Silver Valley students earn honors GTCC announces spring honors list

TIMES STAFF REPORT

Michael Harris, Colton Coggins and Javan McGuire received top awards at the Silver Valley Elementary School year end assembly June 7.

The Silver Valley Civitan Distinguished School Citizen Award was presented for the 52nd consecutive year. It was the first service project of the Silver Valley Civitan Club after being chartered April 25, 1959.

Harris is the 56th student to be honored with the award. He was recognized for being a role model to his peers and displaying the characteristics of a good citizen including an outstanding scholastic performance, co-operative attitude, dependability and leadership qualities. His name was placed on a perpetual plaque with the names of all previous recipients. He is the son of Ricky and Georgia Harris of Cid Road.

The citizenship award is presented each year on an alternating basis as a memorial to four outstanding past members of the Silver Valley Civitan Club. This year's award was given for the ninth time in memory of Past President Odell Lambeth. The honor was presented by Harold Parrish, also a past president.

Coggins received the Principal's Award presented by Principal Kim Loflin. The honor has been given annually since 1971 and now totals 41 recipients. It is earned for high scholastic standing, co-operative attitude, and assistance given to teachers, dependability and leadership abilities. He is on the year-end "A/B" Honor Roll. Coggins is the son of Chris and Tammy Coggins.

The annual Woodmen of the World Award is earned by a student for outstanding proficiency in American history. McGuire earned the award from the Denton Lodge of the Woodmen of the World that was presented by Danny Soles. McGuire is a year-end "A/B" Honor Roll honoree and is the son of Charlie and Christy McGuire.

Nominations for the awards were made by a faculty committee. The recipients are graduating fifth grade students.

The "A" Honor Roll for the school year was Harris, Ashley Leonard, Claire Patrick, Alyssa Manus, Madison Gore and Ian Patrick.

The honors ceremony opened with the traditional procession march of fifth grade students before a standing audience of students and family. It concluded with a recessed parade.
