs at cost for farmers who are interested in feeding their own grain to hogs," Simmons said. "We can also furnish a complete line of feeds, vaccines, and everything that it takes to raise hogs. We are offering a complete hog service."

Simmons has had experience in buying hogs off and on for the past 25 years and feels that he knows enough about the business and market to be able to advise farmers with their problems from time to time.

Chris Coombs is associated with Simmons.

Coombs, a former mayor of Pink Hill has been employed by Herbert Jones, Pink Hill, and Melvin Jones, at Jones Chevrolet, in Pink Hill, and more recently operated a store for himself.

LEROY SIMMONS

Leroy Simmons, president of the Duplin County Farm Bureau was born and raised in the piney woods in Albertson township. He came from a good heritage in blood but not in money. He came up the hard way, but he did have the belief in himself, in his section and his county. He started out as a young man on the farm, in the depression, which was a hard row for any young man to start. His faith in himself and his neighbors proved right. Leroy knew what the rail splitter knew and from that he looked into the future and moved forward. He has grown into one of Duplin's leading farmers and by his own practice he has demonstrated that a farmer can make money with out tobacco.

He has worked, sweated day and night to improve the lot of the farmers in this county. He believes that through cooperation the farmer can win. Labor has proven this in their class.

Leroy's faith in the production ability of Duplin County has brought about a hog market in an area, in the sandy roads and piney thickets in Duplin County, that no one would have thought could have produced hogs on a marketable basis. He deserves the thanks of the people in northern Duplin County for his daring to meet a challenge of a modern day economy.

Kenansville Recreation Program Is Scheduled To Begin Last Part Of May

The first professionally directed Kenansville Recreation Program ever to be sponsored locally will get underway around the last of May.

The program, under the direction of Bill Helton, will last for ten weeks. It is under the sponsorship of the Kenansville Lions Club.

Plans at the present call for the program to be financed through private contributions of individuals and businesses in Kenansville, according to Lions Club members. It is estimated the total cost will be $600.

A canvas of the town will be made Thursday, May 23, at 8:30-8:00 p.m. to raise funds for the recreation program.

Already the Lions Club and Junior Class of Kenansville school are sponsoring a Sock-Hop, a dance, each Friday night in Kenan Memorial Auditorium. The proceeds are divided. The Lions Club plans to take these proceeds and help finance the Recreation Program.

All children of school age can be enrolled in the program.

The tentative schedule calls for the Recreation to be under Helton's supervision Monday through Thursday. The following schedule of recreation will be set up: Monday, Tuesday and Thursday from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00; from 2:00 p.m. to 5 p.m.; from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. Wednesday — 9:00 a.m. to 12:00. Friday: 9:00 a.m. to 12:00; and from 2:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. with the "Sock Hop" Dance from 7:00 to 11:00 p.m. closing out each week's activities.

Some of the games to be played in the supervised Recreation Program will include Ping Pong, Tennis, Soft Ball, Basketball and Volley Ball.

All of the playing will be in and around Kenansville school and Kenan Memorial Auditorium.

Some of the older students who will be participating in the program will assist Helton during the morning and afternoon with the smaller children.

Phil Kretsch, cashier of Waccamaw Bank and Trust Company, Kenansville, is president of the Lions Club.

Poultry Field Day Is Scheduled For May 24, At Willard Research Station

A Poultry Field Day will be held at the Willard Agricultural Research Station in Pender County on May 24, according to Vernon H. Reynolds, County Farm Agent.

Edward W. Glazener, head of the department of poultry science, N. C. State College, said the event is expected to attract 400 farmers.

The poultry industry (eggs, broilers and turkeys) has grown extremely fast in the Pender-Duplin-Sampson County area over the last few years. It accounted for between $5 and $6 million income in the three counties last year.

Glazener said the program will begin at 10 a.m. with a welcome and introductory remarks by Roy L. Lovorn, director of the N. C. Agricultural Experiment Station, C. H. Hill, associate professor of poultry science at State College, will explain developments in new feeds for layers and broilers. Glazener will answer the question, "Will broilers and layers meet the test?"

C. P. Libeau, poultry specialist for the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service, will discuss potential poultry markets. C. F. Parrish, in charge of poultry work for the Extension Service, will moderate a pre-lunch question and answer period.

Lunch will be available on the experiment station grounds.

The afternoon program will be devoted to tours and demonstrations. These include "Cooling the Egg Factory," by B. F. Parker, assistant professor of agricultural engineering at State College; "Sweet and Egg Quality," by Dr. D. N. Fremm, assistant professor of poultry products, State College; and "Shall I Vaccinate," by F. R. Craig, extension poultry pathologist.

There will be an extension display of poultry equipment at the field day.

Poultry production has increased more in Duplin County in the last three years than in any other county in the State. Total income from poultry produced in Duplin this year should be between $6 and $8 million dollars ranking second to tobacco in farm income.

Duplin County should be able to compete with any area in poultry production because of a plentiful supply of grain, and other favorable factors.

All Duplin County people interested in poultry are urged to attend the Poultry Field Day, Friday, May 24.

Plans for conducting an inventory of water problems in Duplin County were announced today by E. E. Kelly, Chairman of the Board of Commissioners.

Kelly said the inventory is part of a state-wide study being sponsored by the State Board of Water Commissioners for the purpose of obtaining an accurate, detailed picture of the water problems that affect North Carolinians at the local level.

The information collected during the next few weeks in Duplin County, Kelly said, "will play an important part in forming the basis for future water conservation planning in North Carolina."

"Every county in the state is being asked to participate in this study," Kelly said, "and every citizen is being asked to help by reporting water problems that exist now or may develop in the future. These reports will be received at a meeting that will be held within the next few weeks in the county. We are forming a committee at the present time to plan this meeting and ample advance notice will be given of the time and place."

Kelly stressed the fact that this county-wide meeting will be open to every person or organization with a water problem to report. Businessmen, farmers, city officials, sportsmen — all will be urged to attend.

It was also pointed out that the Pleasant Grove Is Growing

New mail box posts are going up in the Pleasant Grove Community and soon the old dilapidated posts will be a thing of the past in this section of Duplin County. At the Thursday night meeting of the Development Club the chairman of the mail box committee asked each one who had improved their boxes to bring pictures of them together with the time spent improving them and recognition would be given the one spending the most time on their mail box.

The people are painting, repairing, building new fences, cleaning up unsightly places, and working on a play ground for the youth of the neighborhood as well as many other things that will make the community a better and prettier place in which to live and to make a living.

The club voted to buy a new refrigerator for the building with the House Development Club paying half on it. This will be our added convenience in serving the many meetings and other meals which are served there.

A demonstration plot of the different tobacco varieties will be set out on the Taft Herring farm this week. Each variety will be tagged and checked on for different things which will be interesting and helpful to all the farmers in the community.

E. J. Simpson, Assistant County Agent, announced that lime could be secured in the fall at a reasonable price for the fields that were not tested in the spring and a little later more soil sampling will be taken and sent to Raleigh to be tested and see what is needed in the way of liming etc.

An official entry blank was mailed last week entering the club in the Community Development Contest, to John H. Fox in Wilmington, chairman of the committee on the community development of the state. Their many projects were listed as improvements of community building, mail box improvements, corn demonstration, soil sampling and others.

Arrange Sewing Center For Ease And Convenience

If you're planning to make clothes for summer, it's a good idea to take the time to arrange your sewing center for comfortable, convenient work.

How fast and easy your work goes may depend on the height of the cutting and sewing tables you use and the comfort of the chair you sit in.

Twenty-four homemakers in Pennsylvania tried an experiment and helped in laboratory tests of sewing equipment. They found that cutting tables about 36 inches high and not less than 56 inches long made their work easier. Of course, the height of the table or cutting board should be adjusted to suit the woman who will be using it.
