N. C. Highway Commission Receives Additional Honor

North Carolina, long noted for its progressive road-building program has just nabbed an additional honor.

The State Highway Commission has been notified it has earned the "Award of Honor" from the National Safety Council for its employee safety record during 1958.

The "Award of Honor" is the highest citation given by the Safety Council and North Carolina's Highway Commission is one of only six similar State agencies to have ever received it. The 1958 award went to only two States—North Carolina and Texas.

During 1958, the 15,982 permanent employees and prison laborers chalked up more than 39 million man hours with an accident frequency record of only 6.49 accidents per million man hours worked. North Carolina's record was some 46% below the national average of 15.04 accidents per million hours, tabulated from other reporting Highway Commissions.

The 1958 award is of special significance since it came during the greatest highway construction program in North Carolina history. The giant Interstate Program was for better understanding of youth and the problems of growing up. Through counsel, steady refinement in safety, physical standards and other facets.

William J. Bundy To Be Commencement Speaker At Mount Olive Junior College

The Honorable William J. Bundy of Greenville, Superior Court Judge of the Third Judicial District, will deliver the commencement address at Mount Olive Junior College on Sunday, May 31, at 4:00 P. M.

The graduating class this year will be the fifth in the history of Mount Olive Junior College which began operation here in 1954.

Candidates for the Associate in Arts degree are: Gary F. Barefoot, Dunn; Nelda Faye Boswell, Fremont; James Alton Cowan, Bear Grass; Sandra Lou Ginn, Snow Hill; George W. Stevenson, Jr., Kinston; Martha Anne Thomas, Snow Hill; Leonard B. Woodall, Princeton.

There are four candidates for the one-year certificate in business education: Ada Mae Bass, Godwin; Nancy Carol Jackson, Turkey; Elsie Keen Reed, Grantham; Margaret Marie Turner, Pink Hill.

Prior to the commencement exercises, there will be an awards program at 2:30 p. m. in the College auditorium. Two scholarships in the amount of $50 each will be presented: one sponsored by the Business and Professional Woman's Club of Mount Olive to the student who has shown the greatest improvement during his first year in College, and the other by the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution to the student who made the highest academic average during his freshman year.

Four medals will also be awarded. The Jordan Medal will go to the graduating student who has made the greatest contribution to the college during his tenure at the College.
