Where Is The Site?

Warsaw To Get New Post Office

Warsaw has been approved for a new Post Office building by the Federal Post Office Department. Plans for the new building, located on a 5000 square foot lot on the corner of Warsaw and Greensboro Highway Post Office has only 1650 feet of space. Due to lack of space now, the Greensboro Highway Post Office has to turn around in Clinton and is serviced to Warsaw by a star route carrier. Meeting now at the Warsaw Post Office is LeJeune Star Route, Highway Post Office route carrier from Clinton, Rocky Mount-Wilmington Star Route in addition to local carriers for routes one and two. These large trucks must have room for unloading and turning around.

The only holdup to the new Post Office building now is a suitable site. Three sites near the depot are being considered: one site near Quinn McGowan Furniture Company and one site near Warsaw Motor Company. As soon as the site is approved, work will begin immediately.

Anyone interested who has a Post Office Site for sale may get an option blank from attorney Robert L. West in Warsaw.

At American Legion Hut

Broiler Growers Association To Have Mass Meeting Friday, 8 P. M., Wallace

The first mass meeting to be held by the membership of the Eastern North Carolina Broiler Growers, Inc. since organization was completed, will be held Friday night, July 21, at the American Legion Hut, in Wallace.

The meeting will begin at 8 p. m.

"We have some very important information which we want to pass along to the membership," and I. J. Sandlin, Jr., president, "and we are hoping for a big turnout."

Sandlin expressed the belief that the organization will pick up many new members at the meeting. There are at present 150 dues paying members in the organization.

Sandlin added, "I cannot stress too much the importance of this meeting and hope that each member and non-member interested in the future of broiler production in Eastern North Carolina will make a special effort to attend."

Garland King, manager of Kenansville Production Credit, whose organization has most of the broiler houses in Duplin County financed, and Paul Barwick, secretary of the Eastern North Carolina Broiler Growers, Inc., will be the principal speakers.

Trial & Error

The North Carolina Press Association meets in Charlotte this week and a full program is planned for the members. It begins on Thursday with a reception and buffet supper, then tickets to the Charlotte Music Theatre to see the "West Side Story." On Friday morning Harry Golden will be speaker at a breakfast, this will be followed by a tour and luncheon at the Bowater Plant, Catawba, S. C. Then on Friday night a reception, followed by a banquet at which time Dr. Caldwell, Chancellor of State College will be the speaker. On Saturday morning the press closes with a business meeting and the election of officers. It really sounds like a full schedule.

The new official North Carolina State Highway Map is off the press and being distributed now. They are most attractive. They are printed in full color and show the routings of more than 13,000 miles of Primary, Interstate and major secondary roads of the state. There are sixteen full color pictures of some of the Tar Heel State's most interesting tourist attractions. The map carries out the general theme of "Variety Vacationland." 300,000 copies of the map have been printed and are available free of charge from the State Highway Commission.

Television station WITN is installing a 1523 foot tower which is referred to as "The High and the Mighty." They expect to complete this tower by September. With a tower as high as that, there is no telling what we might see over television!

I see by a release which came into the office that The Aluminum Company of America, one of whose major operations is at Badin, plans to have an exhibit at the N. C. Trade Fair in Charlotte Coliseum and Merchandise Mart, October 12-21. Last week while in Norfolk, I bumped into Elwood Reed who was raised in Kenansville and worked for the County Superintendent of Schools for several years. Elwood said that his new with the alquid about everyone in Kenansville, and asked me to say "Hello" to the folks in town. He and Mrs. Reed were visiting their son and family in Norfolk. His son, John, works there with the Norfolk News-papers. Small World!

Mrs. Noell Spoke At N. C. S. N. A.

District 27 of the N. C. S. N. A. met at Wallace Lunch Room on July 18th at 8 p. m.

Mrs. Marie C. Noell, Exec. Sec. of NC S. N. A. and editor of Tar Heel Nurse, of Raleigh was speaker. Mrs. Noell is very well informed as to nursing in the state and she emphasized the great need of better nursing schools and better teaching in the schools. She brought out the fact that North Carolina had more failures at State Board than any other state. She challenged all nurses to work toward more improvement in nursing schools and stated it would have to come through better legislation.

There were 11 members present.

Duplin Courtroom To Be Renovated In Near Future; Courthouse To Be Painted

The Courtroom in the Duplin County Court House is to get a complete renovation. County Auditor F. W. McGowan said today the County Board of Commissioners have given the go ahead for architects to draw plans for the renovation.

The Courtroom ceiling is to be lowered, new lights and more lights are to be installed, a new Judge's bench constructed, the bar is to be enlarged, new bar rail built, new floor covering and new seats installed.

The courtroom is to be air conditioned in such a manner as to eliminate the noise which was caused by the old window air conditioners.

McGowan said the old air conditions, which have been used very little, have been taken out of the courtroom already and installed in offices in the Agriculture Building.

Under the remodeling plan of the courtroom, the balcony will be retained.

A contract has been awarded to

W. F. White, of Clinton, for $1,485 to paint the interior of the court house, except the courtroom and inside the old vaults of the Register of Deeds and Clerk of Superior Court.

This new painting is to be completed by August 25.

Other bidders on painting inside the main courtroom were: Joe King, of Teachey, $1,665; and R. B. Williams, of Beulaville, $1,750.

A check of on-the-farm place-

Survey Shows More Broilers Are Being Placed Despite Low Prices

By Paul Barwick

Despite the fact that farm broiler prices have been the lowest in North Carolina's history in recent weeks, broiler placements continue at an all-time high. Prices have ranged in recent weeks from 11 cents to a high of 13½ cents in North Carolina.

A check of on-the-farm placements in North Carolina's two principal broiler producing areas reveals that more broilers are being put in boiler houses weekly, above and beyond the house capacities, than ever before.

An example of what is being done in well over 90 per cent of the producers surveyed in Duplin and Pender Counties in Eastern North Carolina and Randolph and Chatham Counties in Piedmont North Carolina can be seen on the Erastus Jessup farm, route 1 Bear Creek.

He has five, 10,000 capacity broiler houses. Right now each house has a minimum of 10,500 birds.

In Eastern North Carolina, broiler houses being filled to over capacity is reported on every farm surveyed, some with a greater over flow than the above sample.

The latest report on broiler placements as published by the North Carolina Crop Reporting Service, Raleigh, shows that for the week of July 8, 12.1 percent more broilers were placed during the week than a year earlier.

An increase of 14.1 per cent is also reported for broiler chicks hatched for the week of July 8, over a year earlier.

Eggs set during the week represented an increase over the same week in 1960 of 17.9 per cent.

Broiler prices received on the farm are varying, since most of the farmers are on a feed conversion contract. However, producers report differences in the feed conversion contact in Piedmont North Carolina as compared to Eastern North Carolina.

In all instances, the feed conversion contracts in Piedmont North Carolina as compared to Eastern North Carolina contracts are seeing farmers receive more money in the Piedmont section.

However, there is considerably wider margin of feed conversion rate between Piedmont and Eastern North Carolina.

Most farmers in the Piedmont re-

D. Bryon Teachey Duplin Assistant Superintendent

D. Bryon Teachey, of Rose Hill, has been retained as Assistant Superintendent of Duplin County Schools under the new school administration program adopted in North Carolina.

County Superintendent O. P. Johnson said today the only difference in Teachey's status with Duplin County's school system is that he is now on the State payroll and a State school employee and not being paid by the County.

Teachey has been in the school profession for several years. Before becoming Assistant Superintendent to Johnson, he had served several capacities within Duplin County and also in the Lenoir County school system at Moss Hill.

"He is a fine school man," Superintendent Johnson said today. "We are indeed fortunate to have him as the Assistant School Superintendent in Duplin County."

Teachey will be in charge of school curriculum and instruction in all County Schools.

He resides at Rose Hill with his wife, the former Alice Fussell, of Rose Hill. They have no children.

The Teacheys are members of the Rose Hill Baptist Church where they are active in all church affairs.

FHA Loans Double In Duplin Past Year Collected 100% On Real Estate Loans

Duplin County farm families borrowed $790,000 from the Farmers Home Administration during the fiscal year ending on June 30, 1961, according to a report this week by B. A. Parker, Jr., the agency's county supervisor. This was more than double the amount loaned last fiscal year. These funds included $340,000 for operating loans used by farmers to purchase machinery, livestock and farm supplies, and $450,000 for real estate loans to purchase and develop farms and construct new homes. This amount compares with $337,000 total borrowed last fiscal year and points up the increased demand for agricultural credit and home improvements.

COLLECTIONS

Collections this year totaled $300,000 and was about the same as last year. All real estate loan payments were collected 100% and only $1300 B. A. Parker, Jr., the agency's county supervisor. This was more than double the amount loaned last fiscal year. These funds included $340,000 for operating loans used by farmers to purchase machinery, livestock and farm supplies, and $450,000 for real estate loans to purchase and develop farms and construct new homes. This amount compares with $337,000 total borrowed last fiscal year and points up the increased demand for agricultural credit and home improvements.

APPLICATIONS

This past year, the office received 100 operating and 130 real estate applications from new families in addition to applications from presently indebted borrowers. This is almost 100 more applications than received in 1960 fiscal year.

Tobacco Meeting To Be Held In Duplin Monday

A meeting will be held at 6:30 p. m. on Monday, July 24, at the Tobacco Variety Demonstration on the farm of E. J. Shaw, Beulaville. Shaw's Farm is located about 4 miles from Beulaville, in the Cedar Fork Community.

Varieties in the Demonstration are: McNair 10, McNair 12, and seven (7) Experimental Varieties, which are disease resistant. All of these Experimental Varieties are from the N. C. Experiment Station.

Everyone interested in tobacco varieties are invited to attend this meeting. Roy R. Bennett, Extension Tobacco Specialist, from State College, will be at the meeting to discuss the varieties.

"What Make The Jaycees Truly Unique"

The following "progress-minded" young men of Warsaw truly help make the Junior Chamber of Commerce a unique civic group. Roy Barwick, Joe Brinson, Hugh Carlton, Joe Costin, Allen Draughan, Albine English, J. T. Kelly, J. B. Herring, Jimmy Johnson, Colin McLaurin, J. D. Pruitt, Al Smith, Frank Steed, Marvin Sutton, Gene Holland, Buster Torrains, Doug Townsend, Charles Page, W. C. Martin, and Leonard Astry.

Despite its name the national organization has no official ties with the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. However, Jaycees chapters may work closely with Chambers of Commerce in some communities, but they are very seldom subservient. Of course as all may know the Warsaw chapter would gladly work with the Chamber of Commerce, but again, we all know that some would rather not rock the boat.

In the first place, a Jaycee chapter does not have occupational classifications as a determination for membership as does, for example, a Rotary club. This means that there can be no question of man's

Town Board Makes Appointments

Commissioner appointments were made at the regular meeting of the Beulaville Town Board which was held at the Town Hall on July 18.

Mayor Muldrow gave the oath to Commissioner Perry Williams, as he had been absent for the June Meeting. After the Mayor welcomed the new and old members, he made appointments as follows: Mayor Pro Tem and Consturction and Development, D. E. Houston; Street Commissioner, Andrew Jackson; Water Commissioner, Herman Gore; Fire and Recreation Commissioner, Perry Williams; Sanitation and Finance and Purchasing, Raleigh Lanier.

A discussion was held on how much a commissioner could spend on a job before bringing it up before the Board. A motion was made and carried to spend any amount under $200. It was voted to give Franklin Boyette a raise from $45.00 per week to $50.00, as of July 1.

A motion was made and carried to get a new stop light. Also a discussion was held on the possibility of getting a Patrolman in the section, and it was decided to ask Senator Henderson to help in the matter.

The meeting was then adjourned.

$487 In Cash And Merchandise Stolen From Quinn Wholesale Saturday Night

Thieves, who apparently knew their way around and the layout inside Quinn Wholesale Co. of Warsaw, broke into the business after 8 p. m. Saturday night and stole about $487.

Chief Deputy Sheriff T. E. Revelle said today that thieves entered the business through a hole they cut in the roof. Boxes of merchandise happened to be stacked in stair-step fashion inside the building under where the hole was cut in the roof.

The hole was about four feet long and 18 inches wide.

Inside the building, the safe door

An excited "Miss Raleigh", in the person of Gail Newton of Kenansville, left Raleigh on Wednesday morning to join the MISS NORTH CAROLINA PAGEANT.

Miss Newton will be in the talent contest on Wednesday night, the parade and balling suit contest on Thursday night and the evening dress contest on Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Law and Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Melvin of Raleigh will be her escorts and chaperones. On Friday her mother, Mrs. E. A. Newton and her sister and husband Mr. and Mrs. Victor Morrow of Birmingham, Alabama and Mrs. Florence Hasty and Rudy Hasty of Kenansville will join her in Greensboro.

The finals of the Miss North Carolina Pageant will be televised Saturday night from the War Memorial Coliseum in Greensboro. The two-hour telecast will begin at 10:00 P. M.

Two Community Clubs Have Weed Demonstrations

Two Tobacco Variety Demonstrations are located on farms in the Mt. Olive area in Duplin County.

One of the demonstrations is on the farm of Billy Farmer and is located about one and one-half miles North of Rose's Chapel. The other demonstration is located on the farm of Linwood Jones, about one-half mile from Blizard and Holmes Mill in the Pleasant Grove Community. These Tobacco Variety Demonstrations are sponsored by the Community Development Club and Pleasant Grove Community Development Club in cooperation with the County Agent's Office.

There are 11 disease resistant varieties in each of these demonstrations. Many of the varieties are experimental varieties, which are being developed by the N. C. Experiment Station for possible release to farmers in the future.

All tobacco growers interested in new varieties are invited to visit these demonstrations at any time. Farmer and Jones have sheets giving the breeding and disease resistant information on each variety.

Wallace Woman Held For Stabbing In Death Of Husband Saturday Morning

Mrs. Irene Sutton Southerland, 30-year-old Negro woman of the Rockfish Community near Wallace, is in Duplin County jail in lieu of $5,000 bond charged in the Saturday morning death of her husband, Worth Southerland, 35.

Deputy Snyder Dempsey, who investigated, said the couple had been having marital troubles and had been separated for about one month.

Mrs. Southerland stabbed her husband with a peering knife. The knife penetrated the heart. The external bleeding was slight as a small wound was made.

Southerland, after he was stabbed on one of W. W. Smith's farms around 6 a. m. Saturday, got into his car and drove to his mother's house, near the golf course outside Wallace, and told his mother his wife had stabbed him and that he was dying.

His mother and Roosevelt Wilson, a Negro man who stopped at the house soon after Southerland arrived, took him in Wilson's car and started to Rose Hill to see a doctor. Before they arrived Southerland died.

No inquest will be held according to Coronor Hector McNeil. The woman will be held for Grand Jury action.

Received First Cotton Blossom

The Times received a cotton blossom this week from Nettie Williams of Warsaw. This is the first cotton blossom received by the Times office this year, and it entitles the sender to a year's subscription of The Duplin Times. Congratulations!

Thigpen Opens Shop In Kinston

Edward Lyndelle Thigpen, son of Maggie Thigpen and the late Eddie H. Thigpen of Beulaville, who has had some nine years experience as an optician, has opened his office as a Registered Retail optical business at 402 North Queen Street (next to the Railroad).
