Three Prisoners Escape Is Short Lived In Duplin
Three prisoners being held in Duplin County Jail made a daring escape Saturday night as one of the Deputy's was carrying another prisoner into the jail in Kenansville. Bobby Earl Smith, 17; Kincaid Wilson, 25; both of Warsaw; and George Washington Wilkes, 20, of Teachey, all Negroes, apparently came out of the jail cell through the door, which apparently was not secured.

Smith and K. Wilson were being held on forgery charges and G. Wilkes was being held on a breaking and entering charge.
Bloodhounds were called in and the three were apprehended about 15 minutes later near Unity Church. Patrolman T. A. Bryan, of Faison, stopped a car in which the three had escaped and returned them to jail.
No additional charges have been charged against the three for the jail break.

Trial & Error

My good young friend, and neighbor Nicky Bowden, and I are always having a little bit of trouble with animals. We get a dog, he will not stay at home, goes down to Nicky's and eats all of his cat food. Nicky has about 17 cats. Nicky will get a dog and she will not stay at home but stays at our house all of the time. The climax was capped the other day when Nicky's dog presented us with six baby puppies. Now Nicky's has the dog with all of the puppies and a free box for them to sleep in, what he will do with all of those pups I do not know, and I am afraid to ask him.

Mrs. Mary Southerland, who has recently gone to California to visit her son, writes a glowing account of her trip across the country. She writes that they were all good travelers, took it slow and easy and enjoyed the scenery. After getting to California they visited Helen Margaret and Walter McLendon who used to live in Kenansville as children. Mrs. Southerland and his wife came over and visited with all of them. She said there was some conversation going on!

Sunny California must be wonderful after the record breaking weather we have been having. I believe I said in my column last week that we didn't get any snow so anything nice I said about the weather last week, I will take back, as the weather set in on us Thursday night and was very unkind with snow, sleet and cold weather.

The increase in hog production program being launched in Duplin County sounds like a wonderful program to me. Have been talking with Bunce and Sasser, assistant County Agents, about it this week and they are most enthusiastic. The slogan is "200 plus 20 equals two million." - which means that 200 farmers with 20 hogs each can add a two million dollar increase in income to the county. Good programs have been planned for each Monday night for eight weeks to help the farmers with any problems concerning hog raising and to help them keep a record of what they are doing so that they may see a profit derived from the hog project. It will be most instructive if the farmers will come out in large numbers and take advantage of the wonderful information that will be given to them free of charge.

Farm Information Vital To Good Farm Operation

Farming to-day is just as much a business enterprise as any other business, and successful management depend largely on the possession of sound factual information about all phases of the operations involved.
This is the reason back of North Carolina's annual Farm Census. Both for the individual farmer and for farm leaders who are responsible for overall agricultural planning, it fills the same need as an inventory does in a business concern.
The Farm Census helps the farmer by annually focusing his attention on his stock-in-trade. It encourages him to take an accounting of his land, livestock and equipment. The information thus developed enables him to do a better job of farming and farm marketing.
When the information collected from farmers all over the state has been compiled and published, it provides a means of measuring agricultural progress and gauging crop trends against similar information of previous years. It is of untold value as a guide in setting up farm programs.
Farmers will give this information when they list 1962 taxes during the month of January.

"Twist So Others May Walk"

Mrs. Frank Steed, Jr., Chairman of the Warsaw Cerebral Palsy Drive in Warsaw announces that a Dance Contest will be held January 26 at 8:00 p. m. at the Warsaw National Guard Armory to raise money for this worthy cause. Anyone desiring to enter as contestants should contact Mrs. Henry L. Stevens, III, Box 124, Warsaw.
There will be categories for every age group to enter. The celebrated Marie Wallace of Danceorama will be one of the judges, and the popular Jackie Butler with the radio station in Clinton will be master of ceremonies. There will also be Special Surprise Attractions. "In other words," Mrs. Steed asserted, "There will be fun for everyone." The Dance Committee has selected "TWIST SO OTHERS MAY WALK" for the theme of the dance, and Mrs. Steed concluded, "Think how wonderful it is that we can dance to help those who can never dance or walk!"

Buy New Rifle Destroys Self

Carl Miller, middle-aged farmer of Pink Hill, Rt. 1 walked into a Pink Hill business establishment about 10 A. M. Monday, bought a rifle and box of bullets, and a few minutes later, was found dead in a pine thicket of the rifle wound. He was found just outside the town square.
Sheriff Chas. Broadway and Corporal James of Kinston were called and were later back in the store, with the rifle on which the price tag still remained. A Warsaw funeral establishment removed the body.
Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock at Potters Hill Adv. Christian Church with the services conducted by Rev. Joe Whaley.
Interment was in the Turner Family Cemetery in the Potters Hill Community near Beaufort.
He is survived by his wife, the former Emma Sumner, one son Gordon Miller of the home, one daughter Mrs. Mary Iva Grady of Kinston, one brother Wallace Miller of Jacksonville, Fla. Two sisters Mrs. Nannie Metts of Richlands and Mrs. Madie Byrd of Wallace, and one grand child.

Hargrove Bowles, Jr. Heart Fund Chm'n

Hargrove Bowles, Jr., Director of the State Department of Conservation and Development, is State Chairman of the 1962 Heart Fund, according to Mrs. John Goodson of Mount Olive, Fund Raising Chairman of the Duplin Heart Council. The appointment was announced today by Dr. C. Glenn Sawyer, president of the North Carolina Heart Association with which the local Heart Council is affiliated.
Bowles is interested in conserving all of our state's resources," said Mrs. Goodson, "including Tar Heel Hearts. His leadership will inspire thousands of volunteers throughout the state who will be raising Heart Fund dollars to support the fight against heart disease," she added.

Among these campaigners are the following leaders for the local Heart Council: Miss Victoria Kornegay, chairman; Mr. C. C. Rouse, treasurer; Mrs. Estelle S. Costin, publicity chairman; Dr. William W. Sutton, Medical representative; Mrs. Phillip Kretsch, community program chairman.
A long-time Heart volunteer, "Skipper" Bowles has been Treasurer and a Board member of the North Carolina Heart Association, President and a Board member of the Greensboro Heart Association, and for two years guided the annual campaign in Greensboro. A native of Monroe, he attended the public schools there, the University of North Carolina, and the Accident and Indemnity Schools in Hartford, Connecticut.
He was president of the Thomas and Howard wholesale grocery chain in North Carolina until the companies were sold in 1956. He is a director of Wise Homes, Inc.; Union National Bank of North Carolina; Security Group, Inc.; of Greensboro; Carolina Coffee Company, Inc. of Charleston; and Northside Development Corporation, shopping center developers and housing contractors. Governor Terry Sanford appointed him head of the Conservation and Development Department last January.
Married to the former Jessamine Woodard Boyce of Gastonia, Bowles is the father of Hargrove, III, Erskine Boyce, Mary Holland, and Martha Thomas. Aside from his interest in Heart, he is a member of the Board of Stewards of the West Market Street Methodist Church in Greensboro, where his home still is, and is also a past or present member of the YMCA, Greensboro Country Club, Rotary Club, the National Council of the Boy Scouts, and the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.
