

Region Meets

Chapel Hill—A meeting with the Auxiliary was held last Friday by the Chapel Hill post of the American Legion. W. C. Alexander, of the state department of public welfare, Durham, was the principal speaker and explained the 1946 program of this organization.

It was voted at this meeting to discontinue the Legion square races for the summer and not to have a Legion baseball team this year. Members decided to hold a barbecue within the next two weeks, and at that time to honor local past post commanders. Addresses will be presented by the 15 past commanders. D. M. Horner, chairman for this meeting.

The next regular meeting of the region will be held the first Friday in May, at which time new officers will be elected. However, these officers will not be installed until June. Commander E. B. Patterson reported this week that the Legion membership goal for this year had been more than realized. He said that membership had been tripled. Present there are approximately 90 members in the Chapel Hill region. A Memorial Day meeting with the Hillsboro and Carrboro region posts is being planned by the local post for May 26. This meeting will be held in Kenan stadium if possible.

Mr. Moody teaches an adult Bible class at Edenton Street Methodist Church, Raleigh.

PRICES HIGHER IN MARCH

Raleigh, April 10—North Carolina farmers in March received generally higher prices for their commodities than they did in February as the price index moved 103 per cent over what is regarded as "normal."

In releasing this estimate, the Federal State Crop Reporting Service reported that corn averaged bringing $1.42 per bushel in March, three cents more than in February, while wheat advanced from $1.86 to $1.89 per bushel, and oats were up four cents, averaging $1.02 per bushel.

Hogs, said the estimate, were off 10 cents per hundred, bringing $14.10 per hundred pounds, but beef cattle and veal calves in March were about 15 cents per hundred pounds higher than during the previous month. Chickens averaged around 25 cents per pound, and eggs were off eight cents per dozen in comparison with February.

Hold on to that "Million-Dollar Rain"

That welcome rain that brings new life to your land, crops and livestock is the traditional "million-dollar rain" known to every farmer and rancher.

There is an old saying, "You can't do much about the weather." But you can do a great deal about what the weather does to your land. Rain can bring relief after drought and is worth that million dollars—or it can be a savage enemy that "dashes off with grit in its teeth and tears down our soil like a billion furious buzz saws."

Water that "walks downhill" is your ally in increasing the production of your land. And one secret of handling rainfall properly is "farming on the level"—by strip cropping, contour plowing, terracing. Cover crops, grassed waterways, dams and farm ponds also help control the destructive power of rain. Then you hold the rain where it falls. Surface run-off is slowed down to the point where it doesn't erode your topsoil away. And as your water "walks downhill," it soaks into the soil, makes plant food nutrients available to the roots of crops and, penetrating further, fills up nature's great underground reservoirs.

Water thus stored in the subsoil is the source of the wells and springs which supply homes and farms and ranches. For years this "water table" has been dropping very seriously in some sections. But where soil conservation has been practiced over large areas, the lowering of the "water table" has been a less serious problem. Soil and water can never be divorced in any good land management program. These two great resources are wedded for all time, and from their union comes the wealth of America's agriculture and the prosperity of the nation.

WORTH THINKING ABOUT

In view of the recent talk about the business, profits, etc., of the meat packers, it's worth remembering the basic economics of all businesses in this country.

To be successful, any business must do four things—1) it must purchase its raw materials at prices comparable to the prices paid by its competitors; 2) through know-how, efficiency, good operating, it must manufacture products of comparable quality at a manufacturing cost no higher than that of its competitors; 3) in doing this, it must pay its workers wage rates comparable to the going wage-scale paid by others; 4) and it must sell its product at prices that a large part of the public is willing and able to pay.

In the livestock-and-meat industry, this simply means that prices must be high enough to earn both cost and a decent profit for the livestock producer, the meat packer and the retail merchant—and low enough to keep the great masses of people eating meat.

"REDDY PULLS STEADY"
 for the Piedmont Carolinas!

Construction moves ahead just as fast as materials are available on the Duke Power Company's new generating facilities and on the extension of lines. In 1904 one hydro electric station on the Catawba produced 6,600 kilowatts of power. Today 39 stations, scattered throughout the Piedmont and including six steam electric plants, serve an industrialized Piedmont and nearly 100,000 rural customers.

Martha Logan's Recipe for Easter Ham

The mellow flavor of ham rates it one of the most popular of meats. Glaze your ham with honey, marmalade or maple syrup to save sugar. Place the ham, fat side up, on rack in uncovered pan. No water needed, as the fat will baste the ham naturally. Bake in a moderately slow oven until tender. Three to four hours will be enough. Garnish the platter with pickled peaches or apricots, or hot spiced orange slices.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW!

What is the meaning of the expression "farming on the level?"
 With what groups of people must a meat packing company like Swift & Company co-operate to operate successfully?
 Who must earn a fair profit for the livestock-and-meat industry to operate?
 Why is it important to make water "walk downhill?"

Answers to these questions may be found in the various articles which are printed elsewhere on this page.

THE EDITOR'S COLUMN

In addition to being a business corporation, Swift & Company is people—62,000 folks like you and me who have pooled their savings to build a business. These savings are invested in plants and equipment, in livestock and other raw materials, and in all the many things that make up Swift & Company.

Without people there could be no business, no Swift & Company. There must be people (shareholders) to supply the capital; others (farmers and ranchers) to supply the raw materials; many thousands (employees) who work with their heads and hands for the company; and the millions of consumers who buy the meat and other products.

The success of a business enterprise depends on how these various groups of people get along together. In other words, there must be goodwill and cooperation between the owners of Swift & Company and livestock producers, employees, and the company's customers.

To maintain goodwill we know that Swift & Company must: 1) pay fair prices for raw materials, including livestock; 2) pay a good day's pay for a good day's work; 3) provide the money to keep plants and facilities efficient; 4) pay Federal, State and Municipal taxes; 5) earn a profit to give our owners a fair return on their invested savings.

The management of Swift & Company recognizes this five-fold responsibility to the various groups of people who make our business. It is to their interest that we manage our business efficiently, that we earn a sufficient profit to let us continue contributing to the well-being of more and more people.
