A man's two-hour standoff with police ended Sunday morning when he fell through a celling while trying to elude arrest.

Thomasville Police Depart-ment arrested Andrew Joseph Gordon, 35, of 212 Arthur Drive, Apt. 2-A, after responding to domestic violence call early Sunday morning at his residence. TPD responded to the call from Gordon's girlfriend at approximately 2 a.m. Sunday morning and found the suspect had barricaded himself inside the apartment and refused to come out. It also was reported that Gordon was in possession of a small handgun and had outstanding warrants on him for several charges, including domestic assault. "We got a call that an individual on Arthur Drive had barricaded himself inside his residence and had a handgun," Maj. James Mills said. "We got the female victim out and proceeded to try and talk to the victim, but he refused to talk. We had papers on him.'

According to a TPD press release, officers evacuated the apartment complex and set up a perimeter while a negotiator tried to get Gordon to surren-der. TPD's Special Weapons and Tactics Team arrived as police made telephone contact with Gordon, who said he was not in the apartment but in High Point. Two hours later, police heard a loud noise coming from

The road certainly hasn't been easy. Since Chris Boone began training for his state-wide bike ride, he has battled tough workout sessions, two illses, grieving his father's death, his mother-inlaw's cancer diagnosis, his business burning to the ground and the destruction of his bicycle.

But after all the training, all the bumps in the road, Boone approaches his final week before the

Woodmen to honor first responders on Sept. 11

On Sept. 11, a Davidson County nonprofit organization will be holding a ceremony to dedicate a symbol of American pride on a day remembered for all those who lost their lives nine years ago. Woodmen of the World, a fraternal benefit organization that was found-ed in 1890 and has lodges in both Denton and Lexington with nearly 750,000 members nationwide, is partnering with a Central Davidson High School Eagle Scout to dedicate a new flag pole and flag at the Davidson County Hospice Center on Sept. 11 at 10 a.m. The new Hospice center is located at 200 Hospice Way in Lexington, off of N.C. Highway 64, and all first responders are invited to attend.

We're the second largest purchasers of American flags," Danny Soles, Davidson County field representative for Woodmen of the World, said. "I give American flags out to school houses, fire departments and other nonprofits. Most of the flags you see around town, I've given them out."

Eagle Scout Aaron Springer had a project of putting a flag pole up at the new Hospice center, but found out it would cost around $1,800, Soles Woodmen of the said. World came in and supplied the pole and the flag, helping Springer complete his project at no cost. Denton Lodge 976 and Lexington Lodge 1069 are sharing the cost of the pole and the flag. Boy Scout Troop 200 already dug the hole and a side company helped them stand the pole.

"We do an honor and remembrance program every year for 9/11," said Soles. "All the lodges around will have stuff go-

Kim Cline sat stunned in her chair.

The academy of finance director at East Davidson High School had listened and clapped appreciatively for the various schools standing up to receive one of the National Academy Foundation's (NAF) five awards, just as she had every other year she attended the national conference. To hear her school's Academy of Finance announced the winner of the 2010 Aldo Papone Award for Curriculum and Instruction, however, took her completely by surprise. "I was speechless," Cline said. "I'm annual convention, this year in Philadelphia on July 8. The Aldo Papone Award for Curriculum and Instruction named for the retired chairman and chief executive office of American Express Travel Related Services Company, Inc. - recognizes excellence in NAF's academies that are on the leading edge of high school reform.

"We worked very hard, and the kids are really learning, and we're really preparing them for the 21st century," said Cline, who added that the program began only nine years ago. "We have re-
