James Oats Gets Life Sentence For Tadlock Murder

Now Is Ideal Time To Put In Fall And Winter Cover Crop In This Area

Now is the time for farmers to plant small grain cover crops throughout the Coastal Plain of North Carolina, according to Vernon H. Reynolds, Duplin County Farm Agent.

In this area, between October 10 and October 20 is the time to sow oats and between October 25, and November 10, is the ideal time to sow wheat.

In addition to wheat and oats, now is the proper time to sow fescue as a cover crop.

Farmers should note the proper rate of seeding on oats, wheat and fescue and follow recommendations for the best possible results.

For oats, the rate of seeding is three bushels when in the drill and four to five bushels of oats when broadcasting.

For wheat, the rate of seeding should be from two to three bushels per acre, regardless of whether put in by drill or broadcasting.

For fescue, from 15 to 20 pounds of seed should be used per acre regardless of whether put in by drilling or broadcasting. It should be remembered fescue should not be sowed very deep, from one-quarter to one-half deep for best results.

Wheat and oats are fall and winter cover crops which will be grazed or cut under next year. As for fescue, any farmer who plans to use fescue as a cover crop should know that the fescue should stay on the land for one full year. This means that the land cannot be used for row crop cultivation until 1962.

It should also be remembered that fescue is an excellent crop for grazing livestock, mainly beef cattle.

These cover crops are used in tobacco programs in order to produce a better crop next year. In addition to being a land builder for tobacco, winter cover crops help conserve the soil by holding it on the land during the winter.

Farmers throughout Eastern North Carolina have produced a good crop of tobacco this year and it is bringing a very good price, primarily because it is what tobacco companies want.

But many farmers, it has been observed, are allowing tobacco stalks to stand in the field. County Farm Agents in all Counties have been stressing to farmers the necessity of cutting tobacco stalks as soon as harvesting is completed, but from the looks of the number of tobacco fields still containing their upright stalks, few farmers are heeding the warning by agricultural officials to cut tobacco stalks.

It is pointed out that allowing tobacco stalks to stand in fields after harvesting increases the disease hazard, increases nematode infestation, and permits tobacco horn worms to lay eggs which makes the tobacco horn worm problem an even greater deterrent to quality tobacco production next year.

In order that farmers can do some good toward helping with the production of a higher quality tobacco crop next year, farmers are being urged to plant cover crops during the period mentioned above.

For complete information concerning a particular farm, farmers are urged to contact their County Farm Agent and the ASC office, where financial assistance can be arranged for farmers who put in cover crops now.

Trial & Error

"Taint 'Nary" an idea in my head this morning for a column. There are so many meetings, so much politics, so much running "to and fro" by everybody, that it is enough "to get a body addled especially when they addle easily. However, the word 'Nary' did bring something to mind which happened a year ago. I saw a little first grader on the street and knowing that she had started school for the first time, I stopped and inquired of her how she was liking school. She looked up at me with her eyes wide open and answered: "Yes Mam, I started to school five weeks ago and I haint learned 'nary thing yet."

The Warsaw Home Gardens Club with the flower show. But I am sure for their first big flower show. It is to be held in the Presbyterian Fellowship Hall in Warsaw on Wednesday, October 19, from 2:00 P. M. until 10:00 P. M. I was talking to Mary Taylor and Faye Johnson on Tuesday, they are both quite active in the club. They are most enthusiastic, and said there was plenty of work to be done and they were raring to go. They are both young women, and they are working on their floral design. The children would get sick or need attention when they needed to be busy with flower show. But I am sure everything will be just fine as they are all a hard working group of young women. When they go after anything they get it done. Mary Taylor is also tied up in getting the Tuberculosis drive ready for the kick-off in November. She is a "go-getter" I suppose it is a busy time in their household this time of year with Coach Bill so busy with his Tigers, and Mary helping with the T. B. seal sale.

Take The Gamble From Damaged Corn

Many hogs will be gleaming waste grain in the fields this fall. Some of this feed will be moldy or damaged. This situation of hogs ranging over a greater area and consuming an unbalanced diet of poor quality grains can put more stress on the hogs and make them more susceptible to disease such as Cholera, Salmonellas, swine flu, and others.

One way to reduce this disease hazard is to take as much stress off the hogs as possible. There are several practical things which you can do to reduce the strain on hogs gleaming the fields. They are as follows:

1. Make sure that all hogs have been immunized against cholera at least 2 weeks prior to going into the fields with a modified live virus and 20-30 cc of serum.
2. Deworm pigs with piperazine prior to putting them in the fields. Heavily parasitized pigs are weaker and more subject to disease.
3. Provide warm dry shelter so hogs can get out of the bad weather if possible. Pigs need 6 square feet of shelter space each and heavier hogs need 10 square feet.
4. Provide a balance ration if possible, handfed ¾ pounds of protein Supplement per pig per day.
5. Provide a free-choice mineral mixture.
6. Keep lice and mange off-land or BHC is best treatment.
7. Use enough pigs to clean up feed as soon possible.
8. Use a medicated supplement if pigs tend to scour.
9. Be sure to contact your local veterinarian if any symptoms of disease appear.

Potters Hill Community Club Busy With Community Work And Plans

The Potters Hill Community Club met at a special call meeting on October 7 in order to bring the club's business up to date. The president, Corbett L. Quinn presided. The minutes of the previous meeting and the treasurer's report was heard.

Potters Hill, an active Community Club, passed out family work sheets to 8 of the outstanding civic minded ladies of the group to see that each family in the community gets the opportunity to properly fill out their family work sheet. Plans were made to implement a Community Directory. Brewster Turner, one of the lay members, volunteered to secure help to do this work on October 11.

A motion was made and carried to establish a R. E. A., E. M. C. pay station at the store of Ellis Turner.

Thursday, October 20 was set aside for a community work spell to attend to a few minor jobs on the new community work spell to start the landscaping of the grounds. Free dinner will be served to all who go and work. At the end of the day an old fashioned auction sale basket party will be held. All of the ladies of the community and adjoining communities are cordially invited to come and bring baskets.

The motto of the Potters Hill community Club is "If you can't lead, then follow the leader."

Rebels fighting to cushion their six point lead drove down to the Panthers 12. With first and ten the Panthers pounded against the Panther forward wall four straight times and failed to pick up the first down. Beulaville took over on the four yard line and that ended the Rebels chances of scoring.

Beulaville trailing 6-0 ran two plays deep in Rebel territory and elected to kick on third down. This came as a surprise to many of the Panther fans since they had third and two, but little did they know the Panther mentor was in hopes of stalling the Rebels as little closer home.

Halfback Lanier got off a beautiful 42-yard pun which rolled dead on the Rebel 46 yard line. North Duplin took over and after three plays netted 6-yards elected to pick up the first down but it failed by less than a foot. This is just what Coach Dobson had hoped would happen and now the first part of his plan had worked. Now the other was to score. With the ball on North Duplin's 46, the Panthers fine Sophomore Quarterback Jerry Simpson engineered the Panther down to the five yard line in ten straight running plays. On the next play from scrimmage Simpson sneaked over and the score was tied 6-6 with two and one-half minutes left in the game. Fullback Jamey Quinn led the Panthers drive with gains of 7, 5, and 10 yards plunging for the necessary first downs. On the all-important point quarterback Simpson faked to fullback Quinn and handed-off to halfback Larry Herring, who went into the end zone all alone to keep the Panthers undefeated in conference play.

Outstanding in the line for the Panthers were Sloan Thigpen, Earl Brown, Johnny Jackson, Jackie Pickett, a converted back, Herring and Lanier. For the Rebels War'n Bowman, Rufus Bennett, Kenneth Avera and Glenn King.

The Beulaville Panthers picked up nine first downs and North Duplin had 8, and Beulaville netted 167 yards from scrimmage while North Duplin came right in on their heels with 147. The Panthers intercepted two North Duplin passes.

BURGAU: The undefeated James Kenan Tigers ran their string to six straight last Friday night downing the Burgaw Red Devils 37-0. It was the second straight East Central victory for the highly rated Tigers.

James Kenan scored a will as they ran rough-shod over the Red Devils on a field that was almost covered with water. And to top it all the home team loaded the field yard markers with lime. The result turned out to be almost a disaster as several players on both teams turned up with bad lime burns.

James Kenan marched 46-yards in the opening minutes for a touchdown with second-string halfback Jimmy Dentice racing into the end zone from nine yards out and the race was on. Halfback Hubert "Scotty" Merritt split the uprights and the Tigers had a 7-0 lead before the Homecoming fan had settled in their seats. With less than six minutes left in the first stanza halfback Bobby Phillips recovered a Burgaw fumble deep in Red Devil territory. In two plays Sophomore Quarterback Jimmy Dixon engineered the Tigers to their second touchdown. Dixon passed 19-yards to halfback Merritt all alone for the score. The point failed and the Tigers took a 13-0 lead in the first quarter.
