Several Races Develop In Duplin As May 31 Primary Nears; Most Major Offices Have Opposition

Eleventh hour filing by several political aspirants got Duplin County a political race in the May 31 Democratic Primary which had not been anticipated.

Gilbert Alpha, Jr., of Mount Olive, Route 2, filed for Clerk of Superior Court opposing incumbent R. V. Wells. Wells has been unopposed for several years. He is from Kenansville.

In the race for Sheriff, incumbent Ralph Miller, of Beulaville, is opposed by Davis G. Evans, of Warsaw. This is Evans' first venture into politics. In the last election for Sheriff, Miller carried every precinct in the County.

For solicitor, two new candidates have filed. David N. Henderson, who was solicitor, filed for County Judge. Henderson, from Wallace, is unopposed. In the race for solicitor are William E. "Pot" Craft, of Kenansville; and Russell J. Lanier, of Beulaville.

Grady Mercer, of Beulaville, is unopposed for the State Senate seat. He has served for the past two years as County Judge.

Hugh S. Johnson, Jr., of Rose Hill, a candidate for the House of Representatives has no opposition. He is the incumbent.

All incumbent County Commissioners are opposed in their respective districts. Under Duplin County regulations, terms of the County Commissioners are staggered and are for terms of four years.

Leon Town, of Beulaville, and Murphy Simpson, of RFD, Beulaville, are vying for the seat from District 2. Edson is the incumbent.

In District 3, incumbent J. W. Hoffer, of Wallace, and D. D. Blanchard, of Wallace, are running for the Commissioner's seat.

District 2 opponents are Emmett E. Kelly, of Mount Olive, RFD, incumbent; and Kenneth G. Grady, of Kenansville.

For the County Board of Education, Claude L. Helper, of Wallace, and William F. Dall, of Chiquin, incumbent are seeking the one seat under consideration.

In the race for County Coroner are Garland Kennedy, incumbent; and H. B. McNeill, of Warsaw.

Candidates for Justice of Peace in their respective townships are: W. J. Middleton, Warsaw; H. F. Lee, Warsaw; M. H. "Bob" White, Island Creek; Garland Kennedy, Island Creek; Gordon S. Muldrow, Limestone; Cecil D. McCullen, Faison; George J. Powers, Island Creek; Hix Bradshaw, Rose Hill; M. B. Cavensugh, Island Creek; Robert J. Salmon, Rockfish; C. C. Hester, Kenansville; C. B. "Andy" Penny, Island Creek; Anson Lee Baker, Rose Hill; W. S. "Bill" Merritt, Rose Hill; John W. Warren, Faison; Miles F. Mercer, Jr., Cypress Creek; Homer M. Boney, Island Creek; J. Ed Strickland, Warsaw; John W. Waters, Glisson; T. W. Quinn, Glisson; and J. R. Waters, Glisson.

Those seeking election as constable in their respective townships are:

E. Hamr Kornegay, Limestone; N. K. Tadlock, Faison; Graham Chesnut, Magnolia; George Kelly, Glisson; Robert F. Powell, Island Creek; Ward H. Carlton, Warsaw; Snyder Dempsey, Rockfish; W. Coy Hill, Glisson; O. J. Whaley, Island Creek; G. W. "Buck" Bradshaw, Rose Hill; Irving Young, Rose Hill; W. B. "Dick" Kissner, Magnolia; Grover Boyette, Limestone; Joshua Creech, Warsaw; Frank Jones, Rose Hill; Tom Lanier, Limestone; Milton Parker, Cypress Creek; Lenwood E. Pigford, Rose Hill; and Arthur R. Cavenaugh, Rose Hill.

Farmers Advised Not To Go South For Tobacco Plants; Witchweed Is Present

Vernon H. Reynolds, Duplin County agent, issued a warning to Duplin farmers who may need extra tobacco plants once transplanting begins.

He pointed out that farmers should not go south of Duplin County to get any tobacco plants. "Witchweed, an attractive but destructive flowering plant, spread into the area and was discovered last year.

Witchweed is a parasite and attaches itself to the roots of such plants as tobacco and steals the life out of the plant. It is unable to develop. Should tobacco plants be used which are infested with witchweed, it will mean a failure in the tobacco crop.

The seeds are microscopic and it cannot be determined before a season begins if witchweed has infested a new area. Some of the plants were discovered in Duplin last year along the Sampson County - Duplin County line. It is hoped that it has not spread into other sections of the County.

"The dread little weed has been found in almost all the Counties South of Duplin and even in South Carolina," Reynolds said.

MEETING TO HONOR SAM BYRD APRIL 24, WAYNE HISTORICAL ASSO.

The Wayne County Historical Association will meet at Mount Olive Junior College on Thursday, April 24, at 7:30 p.m. This meeting will honor Sam Byrd, Wayne's outstanding actor, author and playwright. William Andrew Bridges, curator of publications of the New York Zoological Park and author of several books, will give the memorial tribute to his friend.

Rev Goodman At Seminary

The Reverend Walker Hall Goodman, Jr., pastor of the Beulaville Presbyterian Church, Beulaville, North Carolina, is one of 52 Presbyterian ministers chosen for participation during this academic year in the Tower Room Scholarship Program at Union Theological Seminary in Richmond, Virginia.

Mr. Goodman, together with three other pastors, on April 21 begins two weeks in residence at the Seminary — engaged in an intensive study program designed to bring the participants abreast of developments in various theological fields.

The Tower Room plan was instituted under the assumption that too often too many pastors just don't find the time for adequate and guided study.

Demanding the pastor's time are myriad things — things such as sermon preparation, committee meetings, civic activities, home and hospital visits, and the ever-present telephone conversations with congregation members with problems.

The Tower Room program gets the pastors away from all such distractions.

Figuratively, Tower Room scholars go into an ivory tower of learning for their two-week stay at the Seminary.

The groups are in residence at the Seminary from Monday night until the Friday night 12 days later — housed in a Seminary dormitory and fed in the Seminary dining hall. They miss only one Sunday of pulpit responsibility.

Mr. Goodman is a graduate of Davidson College in Davidson, North Carolina and Union Theological Seminary in Richmond, Virginia. He and Mrs. Goodman are the parents of one son, Hugh

I know the people of Duplin will always be grateful to Sam for THE DUPLIN STORY. A special invitation is given to the people of Duplin County to join in this meeting.

Dan W. Fagg Jr., Dean of Mt. Olive Junior College is president of the Association and he is anxious that Duplin County will be well represented at this event.

Sam Byrd was well known and loved in Duplin and Lenoir Counties. Until his illness he was Editor of the Weekly Gazette and Assistant Editor of the Duplin Times.

Kelly's Moved To Warsaw

We are happy to announce that Mr. J. T. Kelly is being promoted and transferred from Goldsboro to Warsaw in charge of the Home Security Life Agency. Mr. Kelly has been working for the Company in the capacity of Agent since 1957 has done a nice job and deserves this promotion.

Mr. Kelly succeeds the former J. P. Johnson of Warsaw who for a number of years was ranked among the Company's leaders for an outstanding job. Mr. Johnson developed this debt into an Agency for the Company.

Mr. Kelly is a Duplin County boy, graduated from the Mount Olive High School, attended State College and completed a business course at the Mount Olive Junior College and is well qualified to handle the Company business. He married the former Maxine Smith of Rockingham who is a graduate nurse and was in charge of Recovery at Wayne Memorial Hospital in Goldsboro. They have one son J. T. Junior.

We predict much success for Mr. Kelly in the "grand old" counties of Duplin and Sampson.

and Kenansville Production Credit Association, Garland P. King, secretary - treasurer.

Bishop Garber To Dedicate Magnolia Meth. Church

A highlight will be reached in the history of the Magnolia Methodist Church when the members and friends gather for the Homecoming-Dedication service on May 11, 1958 at 11:00.

Bishop Paul N. Garber of the Richmond Area which includes the State of Virginia and the North Carolina Conference, will preach the dedication sermon and the dedication of the Educational Building will follow.

The members of the Magnolia Methodist Church have completed an Educational Building and have renovated the interior of the Sanctuary at a cost of $25,000.00. The Educational Building is comprised of seven large rooms including a large fellowship room, a well equipped kitchen, a nursery, and rest rooms.

Bishop Garber will be assisted in the dedication service by the pastor, Rev. C. G. Nickens, and the District Supt. H. N. McLamb.

A picnic dinner will be served on the grounds to all the friends and members of the Church.

Wallace Youth Wins Top Award In Three State Baton Twirling Contest

Robert Stewart Powell of Wallace has been named the best baton twirler in three states.

The versatile youth won 1st place in the Advanced Boys Division of the Tri-State Baton Twirling Contest presented by the Dixie Majorette Association, held in Kinston on Monday, April 7th at the Kinston Recreation Center Gym. Approximately 75 participants from South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia took part.

In the Duet Division, Stewart and Geraldine Brinkley, outstanding W-RH majorette, scored second place for the three states, although a second place trophy was not actually presented.

An interesting side-note, Stewart disclosed, is that Faye Gooch of Durham, North Carolina State Baton Twirling Champion, won the Tri-State Contest in the Advanced Girls Division.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Luther Powell of Wallace, Stewart has been drum major for the W-RH Band for four years. He is an outstanding band member and has long astounded local audiences with his intricate maneuvers and keen sense of rhythm with the baton and his remarkable versatility with many of the various instruments used in the band.

Mrs. Irls Leary, director of the Wallace-Rose Hill Band, asserted that she is indeed pleased with Stewart's being selected as the best baton twirler in three states and (continued on back)

Uncle Pete From Chittlin Switch

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Senator Margaret Chase Smith says she's as mad as a hornet about some Idaho potatoes showing up at a Air Force base in her state of Maine. She's doubly shook up, she says, because this is the second time it's happened and because the base is located in Aroostook County, center of the Maine potato industry.

If she'll look into it she'll probably find that all the potatoes at Air Force bases in Idaho come from Maine. As long as she's been in the Government she ought to know this is standard procedure in our armed forces. Our military bases in Italy get their spaghetti in cans from New York and in Alaska they probably get their Eskimo pies from Hoboken, New Jersey. The boys in the Pentagon like to keep things moving, Margaret.

I see by the papers where a famous London tailor announced in New York that cuffs on men's pants was going out of style. I got sad news for that feller. Here in this country we're going to have cuffs on our pants even if we have to do without Geritol.

I'd as soon get caught in my neighbor's hen house as to get caught on the street with no cuffs on my britches. Back when we was fighting Germany and Japan, the War Production Board got away with cutting a couple inches off our shirttail but they didn't have no success in taking the cuff off our pants.

I was reading yesterday where some car insurance company down in Georgia won't insure a driver that hangs rabbit tails, squirrel tails, baby shoes, dice and such stuff on his car. They figger that such fellers is off their rocker and ain't safe drivers. I've seen winners wearing hats that looked like rabbit tails, squirrel tails, baby shoes, dice, and a vegetable garden all rolled into one. I can't see how they can logically insure one and not the other. Fer my money they can keep'em both off the highways, then maybe I could find a parking place.

I was in town the other day seeing about getting some fertilizer fer my spring planting and this city feller was in there talking about planting a garden this year. City folks git all mixed up in the difference between planting a garden and working one. The difference is about the same as between sweat and perspiration. Us farmers sweat and you city folks just perspire. The good word sweat is in mighty low esteem amongst you city gardeners. You've been masquerading it around as perspiration so long that you thing sweat is something not to be mentioned in the presence of ladies. If this city feller ain't figgering on sweating a little on that garden there ain't no use in him planting it.

Yours Truly

Sub-Surface Waters Pose Problems

(NOTE: This is the fifth in a series of articles prepared by the State Board of Water Commissioners for the purpose of familiarizing the public with the results of the recent state-wide inventory of water problems.)

Tar Heels who depend on this state's underground reservoirs for their water supplies stood up in large numbers to be heard recently when they were given an opportunity to report their water problems to the state.

Problems involving inadequate supplies clearly dominated the reports as they poured in to the county committees that conducted the studies at the local level. Problems falling into this category accounted for an even 80 percent of all problems reported involving sub-surface water. Another 23 per cent of the problems concerned pollution, while the remaining 17 per cent were attributed to poor natural quality.

Before considering the individual problems in these three categories it should be understood that many ground water difficulties result from a lack of basic knowledge and intelligent planning. No one can be reasonably blamed for these conditions since the need for these factors has only recently become apparent.

It should also be recognized that in general ground water supplies have been depleted in recent years by rainfall deficiencies. Experts agree that these deficiencies are a result of a normal downward trend in rainfall amounts.

They also agree that, given a reasonable period of time, the trend will turn upward and underground reservoirs will recover their losses.

While this knowledge is little consolation to the farmer whose well has gone dry, it does indicate that sufficient interest has now been roused to see that some action is taken to minimize the effects of future deficiencies.

SUPPLIES

Three interrelated complaints dominated the ground water supply problems reported to the state by the county groups. They were (1) wells dried up by other wells, (2) falling water table and (3) insufficient amount of water available. In connection with the first of these complaints, a majority of the cases cited concerned the drying up of shallow wells by new, deep wells or because of an increase in the number and use of shallow wells in a restricted area. Thirty-two per cent of the supply problems were blamed on a falling water table. Authorities believe most of these reports can be attributed to seasonal fluctuations and increased use of ground water. There is no evidence to indicate that the ground water supply in North Carolina is being depleted. On the contrary, the experts suggest that the state has hardly begun to tap its vast underground reserve of water.

Another 16 per cent of the supply problems listed with the county committees stated simply that
