

The End of a Day's Fishing

Home Demonstration Club Members Attending Farm, Home Week At N. C. State

Mrs. Victor Walker, Mrs. J. D. Graham and Mrs. E. S. Taylor of the Fairfield home demonstration club and Mrs. Glenn Lloyd and Miss Pearl McLennon of the Antioch road home demonstration club are among the members of the Orange county clubs attending the 39th annual farm and home week being conducted in Raleigh this week.

Antioch road home demonstration club plans to attend the Thursday meeting as a group. Mrs. Clarence Cole of the Smith Level club, county council president, will also attend the Thursday meeting.

3,000 Attending
More than 3,000 men and women from all parts of the state are attending. Resumed for the first time since it was called to a halt in 1941, an outstanding schedule has been arranged for the event as it got underway at 6:30 p.m. Monday at Riddick stadium on the campus of North Carolina State College, farm leaders here said.

T. J. Pearsall of Rocky Mount, president of the Farmer's Convention, presided at the opening meeting Monday evening. During the week, joint meetings for men and women will be held in Pullen hall on the campus from 7:30 to 9:30 a.m. From 10 to 12 noon separate classes will be held for men and women at which specialists in many fields of farm and home work will speak.

Thursday the North Carolina Federation of Home Demonstration Clubs will hold its 21st annual meeting in Pullen hall. The theme is "Today's Vision—Tomorrow's Reality." Mrs. A. W. Pierce of Pikeville in Wayne county, president of the organization, will preside. Registration will begin at 8:30 Thursday morning. The state council will meet at 9 o'clock. At 11 welcomes will be extended by Col. J. W. Harrison, chancellor of State College, Dr. I. O. Schaub, See (FARM and HOME) on Page 7

Wingate Court Trial Is Moved

Trial of W. T. Wingate, 32-year-old mail order salesman, wanted in a number of North Carolina counties for obtaining money under false pretenses, will be moved to another county in the state where there are more charges against him involving more money than in Orange, Solicitor W. R. Murdock of the Orange county superior court announced Tuesday.

Pointing out that the charges against him in Orange county involved only a small amount of money, Murdock said he asked the State Bureau of Investigation to select a county for Wingate's trial. Director Walter F. Anderson of the State Bureau of Investigation said at the time of Wingate's arrest in West Hillsboro by Deputy Sheriff Carl Hurley on July 23 that Wingate had "fleece merchants in North Carolina out of thousands of dollars by writing hundreds of fake orders for shirts, pants, overalls and caps on non-existent companies."

It was alleged at the time of Wingate's arrest that he would take orders, collect a deposit of 25 percent, and then fail to make delivery of the items ordered.

Solicitor Murdock said that he did not know to what county in the state custody of Wingate would be given.

HENRY NOT GUILTY

A series of routine cases were tried in Superior court on Monday with the charge of drunken driving against Thomas A. Henry, former solicitor of Chapel Hill recorder's court, headlining the day.

In a jury trial Henry was declared not guilty of the charge. Henry was represented by Attorney C. W. Hall. Members of the jury were: C. H. Pender, P. A. Willett, Ed Parker, J. Roy Kennedy, B. K. Durham, George T. Cole, W. Mack Andrews, A. S. Dameron. See (WINGATE) on Page 4

Thompson Rites Held In Village

Chapel Hill.—Funeral services for W. B. Thompson, 75, for 49 years editor of the Chapel Hill News and seven years editor of the Hillsboro News, were held at his home here Wednesday morning at 11 a.m. Mr. Thompson died Monday night at 9 p.m. at his home, 206 McCauley street. Burial was made in the Chapel Hill cemetery.

In ill health for the past five years, Mr. Thompson retired in January 1943 when he sold The News to Roy Parker. Parker later formed a corporation which now publishes The News of Orange County from Hillsboro.

Mr. Thompson was well known in Orange county and this section of the state as a newspaperman and was held in high regard by those who knew him. He was a native of Yanceyville, the son of the late W. H. and Emily Vanderford Thompson.

His survivors include his widow, Mrs. Carrie Mae Hogan Thompson; one son, T. T. Thompson of Durham; two daughters, Mrs. Gerald Creech of LaGrange, and Miss Ruth Thompson of Chapel Hill; one brother, J. D. Thompson of Hadson Heights, N. J.; and one sister, Mrs. John Webb of Salisbury.

MAJOR EUGENE M. LOCKHART TO VISIT IN HILLSBORO

Major Eugene M. Lockhart, Army air forces, who is stationed in Newfoundland as an air communications officer of the North Atlantic area, is spending a leave with his wife and two children, Martha Anne and James Kelly, in Newark, Ohio. Before the termination of his leave, he will visit his mother, Mrs. E. M. Lockhart, in Hillsboro.

School Office Is Called "Fire Trap"

Terming the present antiquated offices of the superintendent of Orange county schools a fire-trap and entirely unsatisfactory and inadequate for the proper exercise of the functions of the board (of education), the Grand Jury in its report to the Orange county superior court Tuesday afternoon recommended that any building program anticipated should take these matters "into consideration."

The Jury pointed out: "It houses the equipment and records of the county schools—the equipment worth many thousands of dollars, the records irreplaceable—in a fire trap. In addition to being a fire-trap, the building appears to be structurally unfit. The roof leaks in many areas and buckets are used in the offices to keep water off the desks of the employees.

"The roof joists seem to be well rotted and ready to tumble the roof down upon the employees and equipment if any overload caused by reason of wind or snow should be imposed upon the roof. It is recommended that any building program anticipated should take these matters into consideration. In the meantime, temporary repairs should be made to the roof to stop leaks and to safeguard against collapse."

Veterans Housing Commission Is Appointed In Chapel Hill

Chapel Hill.—Members of a Veterans Housing Commission, to give married veterans who are students in the University an opportunity to buy prefabricated houses from the government at low prices and pay for them on easy terms over a long period, have been appointed by Mayor R. W. Madry and the Board of Aldermen.

A non-profit corporation authorized by the federal statutes, the Commission is similar to those being formed in other towns of the state, and is based on the Lanham Act under which the FPFA is authorized to sell to non-profit organizations demountable houses when such are surplus to the needs of the FPFA.

The purchasing organization must assume all costs of removing, transporting and re-erecting, and all costs of management, maintenance and operation. The houses are to be sold to veterans only by the Veterans Housing Commission.

The Chapel Hill Commission appointed is composed of John M. Foushee, president; C. P. Erickson, executive vice-president; Fred B. McCall, secretary; J. B. Linker, treasurer; W. A. McKnight, N. J. Demarath and John B. Temple, the last two being veterans in the University.

W. E. Byrd, Jr., an OPA representative, registered 50 rental units here Tuesday, August 20. He will return to the post office next Tuesday, August 27, to offer his assistance.

Instructions On Registration Of Rental Units In Orange

As registration of all rental units in Orange county got underway this week in Chapel Hill, instructions on how to register were issued from the OPA headquarters in Raleigh.

Blanks for the registration of rental units in Hillsboro and the territory surrounding Hillsboro are available from the post office here. Landlords securing their blanks from the post office here must either mail them or carry them to the rent control office in Chapel Hill.

WHAT TO DO

Every person who collects rent from any living quarters in Chapel Hill must go to the Chapel Hill Rent Control Office, located on the second floor of the Henninger Building, and register his rental units on a simple one-sheet registration blank, McInnis said. In cases where the landlord cannot visit the office, he may write the office and the blanks will be sent to him. The blanks may be returned to OPA by mail. The OPA office will be open to the public from 9 o'clock until 4 o'clock daily except Saturday to help with the rental registrations.

"It will take less than five minutes to fill out the simple rent registration form," McInnis declared. "Just have the information at hand, such as the price the rental unit was renting for on March 1, 1945, and all the services which were offered. The form is in triplicate with carbon copies so that a one-time filing will serve the entire registration."

McInnis warned Orange County landlords that failure to comply with the rent registration may subject the landlord to a maximum penalty of $5,000 or a year-in-a-Federal-jail.

McInnis expressed confidence that Orange county persons who collect rents will cooperate with the government's rent control program. He said that "a great majority of our landlords are loyal Americans who want to do their part in the peoples' fight to keep prices down."

From Raleigh, the OPA Department of Information listed the following questions and answers concerning the Orange county registration as a help to avoid confusion among landlords and tenants:

Q. What if a landlord fails to register?
A. Willful violation of the registration requirements subjects the landlord to the penalties provided by the Emergency Price Control Act which are a fine of $5,000 or one year imprisonment. The registration statement carries a warning that the same penalties apply to false statements on the registration form or to evasion or attempted evasion of the Maximum Rent Regulations.

Q. How is this registration made?
A. It is made in triplicate on forms provided by the Area Rent Office.

Q. Does this mean a landlord has to fill out three separate forms?
A. No. The copies are made by carbons.

Q. Who must fill out this registration statement?
A. The landlord or his agent.

Q. What does the landlord do with the statement after he has filled it out?
A. He puts it in an envelope and drops it in the nearest mailbox.

Q. What if a place isn't rented at the time of registration?
A. Whether rented or vacant, the accommodations must be registered.

A. It is made in triplicate on forms provided by the Area Rent Office.

He can, if he wishes, bring it to the Area Rent Office, in the Henninger Building.

Q. What housing accommodations must be registered in this registration?
A. Houses, apartments, flats, tenements, and all similar dwelling units.

Q. Must a landlord make out a separate registration statement for each dwelling unit he rents, or is offering for rent?
A. Yes, a statement must be made for each unit, rented or not rented.

Q. Are there any circumstances by which a tenant would have to submit a registration statement?
A. Yes. The tenant is told on the reverse side of his copy of the statement that if he sublets all or any part of the dwelling unit he must also submit a registration statement.

Q. Exactly what does this mean?
A. It means for the registration of housing accommodations other than hotels and rooming houses if a tenant rents to one or two paying tenants not members of his family, he must register. If he rents to three or more, then he is to wait for the registration of hotels, rooming and boarding houses.

Q. Would the same hold true of a person who owned the home he lived in and rented to one or two paying tenants?
A. Yes. He would have to register. And, if he rented to more than two he would have to register later.

Q. What composes a dwelling unit?
Q. What composes a dwelling unit?
A. A dwelling unit is a room, or group of rooms, for which a single rent is paid.

Q. What is done with the triplicate registration statement?
A. The original, distinguished by blue ink, remains on file in the Area Rent Office. The second copy is the landlord's and is printed in red ink. The third copy is the tenant's copy and is printed in green ink.

Q. What happens to the landlord and tenant's copies?
A. When the registration statement is received in the Area Rent Office it is carefully inspected. If this inspection shows the statement to be in order the copies are stamped with the date of receipt given, a number, and mailed out to the landlord and the tenant.

Q. What does the tenant do with his copy?
A. The tenant is to check the information in the statement carefully. If he agrees with the information the landlord has reported on the living quarters, the tenant merely keeps the statement for reference.

Q. And if the tenant disagrees with some of the information reported?
A. He is to list the points on which he disagrees on the space provided on the reverse side of his statement, and return the statement to the Area Rent Office within 15 days.

Q. What does the landlord do with his copy of the statement?
A. He is to keep it as a record of correct registration. In future rentals, that is, when the present tenant moves out and a new one moves in, the landlord must show the new tenant the registration statement. He must also have the new tenant sign the statement in a space provided on the reverse side as evidence that the tenant has seen the statement.

Q. Is the landlord required to do anything else in the case of a change of tenancy?
A. He is to fill out a report of Change of Tenancy and send it to the Area Rent Office within 5 days after renting to a new tenant.

Q. What happens to the landlord and tenant's copies?
A. When the registration statement is received in the Area Rent Office it is carefully inspected. If this inspection shows the statement to be in order the copies are stamped with the date of receipt given, a number, and mailed out to the landlord and the tenant.
