

Chapel Hill Kiwanians To Sponsor Calf Show For Orange Breeders

A total of $150 in prize money has been put up by the Chapel Hill Kiwanis club for blue, red and white ribbon winners in a Dairy Calf Show scheduled for October 9, it has been announced.

Tentative location for the show has been set on the farm of Henry Hogan between Chapel Hill and Hillsboro. Ed Barnes, assistant county agent, estimated this week that from 40 to 50 calves would be entered in the show by 4-H youths in the county.

Clarence Oakley, president of the Kiwanis club, said that $4 would be given to owners placing calves in the blue ribbon division, $3 in the red ribbon group and $2 in the white ribbon winners.

Rules and regulations for the show as announced by Oakley are:

Purpose of Show

(a) To bring together for show as many of the purebred dairy animals in Orange county as possible.

(b) To encourage the cattle producers of the county to start a breeding program in their herds and to encourage particularly the younger boys and girls to start such a program.

(c) To help the town people to understand better the problems that face a producer of dairy cattle and dairy products.

(d) To give the overall demonstration of the value of a good breeding program in dairy herds.

Rules of Show

(a) The show shall be known as the "Kiwanis Dairy Calf Show of Orange County."

(b) Contestants shall be limited to the established boundaries of Orange county.

(c) No contestant over 21 years of age will be allowed to enter animals for prizes. Except for the above restriction, anyone may enter an animal for show if they meet the requirements for the show.

(d) No contestant may enter for prizes more than three animals in any one year.

(e) All animals entered must be registered with the association for the breed or eligible for such registration. In cases where the animal is not registered, reasonable proof of pedigree will be required.

(f) The Danish system of judging will be used on all animals.

(g) No bull over two years old will be allowed in the show.

(h) No heifer under three months old will be allowed in the show.

(i) All animals to be shown will be signed in with the clerk of the

Grange Sponsors Benefit Supper

St. Mary's Grange will sponsor a benefit supper at St. Mary's school house on Saturday, September 14, beginning at 5 p.m.

Menu will include Brunswick stew, barbecue, ice cream, home-made pies and cakes, soft drinks and coffee. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Cannery To Close September 17

The cannery of the Hillsboro high school will be closed until further notice after operation on Tuesday, September 17. The cannery has had a successful season and has served many Orange county families, it was said.

The cannery will again be open to the public when the need arises for the canning of meats. It will be necessary to have an appointment for this purpose as canning meats is a slower and more complicated process than canning fruits and vegetables. People living in the Aycock school territory should see Mr. or Mrs. G. A. Munn for an appointment and those living in other sections of the county who wish to use the cannery should see Garland Miller.

Non-Profit Organization For Tobacco Growers Organization, Objectives, And Operating Plans Of Weed Cooperative

The Flue-cured Tobacco Cooperative Stabilization Corporation is a non-profit cooperative organized to serve tobacco growers in the entire flue-cured tobacco producing area. Its principal or "home" office is in Raleigh. Membership is limited to flue-cured tobacco growers. Authorized capital is $5,000,000.

Objective

The objective of the Stabilization Corporation is to assist in making government loans available to growers on any tobacco for which the price bid by private buyers on auction markets is less than the government loan rate.

The Stabilization Corporation provides an agency through which government loans can be made to tobacco growers most effectively, and which can act for growers in selling loan tobacco with the view

Training Film Is Planned By Merchants

Chapel Hill.—At the regular meeting of the board of directors of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro Merchants Association Monday night at the Carolina Inn, members decided that local restaurant owners should meet with a committee appointed from the board to discuss the problem of remaining open during University vacations. Clarence Oakley, E. B. Patterson and Jack Lipman will head the committee from the board.

Beginning this month, the association will publish credit forms to be available to merchants using the credit system. These forms will be available to merchants upon request.

Three motion pictures on the subject of salesmanship will be shown in October to all owners, managers and personnel of local business and service concerns.

Jack Lipman was appointed chairman for the showing of a series of three films on vocational training to Chapel Hill high school students. The date for the showing of these films will be announced in the near future.

F. O. Bowman, speaking on the progress of the pamphlet to be published by Chapel Hill merchants, announced that all material, including maps, pictures and literature, was received Wednesday, and that the pamphlet should be released within the next 30 days. Rufus Wooten has prepared the pictures; Miss Betsy Brunk, the publicity.

Thomas To Report On VFW Convention

Oscar Thomas, delegate from the Hillsboro VFW Post No. 7129 to the VFW convention in Boston last week, will give a report on the convention at the meeting of the post on Tuesday night, September 17.

All the post members are urged to be present, Commander Charles Walker said.

For Better Farming Practices

Rotary Pig Chain Perpetuates Itself In Raising Registered Swine

In an effort to introduce registered pigs in Orange county to perpetuate the raising and breeding of the pigs, the Chapel Hill Rotary club with the assistance of the farm agents has placed seven pigs in the hands of seven 4-H members in the county for raising.

One of the seven pigs is shown in the picture appearing with this story with its owner, Landis Cannady, route 3, Hillsboro, a member of the Hillsboro 4-H club.

Other 4-H members in the county who are recipients of pigs by the Rotary club are Bob and John Carroll, route 1, Durham; Caswell Andrews, route 1, Chapel Hill; Coleman Gentry, Jr., route 1, Chapel Hill; Jacob Hardee, Carrboro; and Carolyn Ann Thompson, Route 1, Chapel Hill.

The club plans to place three more pigs, making a total of 10 sow pigs given to 4-H members in the county for raising. All the pigs are registered Spotted Poland China.

Pigs now in the possession of Bob and John Carroll are expected to farrow this fall. Under the terms of the Rotary Pig Chain, they will present one sow from the litter to another 4-H boy or girl in the county who will raise her, presenting in turn a choice sow from the first litter to another 4-H member.

Any 4-H boy or girl in the county desiring to secure one of the pigs should contact either a member of the farm agent's office or Dr. George Crisman, chairman of the Rotary committee handling the Pig Chain.

Text Book Shortage Threatened

Although no reports were available from the schools in the county on opening day enrollment, Superintendent of Schools R. H. Claytor said Monday that he felt there was a substantial increase over last year's opening day figures.

With an increased attendance expected over last year's record, a school book shortage threatened the county schools, but there was apparently nothing for the superintendent of schools or the county board of education to Elementary grade enrollment in Chapel Hill was estimated by Superintendent C. W. Davis not to exceed that of last year. High school enrollment Monday was said to be approximately 40 students higher than last year. Enrollment last year was 275. Average enrollment last year throughout the term was 300.

Enrollment in Hillsboro schools showed an increase of 170 over last year, Grady A. Brown, principal, reported Tuesday morning.

Elementary enrollment this year is 641 as compared to 586 last year, and high school enrollment is 290 as compared to 175 last year, he said.

The school has five more teachers this year than last. W. H. Rittenhouse, Jr., recently employed as music teacher, completes the roster, he said.

do about the shortage. The shortage is facing not only the local schools, but also every school system in the state.

Paper shortage in publishing houses throughout the nation, coupled with labor shortages, has seriously disrupted the production of books. Orange county schools have about one-half the necessary number of mathematics books needed for the grades. Other shortages are reported in English, spelling and reading books for the lower grades.

Asked what the school teachers planned to do about the problem, Claytor responded there was little they could do except "get along" the best they could. It was pointed out that solution of the book shortage would be more of an individual teacher and classroom problem rather than a problem for the school board or the superintendent of schools to settle.

Lunch Rooms

Claytor asserted that all the lunch rooms in the white schools were in operation and in the following Negro schools: Gravelly Hill, Hillsboro, Eiland and Ridge Road. He indicated that lunch rooms might be opened in other Negro schools in the county.

Teacher shortages in all the schools have been settled at least "temporarily" with substitute teachers filling in for a short while until a full teaching roster can be completed. A fourth teacher has been added to the White Cross school. She will teach in the eighth grade. White Cross now has four teachers and eight grades.

J. R. Evans Not To Run For House

J. R. Evans, Republican nominee for house of representatives in the November general elections, Tuesday informed The NEWS that he was withdrawing from the elections because of other duties.

Elsewhere in this issue there appears a statement from him concerning his withdrawal.

Returning high school teachers are Mrs. Earl Dumas, Miss Janice Jones, E. Cecil Longest, Miss Elizabeth Maynard, Lawrence Pittman, Mrs. Bernadine Sullivan, Miss Margaret Lewis, and W. J. Latham (who was away during the war). Returning elementary school teachers are Miss Mildred Mooneyhan, principal; Miss Chattie Neal Cason, Miss Lettie Glass, Mrs. LaLage James, Mrs. Adeline McCall, Mrs. Linda McIntosh, Miss Ida Oettinger, Mrs. Elizabeth Flemmons, Mrs. Kate Sanders, Miss Elizabeth Sewell, and Mrs. Claudia Simmons.

High School Day At UNC September 28

The fifth High School Day program for students throughout the State, which was organized at the University of North Carolina in 1938 and resumed this year for the first time since 1942, will be held there on Saturday, September 28—the day of the first football game on Carolina's schedule this fall.

Twelve hundred high school seniors have been invited by the University Athletic Association and the Virginia Polytechnic Institute Athletic Association, to be guests at the Carolina-VPI game that afternoon at 2:30.

According to Prof. Guy B. Phillips, who has been authorized by the Athletic Associations of the two institutions to direct the program, the event will be known as "The 1946 North Carolina High School Senior Day". At the last High School Day program in 1941, it was estimated that 20,000 seniors from 90 counties in the State participated.

President Frank P. Graham and Chancellor Robert B. House have extended an invitation to the seniors, their principals and sponsors for the opening game when 12,000 complimentary tickets have been made available by Carolina and VPI Athletic Associations.

The day's program will include tours of the campus, to be conducted

Ordinance On Sale Of Milk Is Suggested

A standard milk ordinance to govern the sale and preparation of all milk sold at retail in Orange county is to be presented to the next meeting of the District Health Board, Dr. O. David Garvin, health officer, asserted Monday.

He pointed out that he felt certain the ordinance would be passed this time since "certain evils practiced by some dairies serving milk" in the area had been cleared.

A standard milk ordinance for Orange county would also prohibit sale of milk by individuals keeping one or two cows, it was pointed out.

A milk ordinance such as proposed by Dr. Garvin would require (1) labeling of all milk according to the grade; (2) identification of producer on bottle cap; and (3) bottling in a manner prescribed by the health department.

In other words, Dr. Garvin said, the ordinance would supervise the storing, handling and processing of milk from the time the cow was milked until the bottled milk was delivered to the door steps of the users.

Homecoming At West Hill Baptist

Homecoming services will be held Sunday, September 15, at the West Hillsboro Baptist church.

Morning and evening worship services will be held. Dinner will be served picnic style. All former members are urged to attend.

Former pastors expected to attend the homecoming are the Rev. C. S. Young of Lexington; the Rev. W. V. Brown of Haw River and the Rev. J. C. Johnson of Fayetteville.

Special singing will be rendered by a quartet.

Farm Bureau Secretary To Explain Objectives Of Stabilization Group

R. Flake Shaw, executive secretary of the North Carolina Farm Bureau, will speak at a mass meeting of Orange county tobacco farmers in the court house in Hillsboro on Saturday, September 14, on the Flue-Cured Tobacco Cooperative Stabilization Corporation, a non-profit cooperative organized to serve tobacco growers in the entire flue-cured tobacco producing area. The meeting is scheduled to start at 2:30 p.m.

In a letter to farm bureau members in the county, Joe R.

Williams, assistant secretary, said: "If you have been on the tobacco market this year, you have witnessed a fluctuation in prices as never seen before. Many farmers are doubling the price of their tobacco by re-sale. In other words, the markets so far this fall seem to be a pin-hookers paradise."

"As you already know, the Farm Bureau has recently sponsored the Flue-Cured Tobacco Cooperative Stabilization Corporation, for the express purpose of guaranteeing to every farmer in this state that he will receive 90 percent of parity on his 1946 tobacco crop. Many farmers in our state have failed to take advantage of the opportunity offered by the Stabilization Corporation because they did not know the true facts."

Organization, objectives and operating plans of the committee are given in another story appearing on this page.

Farm Bureau leaders, pointing out that tobacco markets serving Orange county open on Monday, September 16, and Monday, September 23, urged that all farmers avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing the Farm Bureau Executive Secretary explain the corporation.

More Signers Are Received For Lockers

Twenty-one more people in Orange county have signified their desire to rent a locker in the proposed freezer locker plants for Hillsboro and Chapel Hill, it was reported this week.

Eight additional signers have been secured for Hillsboro and 13 for Chapel Hill.

Latest signers are:

Hillsboro — Harry P. Woods, Christine Cates, Z. C. Burton, W. John Clayton, J. L. Phelps, V. C. Walters, Commie Lee Byrd, W. B. Richmond, all farmers.

Chapel Hill—A. W. Ivey, L. M. Dodson, Mrs. H. S. Hogan, H. S. Hogan, R. Colon Thompson, Charlie Thompson, W. I. Suit, C. W. Stanford, H. C. Lloyd, Grady W. Durham, J. E. Tripp and Mrs. J. W. Kirk, all farmers, and C. B. Robinson.

Two Chapel Hill Youths Attend Boys' State Meet

Chapel Hill—Local high school students attending the Sixth Tar Heel Boys' State held at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill last week were Gaston S. Baldwin, Jr., and Adrian Linberger, Jr.

The Boys' State sponsored by the North Carolina American Legion and the Institute of Government, is "to train and inspire the youth of North Carolina in full realization of their responsibilities and to teach them duties, rights and privileges of citizenship through participation in governmental functions."

During the week the boys heard officials from the Governor's office and all other branches of the State's government describe the nature of their duties and the overall structure of North Carolina law—county, city and state.

J. F. Miller, Court Crier, Dies Monday

Joseph F. Miller, 80, died at his home in Little River township Monday morning at 7:45 o'clock. He had been critically ill for five days, having suffered a stroke while working Wednesday.

Mr. Miller has been court crier for Orange county superior court for the past several years.

He is survived by his wife, Flora Miller, of the home. His two daughters, Mrs. J. D. Mincey, Hillsboro, Route 1, and Mrs. B. M. Maulden, Rockingham; three sons, W. E. Miller, Route 1, Hillsboro; G. F. Miller, Hillsboro, and C. F. Miller of Hurdle Mills; four sisters, Mrs. Lizzie Baraduo, Mrs. Jack Smith and Mrs. A. L. Bowen, all of Durham, and Mrs. B. F. Carly of Alexandria, Va.; two brothers, J. H. Miller, Hurdle Mills, and J. R. Miller, Route 1, Durham; and 18 grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon at 4 p.m. at the Little River Presbyterian church, by the Rev. J. S. Cooke and the Rev. S. F. Nicks. Interment was made in the church cemetery. Pallbearers were grandsons and floral bearers were friends and neighbors.

Polio Claims Hugh Quimby

Chapel Hill.—Hugh Pemberton Quimby, age 25, of 406 Cameron avenue, Chapel Hill, died at Watts hospital Saturday morning at 6:30 o'clock with poliomyelitis, with which he had been ill only a few days.

He was a graduate of the University of North Carolina in the class of '42, and was a veteran of World War II, having been a pilot of heavy bombers overseas for 15 months. He was with the Acacia Mutual Life Insurance company district office in Durham.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Edith Fore Quimby of Chapel Hill; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Mark Quimby, and one brother, Sumner Quimby, all of Columbia, S. C.

Private memorial services were held in the small chapel of the University Methodist church Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, conducted by the Rev. J. M. Culbreth. Quimby was the first victim of polio in Orange county this year. Two other cases have been reported, but they both recovered.

Union Grove To Lay Cornerstone

Celebration of the 100th anniversary of the Union Grove Methodist church and the laying of a cornerstone for a new church building will be observed on September 29, it has been announced by church members.

If present plans materialize, the church services will be held on the floor of the new church building. Recently, work on the building has been hampered by the lack of nails and cement.

The Rev. T. W. Lee is pastor of the church and L. M. Riley chairman of the building committee.
