Banks Major Lenders To N. C. Farmers; Credit Needs Increasing, Study Shows

North Carolina banks remain a major source of credit and other financial services to agriculture, according to D. R. Peacock, Vice President, Branch Banking and Trust Company, who represents the North Carolina Bankers Association as Duplin County Key Banker.

Based on the 21st annual farm lending summary of the Agricultural Committee of The American Bankers Association, Mr. Peacock reported that at the beginning of the year, North Carolina banks were helping farmers with $99-million in loans, 4 per cent more than a year previous. This total included $46-million in production loans and $43-million in farm mortgages. At the same time, $38-million in farm loans was held by life insurance companies; $63-million by the Federal Land Bank; $45-million by Production Credit Associations; and $12-million in non-real-estate loans plus $30-million in real estate loans by the Farmers Home Administration. About 45 per cent of the production credit extended by lending institutions to North Carolina farmers came from banks.

Mr. Peacock said that "banks in North Carolina, as well as throughout the country, are taking a realistic look at agriculture, appraising it from the standpoint of its total contribution to the economy. Through the years the agricultural industry, as a part of the total economy, has remained relatively stable, with the 'off-the-farm' portion becoming increasingly significant. Bankers, therefore, are broadening their services and are also developing and promoting programs that consider the interwoven relationships between farmers and related businesses.

"Capital has become one of the main pillars in agriculture, with the total investment increasing nearly six-fold during the past 20 years. Today farm families nationally have approximately $198-billion invested in their operations, with an average per farm worker of nearly $30,000-greater than the amount used in manufacturing."

Mr. Peacock stressed the importance of farmers and bankers working closely together to improve farm financial arrangements. He reported that 92 per cent of insured banks throughout the country had agricultural loans outstanding at the first of the year, with 95 per cent of the insured commercial banks in North Carolina extending credit to farm people.

Roland A. Grady of Wilson, President of the clan, "Our Congressman David N. Henderson will be speaker for the occasion. Guests from out-of-state will be introduced by Malcolm M. Grady.

Lunch will be spread on the grounds at 1:00 P. M. if the weather permits, and in the school lunch room in case of bad weather. Conversation, good food, music and a good speech by Congressman David Henderson, will make the day a day to be long remembered.

Ellis Named Third District Registration Ch'm.

RALEIGH — Albert Ellis of Jacksonville has been named Registration Chairman for the Third District, according to an announcement by State Democratic Party Chairman Bert L. Bennett.

Overall plans call for a statewide committee composed of Bennett, State Registration Chairman John R. Jenkins Jr. of Aulander, and one man or one woman from each of the eleven congressional districts.

County Registration Committees of at least three members will be set up in each county of each congressional district by the District Chairman.

In addition, Precinct Committees will be organized.

In announcing the appointment of Ellis, Bennett stated that the purpose of the Registration Committee is to get all voting age persons registered, with special emphasis on young voters, unregistered women, those who are not registered in the precincts where they are now living, and those persons who have registered for municipal elections and are under the mistaken idea that they are also registered for county and state elections.

An early September meeting of the thirteen-member Registration Committee will be held in Raleigh, according to Bennett.

"Our registration drive is one part of the great movement of the Democratic Party in North Carolina to broaden the base and increase the margin of Democratic voters in the state," said Bennett.

"In undertaking this comprehensive registration drive," he continued, "we are seeking to build party harmony and solidarity for the fall campaign."

Moonshine Whiskey Still On Move

Moonshine Whiskey continues to be a headache to the Sheriff's office. On Saturday night Henry Winn, colored male about 40, was caught with a pint of liquor in his house in Faison Township.

Further search revealed that Winn was making the liquor in his pack house. A search of the pack house turned up ten barrels of mash and fifty gallon steel drum still with copper worm and radiator.

Winn was bound over to court. Discovering the still were Deputies Chestnut, Houston, Thigpen and Constable A. J. Summerlin.

Gertrude Branch, colored female of Albertain, was caught with the possession of five pints of liquor on August 11. This was the second offense for Gertrude as she had been previously caught on June 16. She was charged with possession of non-tax paid whiskey for the purpose of sale and bound over to court.

Lawrence Newborn, colored male of Route 2 Pink Hill was arrested with about 1/2 pine of whiskey and a case of beer. Newborn was charged with Possession of non-tax paid whiskey for the purpose of resale and bound over to court.

According to reports from the Sheriff's office Jernigan Tractor Company and R. L. Dunn and Sons Construction Company were robbed on Saturday night. About $5.00 was stolen from the cash register at Jernigan and about the same amount from the drink box at the Dunn Construction Company.

Eastern Belt Tobacco Markets Open For Sales Tuesday, August 21

Tobacco Markets on the Eastern Belt open on Tuesday, August 21. The 17 markets on the Eastern Belt are prepared to receive and welcome farmers and all members of their families and their tobacco for the opening day and all other sales days thereafter.

For the first five sales days, August 21 through Monday August 27, growers will have the opportunity to market tobacco in loose leaf form. Only lugs, primings and non-descript may be sold in loose leaf. The government will grade and support loose leaf tobacco for the first five sales days. Loose leaf tobacco will come into the market in sheets and be dumped into barrels and weighed at the scales before being placed on the warehouse floor.

Farmers must remember in packing loose leaves that their good side or the face or grainy side of their tobacco goes bottom down so that when the basket is put on the warehouse floor the best side will be up for the buyers to see. After the first five sales days, all tobacco will be marketed in the tied form, graded and supported.

Also, during the first five sales days you may market tobacco in tied form. This tobacco will be graded but for the first five days it will not be supported. At the end of the first five days of sale, all tobacco will be marketed in the tied form, graded and supported.

Growers in Eastern North Carolina are under the impression that it is not necessary to grade tobacco when put out for sale in loose leaf form. This is a mistake and to get the most for each basket of loose leaves, as well as tied, it is very important that the green, black, burned, trashy and non-descript leaves be left out of all good smoking tobacco.

Tobacco baskets in both loose leaf and tied form must not exceed 300 pounds. During the first five sales days, regulations require the loose leaf tobacco to be sold first and the tied tobacco last each day. Monday, September 3, will be an all-day holiday on all tobacco markets everywhere.

Many of the markets on the Eastern Belt have an ad in this issue of the Duplin Times. Read all of the ads before making your decision as to where you will sell your tobacco.

Communications By Telephone In War Games

The largest and most comprehensive military maneuvers in U. S. peace time history are now in progress primarily in North and South Carolina. Operation Swift Strike, II, involving more than 70,000 ground troops will serve to test men, material, and techniques.

In order to coordinate the movements of this tremendous body of men, a giant communications network was necessary. This includes not only tactical communications provided by the troops but communications to high level administrative control centers.

Carolina Telephone, an independent telephone company operating in eastern North Carolina, was called upon to provide 69 long distance circuits. This includes 48 voice circuits and 21 telegraph circuits. There facilities required nearly 4,000 miles of Carolina Telephone's toll lines and microwave circuits.

Requests for these facilities were received in June; and as a result of long-range planning, the company was able to provide the additional facilities well in advance of the beginning of Operation Swift Strike.

According to T. W. Rose, the company's Fayetteville district commercial manager, these circuits will become available for civilian use upon termination of the maneuvers.

"These facilities, which are a part of our companywide communications network, will provide additional long distance circuits for the citizens of eastern North Carolina," he said.

Trial & Error

In talking with Mrs. R. C. Prigden of Warsaw on Sunday, I, of a report on one of our former Kenansville Court House employees. Many of you will remember Sallie Gibbs Prigden, who was Deputy Clerk in the office of Mr. R. C. Wells, Clerk of the Superior Court. Sallie Gibbs married J. E. Anderson of Yanceyville who is employed by the State Parole Commission. They have five fine children, ranging in age from first grade to second year at college. Well, Sallie decided she needed to go back to college to complete her degree and help educate these youngsters. This she did. She and her husband moved to Elon where Sallie completed her work for her A. B. degree. But that is not all! This year she won a scholarship to the University of North Carolina where she is enrolled and will get her Master's Degree next spring, so now all of the family has moved to Roxboro where part of them can commute to U. N. C.

Mrs. C. B. Guthrie, Kenansville Correspondent, reports that she caught a 1 1/2 pound bass while she was on her vacation near Burlington last week. That is not all Ebery reports! She said that she had heard of "the Cat On The Hot Tin Roof", but never before had she seen a chickens nest on a hot tin roof. But there out on top of one of the summer homes around the lake was a hen's nest, and while they were watching, the hen flew on top of the house and laid an egg. The next part I hesitate to tell, but Ebery swears it's the truth. She says there were some carpenters working on one of the houses and he had left the boot of his car open. A hen flew in the boot, laid an egg and went on about her business.

Most of the children I have talked to, even though they are reticent about admitting it, are excited about going back to school on Monday. Many of the young folk that I know are entering High School for their first year, and they are looking forward with fear and also excitement.

Cows Meet Death By Automobile

A cow met her death early Tuesday morning when she ran out into the road in front of an oncoming car. Cleveland Egbert Turner of Route 1, Pink Hill, 26 male, struck her causing his car to slide about 80 feet. He was traveling North on N. C. 41, driving a '56 Oldsmobile.

The cow belonged to James Thomas of Beulaville.

About $200 damage was done to the radiator and hood of the car. The driver of the car received bruises on the leg and Johnnie Hall of Rt. 2, Pink Hill, a passenger in the car, complained of leg injuries. Hospitalization was not necessary.

Patrolman A. S. Butler, Jr. investigated the accident.
