Trial & Error

Well, Ladies, how is the Christmas rush doing? I notice an ad in this week's paper highly recommends rocking one hour a day to rock the tensions away. Now that sounds just wonderful during the rush. I can't remember using a rocking chair much in my life. One of my daughters was raised strictly by the book and it said "not to rock but to put them in the bed and let them scream their heads off, fall out of the crib, rip the sheets, rip your nerves in the seams but not to dare pick them up or it would cause some kind of awful commotion. It really has on her she has never wanted to go, to bed on time or to get up at the appointed hour. When the other daughter came along nine years later, the book said to "rock the baby" don't let them cry themselves to sleep, look of affection would warp their personality." It has had its toll on her too, she wants to go to bed too early and get up too early but I surely did enjoy the rocking chair when she was a baby, but don't believe I have sat in one since.

We have had several requests to publish again the recipe for cooking turkey which we published last year. Here goes: Salt the turkey in the inside cavity. Rub lightly with the fat of your choice. Sprinkle slightly with flour and put about two cups of water in the bottom of the roaster. Cover with close fitting roasting lid and put in preheated oven at 350 degrees, let cook for one hour, cut off the oven, DO NOT open the oven and leave until next morning. This is for a turkey weighing about 15 pounds. Do not stuff the turkey. For a smaller turkey, reduce heat. Good luck to you.

Reports are that Hal Quinn, merchant of Kenansville, who was in a very bad wreck, is improving right along in Duplin General Hospital. It is amazing what good care and surgery can do for patients today. Good luck to you Hal!

The town of Rose Hill has gone all out for their Christmas parade today, and after the rainy day yesterday, it looks as if the weather is cooperating. When that town gets together they do things in a big way. With all the dignitaries, prizes, banquets and dance that are on schedule for the day, it sounds like a most interesting program. It has been a tremendous undertaking for the town, but they have done a marvelous job.

Albert D. Hickman, Farm Labor Representative for this area, has announced that the following schedule has been established for the purpose of assisting farmers who wish to secure tenants, sharecroppers, tractor drivers, or other farm workers.

On Tuesday, December 12th, Hickman will be at the County Agent's Office in Kenansville from 10:00 A. M. to 12:00 Noon. On Wednesday, December 13th, he will be at Calvin Mercer's Service Station in Cabin, N. C. from 10:00 A. M. to 12:00 Noon and on Thursday, December 14th, at the FCX Store in Wallace from 10:00 A. Hickman will be at each of these established itinerant points only one day so it is essential that farmers wishing to discuss their labor needs attend the meetings at the time and place specified. Labor needs for the tobacco, bean, cucumber, and cotton harvests will be discussed at these meetings and farmers may place their orders for seasonal labor to use in these harvests. It is important that these orders for seasonal harvest labor be placed with Hickman as soon as possible in order for him to obtain the labor from other areas.

Another very important topic to be discussed at the farm meetings is housing requirements for migratory workers.

Farmers and farm workers, if unable to be at the above mentioned places, may receive assistance by contacting the Farm Labor Office in Mt. Olive, N. C. from 8:00 A. M. to 5:00 p. m., Monday through Friday, any time during the year.

Important Tobacco And Cotton Vote To Be Tuesday, Dec. 12; Vote Vital

Tobacco and cotton farmers will be going to the polls next Tuesday, December 12, to cast one of the most important agriculture votes ever cast.

Throughout the Nation, these farmers will be under the eyes of everybody in the legislative business to determine just how much the tobacco and cotton farmers want the particular program now being used in agriculture. The measuring stick will be the number of farmers who turn out at the polls.

Under question for farmers in this area are: (1) tobacco quotas and price support (2) tobacco associates continuance and (3) cotton quotas and price support.

The polling places (usual ASCS polling places in each township) will open at 8 a. m. and close at 6 p. m. on Tuesday.

Just what is at stake in the tobacco referendum? If two-thirds of tobacco growers voting approve the program, flue-cured tobacco will be supported at about 90 per cent of parity for the next three years. If over one-third of the voters say "NO" there will be no price support. Either way, tobacco acreage controls will be continued. The real issue is on price support at 90 per cent of parity or no price support.

The Tobacco Associates vote is asking tobacco farmers for an extension of the program which permits assessment of up to $1.00 per acre of flue-cured tobacco with the money to be used for the promotion of sales of flue-cured tobacco. This does not mean that $1.00 per acre will be taken out of the tobacco sold on warehouse floors for the next three years, but it does mean that up to $1.00 can be taken out. At present farmers are paying 40 cents per acre to Tobacco Associates. Tobacco Associates promotes the sales of flue-cured tobacco throughout the world.

In the cotton referendum, a "yes" vote by at least two-thirds of growers voting for a one year extension of cotton quotas will have mean cotton will be supported at from 65 per cent to 90 per cent of parity. The cotton quotas program, like tobacco, limits cotton production to the national needs. A "no" vote by over one-third of the growers voting means price support will drop to 50 per cent of parity and only farms within their allotment may obtain this 50 per cent of parity price support.

Farmers engaged in peanut farming will also vote on December 12, on their peanut quotas program. There is no substantial tobacco acreage increase for 1962. It had been rumored during the 1961 selling season that a tobacco acreage increase was possible for 1962.

However, a converted acreage provision has been passed by Congress (continued on back)

Potter Speaks To Warsaw Rotarians On "Changes In Auto Insurance"

The Warsaw Rotary Club held their regular meeting Thursday at 1:00 p. m. at the Coffee Shoppe with Ed Strickland, president, presiding. E. C. Thompson presented the invocation and following a general business meeting, Paul Potter presented an interesting program on "Changes In Auto Insurance."

Mr. Potter opened with the question, "What is the most common cause of auto wrecks?" After no one could give him the right answer he replied, "Too many drivers hugging the wrong curves." He followed by explaining the "Safe Drivers Reward Plan" which is as follows: "The Safe Driver Reward Plan is based on the premise that drivers who operate automobiles in a lawful manner and safeguard lives and property deserves recognition in terms of reduced automobile insurance costs. In order to provide a reduced premium for those drivers, a point system has been established by Insurance Commissioner Gold under which those drivers, who have no points receive the lowest allowable premium. Higher per premiums are provided under the plan for other drivers based upon the number of points they have accumulated.

The high-light of Potter's program was a letter he read which was mailed to a Claim Superintendent.
