

Warsaw Garden Club Presents Award To Mr. And Mrs. Emmons Garner

The Warsaw Garden Club presents the Yard of the Month Award to Mr. and Mrs. Emmons Garner for the well unified plan of the part of lot that lies behind the house. Here we have an excellent example for a homeowner who needs to combine vegetable garden, play ground, service yard and private lawn and flowers all in one spot.

Emmons says that the credit belongs to Ghaynelle for all he does is mow the grass. Therefore the committee commends her for this plan involving the following five factors.

1. THE GARDEN IS SIMPLE AND SATISFACTORY.

The vegetable garden at the back of the property is screened from the lawn by a hedge of spires. Flower borders are kept to the outside boundaries leaving the lawn unbroken. This arrangement is satisfactory because the grass is easy to cut and the pretty green carpet is framed by the colorful flowers, giving an unobstructed view. This is important to a mother working and watching children at the same time.

2. THE GARDEN IS PLEASING AND PRETTY.

The beauty here is created by repetition. Three mimosa trees have been used and the flower borders have been made in 4 spots. But the repetition of color will be seen more in the future as the garden grows. Next year Ghaynelle plans to plant her bulbs, annuals and perennials in groups of one color, rather than spot the colors about through the borders. To do this you keep in mind the size relationship of the flower, the border, and the entire yard. If the plant is small use enough to make a splash of color in one spot. Later repeat this same grouping in the border. If the plant grows large possibly 3 plants or even one will do.

3. THE GARDEN IS WELL FRAMED AND FUNCTIONAL.

Ghaynelle used the existing wire fence on the left side of the yard as a frame on which ivy may climb to make a nice dark green background for the flowers in the border. This happens to be particularly good because on this side of the lawn a shrub border would have been out of proportion. Plans are being made for a background on the right side of the yard. The yard is functional because a portion has been kept for play ground for their small son. His sand pile is by the back porch and near the kitchen door. (Which reminds me that one reason Ghaynelle is so often in the kitchen is because of that wonderful talent she has in making and decorating such delicious and beautiful cakes that the town keeps her busy.) Later he will have the open expanse of the lawn for games.

The entrance to the vegetable garden has been subtly planned by a curved flower border which begins on the right boundary and turns into the yard. This leaves a generous opening wide enough to accommodate a wagon or tractor if ever needed.

4. THE GARDEN IS INTERESTING AND WELL INTEGRATED.

Occult (uneven) balance makes the garden interesting. None of the borders are exactly alike although they are well related. The mimosa trees are planted asymmetrically, two on one side of the yard and one on the other.

Size and proportion in all things have been considered to make a unified whole. The plot is small, so small trees were chosen. Crape Myrtle, mimosa and pussy willow are used. The flower borders are not too wide or deep. The largest flowers, such as dahlias, were placed at a distance to minimize their size.

5. THE GARDEN IS INEXPENSIVE.

Here we have an example of simple, pleasing beauty that can belong to any of us. All we need is the initiative to plan and willingness to work. The plants are easily available from the overflow of our families and friends who would much rather share than throw the extras away. The plants from the woods could not be overlooked.

JUST REMEMBER TO USE RESTRAINT IN YOUR PLANTING WHEN ACCEPTING PLANTS FROM GENEROUS FRIENDS.

There is so much available that one is tempted to accept it all. Real beauty and harmony comes from the repetition of fewer varieties of a kind and fewer kinds of plants. This award concludes the Warsaw Garden Club this year. We are happy to say it has been successful. It has been much talked about in Warsaw, and ideas have been exchanged. The Goldsboro News-Artist has mentioned this project in one of their editorials. Our Garden Club received an award at the State convention for promoting the work of Home Beautification. The Warsaw Garden Club is proud of the result of this project and want you to know we are always interested in helping the people of the town of WARSAW TO MAKE WARSAW BEAUTIFUL.

Motorists Warned

By Cpl. T. G. Brooks

The Fourth of July week end usually takes its toll of lives on the highways of North Carolina and the highways of the other states.

This year will be no exception, unless the motorists use precaution while traveling. Motorists are being warned to drive safely and within the speed limits in the country as well as in towns.

The newly authorized unmarked patrol cars will be on the highways. There is no markings on these cars except the aerial on the back. Speed watches will be continued and dummy tubes will be in operation. There will also be three or four patrolmen on some sections of the highway. The radar cars will be in use on our highways.

The patrol force is not out to mar anyone's holiday, but they are trying to curb the highway fatalities. They are helpless unless the cooperation of the motorist is given. This means to drive within the stated speed limits at all times. Watch for the speed signs and drive accordingly. Stay alive and save a life.

(Editor's note:) The safest way to be safe is stay at home. —J. R. Grady.

Duplin County Red Cross Chapter Holds Annual Meeting In Kenansville Recently

The Annual Meeting of the Duplin County Chapter, American Red Cross was held in the chapter office at Kenansville, on Tuesday night, June 18, 1957 at 8 p.m., with the Chapter Chairman, Attorney Robert L. West of Warsaw, presiding.

The Treasurer, Paul Ingram reported that the recent Fund Campaign had totaled $2836.34 which is a little better than 50 per cent of the assigned quota of $5414.00. He further stated that 70.4 per cent of that amount had to be sent to National Headquarters so the local balance was very small, and our services would have to be very limited unless more donations are sent in.

Of the amount turned in, $399.87 was by the Negro Division, headed by W. L. Pierce who gave the following report for his communities: Warsaw, $56.62; Wallace, $85.00; Kenansville, $17.87; Chinquapin, $14.88; Rose Hill, $100.76; Magnolia, $15.85; Teachey, $14.00; Bowden, $10.00; Faison, $38.30; Calypso, $10.00; Beaulaville, $8.00 and Branch, $30.30.

The report of the Jr. Red Cross revealed 10 white schools enrolled last fall, and 8 Negro schools with a total of $239.25 sent in to chapter headquarters. The Jr. also filled 84 Educational Gift boxes to be sent overseas at a value of $1.00 per box, plus shipment.

Two Home Nursing Classes were taught, one in the E. F. Smith High School at Kenansville and one in the White School at Kenansville with 23 certificates being issued.

Two Jr. Classes of First Aid were also taught during the past year. One by Mrs. Mattie Sadler in the local school here and one by Mrs. Lorena B. Vestal in the E. F. Grady School with 23 certificates being issued to these two classes.

In addition to that, 5 gift packages were sent to Men of the High Seas at a value of $150 per package. Last fall, cookies were sent to Cherry Point.

Mrs. N. B. Boney, Executive Secretary of the Duplin County Chapter with Home Service responsibilities told that she had rendered services to an average of 40 cases per month during the past year not counting the extra twenty or more Disaster cases that were handled during April and May. In the absence of Dr. Colwell the Disaster chairman, Mrs. Boney reminded the group that National American Red Cross had sent more than $20,000 recently in to Duplin County for Relief and Rehabilitation of those 20 families who were victims of the Tornado of April 8th. The expenditures were as follows: Repairs and rebuilding of homes, $11,693.00; Household Furnishings, $1,179.00; Medical Expense, $3,682.22; Farm Buildings and Repairs, $9,531.26; Emergency Food and Clothing, $321.00; Mrs. Boney's report also stated that only $82.83 was sent through the chapter for Hungarian Relief but she knew of quite a bit more than had been sent from our county through the various church groups.

Prior to adjournment the chapter chairman spoke of the valuable work that had been done in our chapter through the years by our volunteer workers since 90 per cent of the work here is done by volunteer workers. He presented 25 certificates of appreciation to the following who have served in various capacities for a period of five continuous years or more: F. W. McGowan, O. P. Johnson, Harry E. Kramer, Dr. H. W. Colwell, Paul Ingram, Bob Grady, L. M. Boetic, H. M. Wells, also Mesdames, N. B. Boney, L. Southernland, Mattie Sadler, Blanche Drayhan, Marie Bennett, Kathleen Snyder, Nora Newton, Sallie Ingram, Carolyn Outlaw, Grace Vann, Lorena Vestal, Marjorie Pickett, Edna Hearn, Sallie Blanchard, and Sue D. Hill, also Misses Dorothy Wightman and Annie Mae Eason.

DUPLIN CORN vs INDIANA CORN
318 Haney Ave.
South Bend 14, Indiana

Dear Mr. Grady:

We are 'Back Home Again in Indiana.' When we left North Carolina, corn in places was knee-high. We live in Indiana's corn belt, but on our arrival on May 28th, no corn had been planted. Yesterday, we drove out into the farming area and fields now are green with corn which will be knee-high by the 4th of July. Farmers are cutting alfalfa and wheat and oats are in head. Because of plentiful rain, everything is green-green.

Local strawberries are now on the market so we are having two seasons in the berry line. Every one has so much lettuce we are swamped with donations. Boiled potatoes, lettuce and hard boiled eggs are on the menu many times a week. Have had no GRITS, since leaving North Carolina.

We took four days to drive home, but even then, Mrs. Weber was rather tired out. We have been taking things rather easy, hardly stirring from the house, the first 3 weeks. However, before very long we should be quite normal again.

Thanks for sending us a copy of your Duplin Times. It arrived here about the same time we did. Thanks, also, for the big edition of your paper which described the Pageant given some years ago. Our friends are enjoying it too.

On June 2nd, we joined with relatives and friends in celebrating the 100th birthday anniversary of an aunt. She is well preserved and mingled with her guests all day.

We will long remember Kenansville, Duplin County Hospital was a friend indeed. The people of the town and the area around helped make us happy. The Duplin Times helped us have a better understanding of this agricultural center of the state. For all these things we are duly thankful.

Most Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. Geo. F. Weber

May, 1958 Is Tentatively Set For Opening Of Tryon Palace To Public

BY PAUL BARWICK

May 1958 has tentatively been set as the date for opening to the public the restored Tryon Palace, at New Bern, first permanent capitol of North Carolina.

Restoration of Tryon Palace began in August, 1952, after many years of planning and research. The 'bringing to life' of the State's first permanent capitol is due primarily to Mrs. Maude Moore Latham, of Greensboro, a native of New Bern.

When completed, the new Tryon Palace will be identical to the Colonial day capitol which was destroyed by fire on the night of February 27, 1798. In this fire, the main building and East wing were destroyed.

The West wing survived the fire and was used as an apartment house until restoration began in 1952. Actually, construction is almost completed, but the grounds have not been graded and flower gardens planted.

Tryon Palace was erected from 1767-70 by Royal Governor William Tryon as the seat of British government in the colony of North Carolina.

There are many interesting facts about the Palace. It was first used in June, 1770. On December 5, 1773, the General Assembly met for the first time in the new Council Chamber. The fact that Tryon Palace was used as the Governor's residence as well as the General Assembly Hall is unique.

The structure, with its two large wings connected by curved colonnades, was said by Governor Tryon to stand as a 'public ornament' and 'a lasting monument of the liberality of the Country.'

Designed like a London Town House, in pure English taste, the capitol was regarded as the most beautiful building in the Colonial Americas.

Historical significance of Tryon Palace is marked by the fact that on August 25, 1774, the first provincial convention of North Carolina, the first anywhere in America, was called and held in defiance of British orders, was held at the palace.

Governor Richard Caswell and other 'first' State officials elected under the first Constitution of the Independent State of North Carolina were inaugurated in the Palace on January 18, 1777. The first State General Assembly met at Tryon Palace on April 7, 1777, and met there until 1794, when the State Capitol was moved to Raleigh.

Every possible effort has been made in the restoration to make the Palace authentic and identical to the original structure. The main building, William Muirhead Construction Co., contractor, Durham, is actually constructed on the same foundation as the original. Until restoration began, George St., in New Bern, ran directly over where the main building was, and is probably the reason for the foundation preservation.

Although most of the brick being used in the reconstruction are new, they have the same old, rustic look as the brick in the West wing which has stood through the years. These brick were made of Glasgow, Va.

At Sanford, brick for the basement floors in the main building, colonnade and kitchen floors were made. When excavation was begun, fragments of stone which were part of the steps leading to the front entrance of the Palace were found. As a result, the original quarries at St. Bees, England, from which the red sandstone had been cut were located. Thus, the steps in the restored Palace are identical to the original as well as the bases for columns along the colonnades. Over a year was spent in England looking for this stone and quarries.

Another indication to the extent those engaged in the work have gone to make it identical to the original Palace is shown by the efforts put forth by William Graves Perry, architect, Boston, Mass., in acquiring the mantel for the Council Chamber. In some of the writings, found in research by Alonzo T. Dill, a description of the mantel was found. Perry went to England and located an identical mantel which has been installed in the Council Chamber.

Furnishings for the Palace have been purchased or acquired through gifts and are styled for the period. During the second week in April, furniture and paintings of the late Mrs. Latham, whose dream is making all this possible through her efforts before her death and financial contributions, were moved to New Bern. They had been stored in the Historical Museum in Greensboro.

Some of the furniture is coming from New York and England.

When the public is allowed to visit the restored Tryon Palace for the first time, they will see in the West wing the old stalls for the horses, the coach house, with the doors opening on Eden St., and the upstairs which was the hay loft.

In the East wing are located the kitchen, secretary's office, and quarters for some of the servants. Detail has been stressed, even to the five-sided 'necessary houses,' one behind the colonnades on each side of the main building.

Plans call for planting to be done in October. Contracts are to be let during September.

For the visitors' benefit, a circular drive is to be constructed around the courtyard. Brick walkways through the gardens will permit sightseers to appreciate the gardens more and to see first hand what Tryon Palace was really like in 1777.

The restoration is administered by the Tryon Palace Commission, of which Mrs. J. A. Kellenberger serves as Finance Officer and Treasurer. Collaborating with the Commission are the Governor of North Carolina, the Attorney General, the Director of Archives and History and the Director of Conservation and Development.

Director of the completed restoration is Miss Gertrude E. Carraway.

Notice To The Duplin Times Correspondents

The deadline for news, coming from the different Duplin Times Correspondents is Tuesday of next week. This is caused by the coming Fourth of July Holiday. Correspondents are urged to get their news in early in order to make next week's paper. Next week's paper will go out Wednesday, July 3.

The Wilmington social security district office at the Custom House will be open all day Saturday, June 29, in addition to its normal week day schedule. Ernest F. Fitzpatrick, District Manager, said today. Fitzpatrick explained that this special Saturday schedule of office hours, from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., will enable the office to accept last-minute applications from severely disabled people who may be eligible for social security disability protection. This will be the only Saturday that the social security office which serves Duplin County will be open for business. In addition a representative will be at the Court House in Kenansville, from 9:00 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on Saturday, June 29 only, for the same purpose.

Fitzpatrick pointed out that people who have been disabled and unable to work for a long time must apply before June 30 for disability benefits or to have their earnings records 'frozen.' Other wise, they may, in some cases, lose their rights to disability payments and also their own and their family's rights to old-age and survivors insurance payments.

Any severely disabled person who has worked under social security for at least 5 years and has been disabled for 6 months or more should get in touch with the Wilmington district office right away. If he is between 50 and 65, he may be eligible for monthly disability payments. If he is under 50, he may be eligible to protect his future right to disability payments as well as the rights of himself and his family to old-age and survivors payments.

To get social security disability insurance benefits at age 50 or over, or to have your social security record frozen, said Fitzpatrick, you must have social security credit for at least 5 years of work in the 10 years before you became disabled. At least a year and a half of that credit must be for work during the three years just before your disability began.

In addition, you must have a disability which, in the words of the law, makes you unable to engage in any substantial gainful activity. It must be the kind of physical or mental condition which will show up in a medical examination or tests, and it must have lasted for at least 6 months and be expected to continue for a long and indefinite time.

Fitzpatrick emphasized that any disabled person who feels that he might qualify under these provisions of the Social Security Act should get in touch with the social security district office before June 30 by letter, phone, or in person. If he is not able to do himself, someone else may make the contact for him.
