Duplin County Health Dept.
Are you planning to build or repair your bathroom? Has your water supply been giving you trouble? Does your septic tank system or privy meet minimum requirements? Did you know your health department would check and see if your individual water supply is properly constructed and protected? Did you know that only about 30 per cent of all private water supplies in Duplin County are approved; that is in accordance with Bulletin No. 10 of the State Board of Health? Remember!! Of all gifts bestowed by nature upon mankind there are more indispensable than water. A safe and adequate supply of clear, palatable water that is free of disease organisms is essential to health and welfare of all mankind. Did you know that according to Section 130-160 of Article 13, General Statutes of North Carolina, the State Board of Health has adopted rules and regulations governing the disposal of sewage from any residence, place of business or place of public assembly in this state? Did you know that in order to install, repair or clean-out a septic tank system in Duplin County you should first secure a permit from the Health Department? Remember!! These rules and regulations were adopted for the "Home Owners' protection. And the health and well-being of many families are affected by the disposal of human excreta by improperly designed and located septic tank systems where municipal or public sewage treatment facilities are not available. The proper disposal of all human and domestic wastes is imperative in order to protect the health of individual families and the community.

Youth Of Community Not Getting The Support From Parents In Recreation

Some people accept responsibility of making their community a better in which to rear their children. Other people don't give a hang what goes on. And it is apparent from the way our citizens have reacted to the James Kenan Boosters Club, that 99 per cent of the people in this area, the James Kenan School District, fall into the category of "not giving a hang about" the recreation afforded their children. James Kenan Booster Club was organized about two years ago when a few folks from Magnolia, Warsaw, and Kenansville held a short business meeting. The results was the James Kenan Boosters Club to help support the new school (James Kenan) athletic program. At our first formal meeting held out at the new school the group set the following constitution and by-laws. The name of this organization shall be the James Kenan Boosters Club. The purpose of this club shall be to support the interschool athletic program of the James Kenan High School. Any person, parent, or individual, who shall exhibit an interest in the athletic program at the James Kenan High School shall be eligible for membership in the club. All officers of this club shall be bona fide members in good standing. The officers at the present time are: Dr. Troy Korngay, President, the Vice - Presidents, George Penny from Kenansville, Sam Godwin from Warsaw, and Joe Rouse from Magnolia. The Board of Directors along with the principals from the three communities are: Albert Pope from Magnolia, W. E. Craft from Kenansville, and E. L. Mathis from Warsaw. As for the members I thing everybody in the school district should be a member of the club. The dues are $1.00 per person so as many as possible would become members of their own school's boosters club. This past year we had a grand total of thirty-seven members. We have no real excuse for so few members when we all have a definite responsibility to our youth. I don't understand our

Cedar Fork Community Presented Trophy For SENClad Contest

The Cedar Fork Community Development Club, winner of the Star-News Newspaper trophy awarded the top community of the SENClad Community development contest, received its trophy in a ceremony at the club house Tuesday night. The award was announced at the SENClad Development Assn. awards banquet in Wilmington in December. The community staged the awards ceremony at the club house so all families involved could be present. Only a few were able to be at the area banquet. Al G. Dickson, executive editor of the Cedar Fork Club, presented the trophy to G. R. Cowan, president of the Cedar Fork Club. Dickson stressed the value of the community effort to the people, commenting, "We wonder what the world would be like if we had a million communities working toward betterment of their people like this one has. The community was judged the best in the seven-county southeastern North Carolina competition in November on basis of its progress in the previous year. One of its outstanding features is the new clubhouse, now nearly completed. Built on a pay-as-you-go and work-as-you-can basis, the house has taken some time to build, but includes the large meeting room, a large and well-equipped kitchen, that will be completed this winter. A fireplace will fill one end of the main room eventually. Governor Hodges announced to the appointment of Superior Court Judge Clifton L. Moore of Burgaw (Pender County) as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of North Carolina to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Judge Jeff D. Johnson, Jr., of Clifton. Judge Moore will take his oath of office at 10:00 a.m., Monday, February 2, in the Supreme Courtroom at the Justice Building. He will take his place on the Bench with other members of the Court at their regular sitting on Tuesday morning. In commenting on the appointment, the Governor said: "Clifton Moore is a judge of exceptional ability and character who is well-qualified to move up to the Supreme Court. Through many years service as a Solicitor and as a Superior Court Judge, he has clearly demonstrated his legal talents, his knowledge of the law, his judicial temperament, his integrity, and his dedication to the proper administration of justice. I am confident that he will be a worthy member of the Supreme Court. Judge Moore 58, has served as Superior Court Judge since January 1, 1954 when he was appointed to the Bench by Governor William B. Umstead. He served for a year under appointment and was elected in the Fall of 1954 for an eight-year term. He served as Solicitor in his district from 1943-1954. Among his best-known cases were the Klu Klux Klan cases of Columbus County in 1952, when he prosecuted and convicted 39 Klan members, including Thomas L. Hamilton, and Grand Dragon, from Lenoir, South Carolina. A native of Pender County, the judge was graduated from the University of North Carolina with an A. B. degree in 1923, and from George Washington University with an LL. B. degree in 1927. In between times, he taught school in Leaksville High School. He began the practice of law in Burgaw in 1927 and continued until becoming a Superior Court Judge in 1954. Judge Moore has been active in community affairs, especially in the Boy Scouts where he served as president of the Cape Fear Area. He is a Methodist and Democrat. His wife is the former Hazel Swinson of Goldsboro, and the Moores have two children, Clifton, Jr., 22, first law student at the University of North Carolina, and Mary Hazel, a student at Woman's College, Greensboro.

Forest Owners Should Plan For Crop Of Quality Trees; Get Technical Advice

"If you are a farmer with as little as 3 acres of woodland or as much as 5000 acres you are one of America's 4 1/2 million small forest owners, and a mighty important fellow! These are the words of W. S. Swingle, Assistant Chief, U. S. Forest Service in a recent article by him in the Southern Planter. The U. S. F. S. feels that the demand for timber will double in the next 40 years and the big increase in production must come from small forest owners of the South. Every forest owner should plan for growing a full crop of quality trees. Getting a technical forester to go over the area is one of the first steps toward this. The forester will recommend the best and most economical way of cleaning up the woodland area and getting it in better production. There are some 27,000,000 acres of timberland in the South that are poorly stocked and an additional 16,000,000 acres not stocked at all. It is easy to see that there is plenty of work to be done. The timber owners in the South are blessed with a mild climate, good tree soil, and plenty of rainfall which combine to make some of the fastest timber growth in America. However, despite this advantage, privately owned timberlands are piling up with an average annual growth of only 123 board feet per acre. No timber owner in the South should be satisfied with less than twice this growth rate. A forester can guide you in eliminating undesirable trees, establishing new trees, and in "whipping up" the rate at which your valuable crop trees are piling on wood. The greatest demand will be for quality lumber or timber, and this requires proper spacing, moisture supply, site selection, and the proper species for any given location. This will require much greater cooperation between landowners and foresters. The N. C. Division of Forestry has personnel trained to do this work; the Soil Conservation Service and the State Extension Service also have trained men. Anyone who needs technical assistance with their woodland should contact their County Ranger, County Agent's office, or Soil Conservation office, right away and get started on a program that will start your woodland acres producing more timber and more dollars.

Meet Your A. S. C. Vice - Chairman

We are beginning once again our series of articles in which we feature a member of our ASC family here in Duplin County. We are featuring Randall Hargrove, Vice-Chairman of the County Committee. Mr. Hargrove was born April 18, 1908 on a farm in Duplin County. He was one of eight children born to Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hargrove. Mr. Hargrove attended Franklin School which was later consolidated to what is now known as Calypso. In 1925 he left the farm for the first time and moved to Goldsboro. While living there he married Luvena Korngay, who is also a farm girl from Duplin County. City life must not have been what the Hargroves wanted because one year later they moved back to their farm. Mr. and Mrs. Hargrove have two girls, Elizabeth and Shirley, also two grandsons. They attend the Stanford Presbyterian Church near their home. Mr. Hargrove's pride project on the farm is his bees. He has about 200 and enjoys looking after them very much. He has also been a basketball fan for many years. When we ask him if he liked to fish he said, I enjoy fishing a lot but he admit that my wife is a better fisherman than I am, when we go fishing she always catches more fish than I do. Mr. Hargrove began his first work with us back in 1938 when he measured land. In 1941 he was elected to serve as a member of the Community Committeemen. He was Compliance Supervisor for Duplin County during 1954. The following year Mr. Hargrove once more served as a member of the Community Committeemen. In 1958 he was elected to serve as Vice-Chairman of the County Committee for 1958. Randall Hargrove is a farmer who has the interest of the farmers at heart. His work with the organization during the previous years has proven this fact. Therefore, we proudly salute Randall Hargrove as ASC man of the week.
