Leola Faust Pinned With Bootlegging

Leola Faust, elderly negro woman, was found guilty of illegal possession of liquor for sale and fined $100 and costs with a one-year jail sentence suspended on condition of two years good behavior by Judge H. A. Whitfield in Chapel Hill recorder's court last week. She had pleaded not guilty.

Police Officers Blake, Yeagan, Pendergraft and Robertson, in testifying against the woman, told of her bad reputation for the past nine years in connection with selling alcoholic beverages.

Officers Blake and Robertson, with the authority of a search warrant, went to Leola's house, just off West Franklin street, at 10:30 Saturday night and found over a gallon of whiskey and 16 bottles of beer outside the house.

Yeagan and Pendergraft found a similar assortment within the house and also a white man named Humphreys who was "half drunk" and claimed to be the plumber. Sam Maynard was found guilty on two charges of drunkenness. He must serve a 30-day jail sentence if he is unable to produce a $5 fine and costs for the two offenses by Oct. 23.

Walter Sanders, truck driver, paid the costs for speeding on West Franklin street.

William F. Hall, 17-year-old University student charged with having no driver's license, drew a suspended sentence on condition he refrain from driving on North Carolina highways for six months.

Oakley and Hogan were elected recently by members of the club and Putnam, who is serving as secretary and treasurer this year, was renamed by joint agreement of the new president, vice-president and board of directors to serve in the same capacity another term. Board of directors for the coming year will be W. B. Snow, retiring president, Clyde R. Hornaday, R. W. Fowler, K. S. Shepherd, L. A. Williams and James A. Saunders.

Lag Seen By Fund Leaders

Tuesday afternoon Gilbert Ray, treasurer for the United War Fund Drive in Hillsboro and rural Orange, reported that a little over $900, not quite one fourth of the quota, had been contributed. This sum came for the most part from Hillsboro proper. Few of the schools and hardly any of the neighborhood leaders have been heard from yet.

J. T. Gobel, treasurer of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro campaign, revealed that approximately $3,000 has been contributed in his area. Very few of the letters that went out have been answered, and many of the canvasses have not reported. This $3,000 is about a third of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro quota.

The campaign is expected to continue throughout Hillsboro and rural Orange for the remainder of this month. A time limit of two weeks from opening date on Oct. 1 was set originally at Chapel Hill and Carrboro, which would conclude that the drive ended there this past Monday. However, contributions made after Oct. 15 are still acceptable there.

From all drive chairmen and leaders comes information that people are more reluctant to boost this drive than any made previously. They point out again that need for this money is as urgent, if not more so, than during the war and request that those asked to donate consider the worthy purpose to which funds are going and make their contributions more liberal.

Bill Chance Loses No Time Getting Home

C. W. Chance, Jr., who is known by his friends in and around Hillsboro as Bill, came home Monday with his discharge and a tale of rapid demobilization from the Army.

Accumulating enough points for the coveted discharge on Oct. 1, he hopped a plane leaving the Philippines the next day, arrived in California a few days later, was in Fort Bragg by the 12th and boasted absolute freedom from Army restrictions by the 15th. A six-months-old daughter he had not seen was one thing that made even this rapid delivery trip seem slow.

The proud father, a staff sergeant at the time of discharge, had been in service for three years and overseas since Nov. 13 of last year. He was in on the liberation of the Philippines and saw several other islands while in the South Pacific. Four battle stars were entitled him.

Bill's wife is the former Miss Winifred Cole and his daughter is little Mary Lynn Chance. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Chance, Sr.

Revival services at North Eno Presbyterian church will begin the same Sunday at 3:00 in the afternoon. Rev. C. E. Hodgkin, D.D., of Greensboro will be the guest minister.

F.M.X. Contestants Have Fun At Meet

Stamp Sales Still Rising

Chapel Hill.—The post office here ended its fall quarter on Sept. 30 with total stamp sales of $33,937.81. Not only is this figure an increase over the previous quarter's total, but it is the highest figure ever tabulated in any one quarter.

Since 1932, stamp sales have increased steadily. There has not been a single quarter in 13 years that did not bring in more income from stamp sales than the quarter preceding.

Fiscal year for the postoffice ended June 30 with gross receipts for the year at $127,020.72. Classification of a post office depends on stamp sales for the year, and on this basis the Chapel Hill postoffice received grading of "A" with twice as much again in stamp sales as was required for this rating.

Fred Reitzel, Rt. 2, Hillsboro, shucked 20 ears of corn faster and cleaner than any of the other contestants Friday at the Hillsboro school auditorium as stockholders in the Farmers Mutual Exchange relaxed after a short business session with a series of games and contests. Judges Arthur Wilson and Robert Nichols declared Reitzel the winner over 20 contestants.

A full barrel of flour went to Mrs. J. O. Franklin of Rt. 2, Chapel Hill, whose name was drawn for this prize. Mrs. E. I. Miller of Rt. 2, Hillsboro, had half a barrel of flour and Mrs. Fred Reitzel of the same address had a quarter barrel of flour in their possession at the end of the drawing.

Cash prize of $10 was awarded G. O. Reitzel of Rt. 2, Hillsboro, whose name was on the lucky draw. Henry Hogan of Rt. 2, Chapel Hill, won $5 from the draw, and his luck continued the next morning when he bagged a five-point deer down at Pinehurst.

Three bags of laying mash went to Clyde Sigman of Rt. 2, Hillsboro, and two bags were won by Thomas Finley.

Mrs. C. E. King won the use of a family-sized locker for one year.

Contest bringing perhaps the most laughs from the audience of 150 was an attempt of some ten men to turn into designers of women's hats. Among the amateur hat decorators were Sam Kirkland, Lonnie Hogan, Don Matheson, Otto King, John H. Cate and Edward Latta.

Given unadorned women's headgear and a large basket from which to choose desired frills, the men set to work tacking on feathers, balls, ribbons, scollops and everything but the kitchen sink. After much pursing of lips, tilting of heads and holding the creations at arm's length for observation, the men each chose a woman from the audience to model the concoction they had whipped up.

Ed Latta's hat, paraded before the judges by Mrs. W. O. Mincey, won first prize. Runner-up was John H. Cate's black pillbox which had a question mark feather curling in the back. Miss Mildred Hunt wore this hat atop her pretty black hair. Mrs. Mincey, a tiny little lady, was overshadowed by the huge black bonnet Ed Latta had designed with red ribbons to tie under the chin and a mass of feathers on top.

All these contests and the merriment that went along took up much of the two hours that the meeting was in progress. Refreshments were served at the end of the activities by the Exchange.

Rotary Club Plans Ahead

Chapel Hill.—Next Wednesday night the Rotary club will invite 25 farmers from the southern part of the county to attend their meeting when V. E. Davidson, regional biologist for the U. S. Soil Conservation Department, speaks on wild life and the development of fish ponds.

Davidson is an authority on stocking streams and lakes with fish. He has served nine southeastern states in his capacity as biologist, with headquarters in Spartanburg, S. C.

For their Halloween meeting Oct. 31, Rotarians will give a party for teachers in the Chapel Hill school at the Carolina Inn. E. Carrington Smith is head of the committee in charge of this affair.

Thompsons Told Of Son's Heroic Action

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Thompson of Rt. 1, Chapel Hill, have received word only recently that their son, Charlie Thompson, was awarded the Bronze Star Medal for heroic action on Saipan in June 1944. A copy of the citation which they were sent by the War Department included the following words of praise:

"While crouching in a fox-hole, protecting himself from enemy artillery concentrations, Private Thompson observed several marines lying painfully wounded and helpless on the ground in the immediate vicinity. This area had been subjected to constant enemy fire for 24 hours, and the morale of the troops was not at its usual high peak. Realizing the need of immediate medical attention for these wounded marines, and with no aid in sight, he voluntarily left his place of safety.

"With absolute disregard of the enemy fire and his own personal safety, he carried these wounded men to amphibian vehicles back at the beach so that they could be evacuated. His heroic, voluntary action encouraged other comrades nearby to follow his courageous example.

"The daring and fearless action of Private Thompson provided the inspiration to carry on in spite of all odds and was instrumental in saving the lives of many members of our forces."

MRS. CATES IN ROXBORO Mrs. Mae Cates, who has not been very well lately, spent last week and most of this week with her daughter, Mrs. Riley Oakley, in Roxboro.

Episcopalians To Meet Here

Mrs. E. G. Peoples of Oxford will preside over the institute of the Orange Division of the Episcopal Woman's Auxiliary at the St. Matthews church Hillsboro next Wednesday, Oct. 18. Holy Communion will be held 10 a. m. with Rev. R. C. Maston as celebrant, followed by institute by Mrs. Peoples. Also speaking at the institute will be Mrs. Urban Holmes of Chapel Hill. Lunch will be served at 1 p. m. in the Masonic building where fellowship will be enjoyed by all. At 2:30 everyone will adjourn back to the church for the business meeting.

Mrs. Peoples is president of the Orange Division which includes Orange, Person, Granville, Durham and Chatham counties.

Army Releases Lt. Patterson

Dyson E. Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Patterson of 306 Henderson St., Chapel Hill, was discharged from the Army on Oct. 8. An anti-aircraft officer, he served five and a half years in the Army and was a lieutenant at the time of discharge. He was stationed in Panama and in the European theatre where he saw action, four battle stars worth. His discharge came through immediately after his return to the States from Europe.

Auto Handle Shatters Glass

Chapel Hill.—The plate glass window at Rose's 5 and 10 was smashed Thursday night by a window roller from someone's car which evidently was thrown with tremendous force from a moving automobile or truck. No attempt was made to enter the store. There has been no clue as to who might have hurled the roller, but local policemen are still working on the case.

Friday morning a new glass was brought over by a Durham glass company, but some mistake had been made in the measurements, and it looked as if C. M. Oakley, manager of the store, would have to spend the night on guard. Locked doors meant nothing with a wide-open entrance furnished through the gap in the window. Then, just before closing time Friday, the Durham company came to the rescue with a glass case of the right dimensions. Instead of having to order a plate, as had been feared, the right-sized glass was found in stock, and Oakley went home early with a sigh of relief.

Hillsboro Legion, With Wrenn Commander Plans For Cooperative Veteran's Office

The Hillsboro post of the American Legion, with Walter Wrenn who was first vice-commander now serving as commander since William F. Lynch's resignation on Oct. 2, is planning ahead for a Veteran's Service office which will be set up here, it is estimated, within 60 days.

In the budget drawn up by county commissioners in July, the sum of around $1,000 was set aside for such an office in the county. Both Chapel Hill and Hillsboro posts will cooperate in raising additional funds needed to employ one employee, probably a disabled veteran, to serve full time. The Veteran's Service office will function through the State Veteran's Commission and the Veteran's Administration agencies. Purpose of the office will be to furnish a center where a returning serviceman may secure all his information, or be directed to the place where his one particular need can be answered. With so many different agencies scattered around, each one set up for some one thing, the veteran has to run from place to place, never knowing just which bureau to consult for some particular problem. The Veteran's Service office will attempt to remedy this situation.

Hillsboro's Legion has 90 members for next year against 80 for this year. J. Martin Crabtree has moved to first vice-commander with Walter Wrenn's advance to commander, and the position of second vice-commander will be empty until the post's next meeting in November.

Thomas Shue, recently discharged serviceman, has been appointed assistant adjutant. Adjutant Clem R. Strudwick is to be away for sometime, and Shue will take over his duties temporarily.

The Legion plans to have some kind of entertainment in the late fall, but will not sponsor dances this year. Right now the big iron in the fire is to get the new officers acquainted with their jobs, the post cooperating as a unit, and the Veteran's Service office set up.

Chapel Hill Routed By Siler City

By Phyllis Ferguson

Outclassed, but never outfought, the Chapel Hill high school football team went down in defeat, 26-0, at the hands of a powerful Siler City eleven last Friday in a game on the opponents' field. Initial part of the game was a see-saw battle until early in the second quarter when Siler City scored their first touchdown. With the ball on the Chapel Hill 47, Murray, Raider halfback, scooted off his own right side and raced down the sidelines to the Hillian before being run out of bounds. Three plays later, Murray washed over for the score. Try for extra point failed.

Siler City scored again in a few minutes when, after driving to the fieldcat 30, the same Murray dashed off tackle and outran the Hillian secondary for his second touchdown. Try for the extra point failed again and Chapel Hill trailed 12-0 at the half.

The second half was more of the same as the Chapel Hill boys could never seem to get started. Siler City scored two more times in the final period, both touchdowns coming on long passes from Murray. One of the two extra points was made, and the final score stood at 25-0.

Only bright spot of the afternoon for Chapel Hill supporters was Jimmy Blake's beautiful punting. Time and time again the fieldcat fullback booted his team out of danger. Hill also starred for the losers.

Bethel Hill Licked 26-0 By Hillsboro

By Robin Gilmore

Last Friday at Bethel Hill, Hillsboro got going in a big way to defeat their host team 26-0. This was the Yellow Jackets' second win in three starts, the opening game of the football season taken from Siler City 7-0 and the second lost to Roxboro by the tight count of 7-6.

In the first quarter of the game, Mather Howerton blocked a Bethel Hill punt and recovered the ball on the 10-yard line. From there Frank Frederick skirted right end and went into the end zone standing. Frederick's kick was good and Hillsboro led 7-0 after three minutes of play.

Later in the quarter William Parker took the ball around left end and galloped 30 yards for another touchdown. Again Frederick booted the ball right between the goal posts, making the score 14-0.

In the second quarter, M. Howerton took a 30-yard pass from Frederick on the 15 and outran the Bethel Hill safety man to pay dirt. The conversion kick was blocked, and the score rested at 20-0 as the half ended.

Hillsboro opened the third quarter with a 60-yard drive that was climaxed when King hit the line for one yard and a touchdown. Again Frederick's kick was blocked. No score was made in the fourth, the score standing at 26-0 when the final whistle blew.

Outstanding for Hillsboro were King, Frederick, Parker and Gates in the backfield and Cates, Austin, M. Howerton, T. Howerton, Lloyd, Smith, Collins and Heathcock in the line.

Tonight Yellow Jackets journey to Durham Athletic Park for a game with Bragton.
