

SENATOR ERVIN SAYS

WASHINGTON — The second attempt to invoke cloture in the debate on the so-called literacy bill and its failure by so wide a margin was gratifying to those who fought the issue because of the constitutional evil it would accomplish. In the closing days of the debate, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat in an editorial commenting on "Literacy at the Polls" made a practical summation of the entire issue with this succinct statement: "The Nation needs more literate voters at the polls, not less. Self-rule depends completely on a reasonable intelligence of voters. Even with literacy tests this will be spotty. Without requiring voters at least to read and write, we slough the whole system of democracy and abort commonsense." The Senate now moves into a full schedule of farm, tax, and defense legislation.

FOREIGN AID — Several weeks ago the Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted to cut American aid to India by 30 percent in the coming fiscal year. The move came as the Committee was considering the overall $4.9 billion foreign aid program. It is to be hoped that the move heralds a common sense approach toward foreign aid appropriations.

FARM AND TARIFF BILLS — After laboring for some weeks, Senate and House Agriculture Committees have reported their respective versions of the Administration's farm bill. Action may come soon in both Houses on the bill. Action may be underway soon on the proposed tariff bill which is scheduled to be voted on by the House Ways and Means Committee sometime this week.

COMMITTEE ACTIVITY — The 1961 Annual Report of the Constitutional Rights Subcommittee, of which I am Chairman, contains a statistical portrait of the Subcommittee's activities. 1790 complaints were received by the Subcommittee last year from individuals charging constitutional right violations. 102 witnesses testified during 17 days of public hearings. A total of 19 bills relating to civil right and wiretapping were referred to the Subcommittee. The Subcommittee studied and considered seven major areas of constitutional rights which were:

the right to legal counsel, rights of the mentally ill, civil rights, rights of the American Indian, rights of persons subject to military jurisdiction, wiretapping and eavesdropping, and rights relating to the administration of criminal justice. Two bills were favorably reported out by the Subcommittee.

William J. Outlaw, Jr.

U. S. FORCES, GERMANY — Army Specialist Four William J. Outlaw Jr., whose parents live on Route 4, Mount Olive, N. C., recently participated in Grand Slam I, a five day Central Army Group (CENTAG) exercise in Germany. Grand Slam I involved headquarters units from the German, French and U. S. Armed Forces which are assigned to CENTAG, and was designed to test operational plans and procedures of these forces. CENTAG is a major element of NATO in Europe.

Specialist Outlaw, an X-ray technician at the 15th Evacuation Hospital in Munchweiler, Germany, entered the Army in June 1959 and arrived overseas in May 1960.

The 20-year-old soldier is a 1959 graduate of Mount Olive High School.

No-Cook... Mix and Spread... Delicious

Bring the Seattle World's Fair to your dining table by using its Century 21 symbol as a decorative touch to your frosted cakes. And you can project yourself into the world of tomorrow by adopting your own streamlined recipes which can be prepared with a minimum of time.

Here is just such a recipe for a cake frosting, developed by Carnation Company's home economists, which even eliminates cooking - just mix and spread, and which can be made in a mere four minutes. Evaporated milk makes the frosting velvety smooth, and adds nutrition at the same time since this concentrated form of milk contains twice the Vitamin D, proteins and minerals of whole milk.

ORANGE-ALMOND FROSTING

(Makes enough frosting for 1 8-inch layer cake)

- 1/2 cup soft butter
- 4 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
- 1/2 cup cocoa
- 1/2 cup undiluted evaporated milk
- 1/2 teaspoon orange extract
- 1/2 teaspoon almond extract

Combine all ingredients by rotary beater or electric mixer until well blended and fluffy. Spread tops of 2 8-inch white cake layers with your favorite filling. Stack layers and top with 1 8-inch white cake layer. Frost top and sides of cake with orange-almond frosting. Decorate with your favorite white frosting (using pastry tube).

Horn In West Opens Eleventh Season

The Southern Appalachian Historical Association is proud to announce the beginning of the eleventh season of Horn In The West in Boone, North Carolina in the beautiful Daniel Boone outdoor theatre.

The drama will open on June 30 and run through September 1 of this summer.

The Production Committee of Horn In The West announces that the script has been completely rewritten by Kermit Hunter and that the show promises to be the most exciting to date.

The Association is also proud to announce the retention of its production staff and cast for the coming drama.

David A. French director of last season's successful run, will once again act in that capacity. French, a native of Emporia, Kansas, is a graduate of the drama school of Yale University. After leaving Yale, French became the founder and first director of the Actor Development Studio in New York and headed that organization for three years. Later he was director and designer for the Albany Civic Theatre, Albany, New York. At present, French is Professor of Speech and Director of the Colleges Theatre at Appalachian State Teachers College.

Robert H. Ellis, choral director of Hickory High School, will once again assume the director of the Horn In The West Choral. Ellis is a member of American Choral Directors Association, Vice-President of the choral section of the North Carolina Music Educators Conference and chairman of the North Carolina Festival Chorus for the past four years.

To choreograph this year's drama, the Association has selected William Ford. Ford directed the dancing of last years lively drama and his talents will once again lend themselves to the success of the show.

Dr. Gene Wilson of the University of Alabama will be the Technical Director of Horn In The West during the summer.

The cast of this year's drama will once again be high-lighted by such ever-faithful performers as Bill Ross, Charles Elledge, Glenn Causey and Mary Lawrence Jellicorse.

The opening of the drama will be highlighted by the addition of an Indian Museum on the grounds of the Daniel Boone Theatre.

Horn In The West runs nightly except Mondays at 8:15 p. m.

The movement and scope of the mighty drama set in the forest of the Blue Ridge Mountains proves to be a highlight on anyone's vacation and an enjoyable evening for the entire family.

1962 Miss N. C. Pageant July 11-14

William L. Stewart, Charlotte business executive, has been named chairman of the 1962 Miss North Carolina Pageant.

The annual beauty contest will be held at the Charlotte Coliseum July 11 through 14, organized by members of the Charlotte Junior Chamber of Commerce.

With Miss Maria Beale Fletcher, a former Miss North Carolina, the reigning Miss America, interest in the Pageant is expected to be even higher than usual for the year.

Mr. Stewart has been associated with Miss Charlotte Pageants and was at Atlantic City during the crowning of the present Miss America. He has officiated as judge at some 30 pageants across the state.

Mr. Stewart announced that he expects the pageant will draw 85 girls from all over the state to compete for the Miss North Carolina title in the Charlotte Coliseum. The winner of the state competition will enter the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City, New Jersey.

Following the announcement of his selection as General Chairman of the Pageant, Mr. Stewart listed the names of the men who will serve as his Steering Committee. These men, under Mr. Stewart's direction, are charged with the responsibility of formulating the policies for the Pageant.

Bill Shuford, Jaycee president; Jam Cornwell, external vice president, and Bill Schlett, 1960 pageant chairman, are members of the advisory committee. Larry Harris has been appointed treasurer.

Other committee chairman named are Bill Hovis, host committee; Alben Tate, tickets sales; Tom Berry, publicity and public relations; Sverre Hanson, awards, sponsors, and transportation; and Jim Tice, housing, programs and parade.

Mr. Stewart also announced that this year will be the first time the reigning queen of the host city for the pageant will be allowed to compete as a contestant. He stated that this is a break with tradition which has dictated that the reigning queen of the host city must act as official pageant hostess and not participate in the competition.
