"Being environmentally friendly is a never-ending promise, and we are always looking for the next technology or the newest process that will help us with our commitment," said Ed Richardson, Old Dominion's vice president of equipment and maintenance. "We are honored to receive this award because we've put a lot of thought into ensuring that our decisions are right for both our customers and the environment. Ultimately, being green makes good business sense and helps foster a better community."

Old Dominion is a partner with the Environmental Protection Agency's SmartWay program. SmartWay is collaboration between the EPA and the freight sector designed to improve energy efficiency and energy security while reducing greenhouse gas and air pollutant emissions. For more information, log onto www.odfl.com or call (800) 432-6335.
