

Movement Underway To Bar Carnivals From County

Appearance of two carnivals in Orange county during the same week and the wide-open gambling and girlie shows operating with the carnivals, resulting in a drain on the income and a corresponding drop in the amounts paid on bills held by merchants, are the reasons for the effort started this week by a group of merchants and interested civic-minded people to prohibit carnivals, shows and circuses from showing more than one day in the county.

This past week Orange county officers were called upon to police the grounds of two carnivals which pitched their tents, rides and gambling tables in the county. One carnival was near Mebane and the second near Hillsboro. The carnivals were less than 10 miles apart.

Reports said that wide-open gambling was in progress at the shows and that girl shows were about as lewd and promiscuous as any ever to show in the county.

Police officers pointed out, however, that the carnivals were sold state and county licenses to put up their tents and offer their entertainment to the people. "Under conditions such as these, there is very little that we can do," they said.

In another county in the state last week, the Grand Jury ordered lewd shows and gambling halted at a carnival. Under such instructions, the presiding judge at the superior court session ordered the carnival "cleaned up."

The Hillsboro Merchants Association took the first step in halting the appearance of shows and carnivals for more than one day by going on record against them at its meeting Monday night. James Webb, Democratic nominee for senator without opposition in the November general elections, has already been approached by a number of interested citizens and has promised his aid, provided enough favorable comment is received, in getting a local bill passed prohibiting the shows from putting down for more than one day.

State Representative from Orange county will also be asked to give his support to such a measure. The Chapel Hill-Carrboro Merchants Association will be requested to back the local merchants in such a move and other organizations in the county will be urged to support the movement.

Milk Producers Don't Seek Hike In Their Prices

Raleigh—C. F. Cates of Mebane, president of the N. C. Milk Producers Association, announced here recently that the association has passed a resolution urging that the retail price of grade A milk in North Carolina be kept at a maximum of 20 cents per quart, with the wholesale price being maintained at a maximum ceiling of $5.80 per hundred pounds.

He said that although the $5.80 maximum which the producers are now receiving for milk is 25 cents less than they would have received if the Federal subsidies had been kept in effect, the association is "completely satisfied with present prices, and is unalterably opposed to any increase whatever."

Cates asserted, generally speaking, that the retail 20-cents-per-quart price and the $5.80 per hundred pounds on a wholesale basis are in effect throughout the State. "We want no increase in prices," said Cates.

Harry Caldwell

Harry Caldwell's return to North Carolina brings back to the state a man with the unique distinction of having won recognition as a crusader without also being tagged a radical.

Caldwell, ex-four times master of the State Grange, resigned this week as secretary-treasurer of the American Plant Food Council in Washington, D. C., to take over the executive secretary post of the North Carolina Good Health Association.

Prices Firm On Old Belt Weed Markets

During the second week of sales on the Old Belt flue-cured tobacco markets, average prices were steady to slightly lower for most grades except for green leaf, primings and nondescript.

According to the United States, North Carolina and Virginia Departments of Agriculture, most of the declines were from $1.00 to $2.00 per hundred. However, fair to fine orange lugs and best heavy grades lost $5.00 for the greatest declines of the week. On the other hand, the majority of primings, green leaf and nondescript showed gains ranging from $1.00 to $6.50. Low green (lemon side) leaf led the advances. The volume in these grades was very small. Growers were still dissatisfied with prices for poorer qualities, but rejections were not quite as numerous as opening week.

The general quality of the offerings was much better this week. There were more fair to choice qualities and less common and low and nondescript. Bulk was composed chiefly of low to fine lugs and low to good leaf and cutters. Again, as was the case last week, leaf, lugs and cutters were marketed in almost equal proportions, but leaf predominated by a very small margin.

The volume of sales was very light this week as most markets did not have enough tobacco to sell their allotted 3 1-2 hours per day. Gross sales amounted to 19,963,213 pounds at an average of $48.43 per hundred. This was 4,373,235 pounds less than opening week, when 24,336,448 pounds were sold for an average of $46.67. Although most grades were slightly lower, the weekly average was $1.76 above last week's. The higher average was attributed to the much improved quality and to the marketing of a larger percentage of better grades of leaf, lugs and cutters.

Scout Plans For Campaign Are Completed

Campaign plans for raising the Occaneechee Council budget for 1947 are practically completed, it was announced by K. G. Clapp, council campaign chairman at a meeting of the council executive board held in Durham Tuesday night. The campaign in all counties of the council not in community chests will be conducted the last two weeks of October. In counties where community chests operate, that county's share of the $38,000 budget will be raised through the community chest.

Plans for adding two additional field executives to the council's staff were also completed at the board meeting. At present, there are three white field executives and one Negro field executive. To meet the needs of an expanding five-year program, E. A. Clemm, council commissioner, reported that the addition of another white field executive and a second Negro field executive is necessary. The money to finance the additional personnel has been included in the 1947 budget.

Bishop Paul M. Garber (right) of the Geneva Area welcomes to Switzerland Dr. J. W. E. Sommer, president of the Methodist Seminary, Frankfurt, Germany. Dr. Sommer is the first German Methodist to be granted permission to leave Germany.

Bishop Garber is widely known in North Carolina having been, until his election as Bishop in Atlanta in 1944, the Dean of Duke University school of divinity. He was a prominent leader in Methodist unification.

Nash-Kollock Property Here Is Deeded To H. S. Hogan

Deed to the Nash-Kollock property in Hillsboro, object of minor controversy over whether the building should be restored to its former appearance, has been filed in the office of Orange county register of deeds, H. S. Hogan, Orange county farmer, secretary and member of the board of directors of the Farmers' Mutual Exchange is listed as the new owner of the property.

No figure was given as the amount paid by Hogan for the lot and house, but the deed bears $2.75 in revenue stamps, indicating that the property sold in excess of $2,000. The deed only listed $100 and other "valuable considerations."

The following are named in deeding the property to Hogan: Alice S. Cates, widow, of Orange county; Claud Cates and wife, Jessie A. Cates of Alamance county; Curry Cates and wife, Maude T. Cates of Rowan county; F. S. Cates and wife, Virginia R. Cates of Orange county; Lillie Mae Cates Oakley and husband, Riley Oakley, of Person county; Herbert J. Cates and wife, Opal R. Cates, Earl C. The deed is dated March 12, 1946.

General opinion is that the Farmers' Mutual Exchange will construct a warehouse on the property from which to carry on their operations in Hillsboro.

The Nash-Kollock building, now situated on the lot, is one of the oldest buildings in Hillsboro, but in the past several years has fallen into bad repair. An effort has been underway for several months to have the building restored, but results have been negligible in both Hillsboro and Orange county.

Mayors Call Upon Employers To Use Handicapped Workers

Ben Johnston, mayor of Hillsboro, and R. W. Madry, mayor of Chapel Hill, this week issued proclamations urging all employers to use more handicapped workers as "National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week" was observed in Orange county.

Many employers in the county have been and will be contacted during the week for the specific purpose of taking orders for handicapped workers. "It is good business for employers to utilize the abilities, skills and experience of handicapped persons and the entire community benefits when it is done," an announcement from the branch office of the Employment Service in Chapel Hill said.

The proclamation by Johnston and Madry follows:

WHEREAS, Victory in World War II cost us more than 2,000,000 casualties and

WHEREAS, there are many millions of handicapped persons in the United States, many of whom by their efforts were of great aid in manufacturing munitions or providing essential service for the war effort, and

WHEREAS, all of these persons including disabled veterans of World War I and II deserve self-supporting, self-respecting jobs in which they can make useful contributions to our community, state and nation . . .

AND I FURTHER urge all employers to place all their job orders with the United States Employment Service so that disabled veterans and other handicapped workers may be given an opportunity to prove their value in productive and self-respecting jobs.

The Hillsboro Merchants Association in its regular monthly meeting Monday night:

- (1) Cancelled plans for holding a Fall Festival trading promotion;
 - (2) Went on record as opposing the appearance of carnivals, shows or circuses for more than one day in Orange county.
- Plans for holding the Fall trade promotion were cancelled when leading merchants in town pointed out that they were having a difficult time securing merchandise to offer traders in the sales promotion. They also pointed out that efforts to secure suitable prizes to offer at the conclusion of the contest had proven difficult and that they doubted the prizes could be found.
- It was decided to use the tickets already printed for the festival next year. They will be stored in a convenient, safe place in town until the next sales promotion plan is adopted.

Considerable opposition was voiced to the appearance of carnivals in the county. By a unanimous vote, the merchants were on record as opposing the appearance of such events showing more than one day in the county.

J. M. Bliden, president of the association, was requested to write E. Carrington Smith, president of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro Merchants Association, and request the association there to take the same action.

Representative from Orange in the General Assembly and the State Senator from this district will also be written of the action of the merchants. They will be requested to introduce legislation in the next session of the General Assembly to prohibit the traveling shows from appearing more than one day in the county.

Milk Needs For Orange Near Peak

Orange county residents will consume more than 5,775,000 quarts of milk and milk products this year in maintaining the county's nutritional standards, it was predicted today by the nation's leading distributor of dairy products.

"With a near record supply of milk from the nation's dairy farms, consumption of dairy products this year will nearly equal that of 1945 when more than 60,000,000 quarts were consumed," said head of a national dairy department. "A 22 percent increase in per capita consumption of milk during the war years helped overcome the loss of nutrition caused by curtailed supplies of fats and oils and helped bring about the nation's high nutritional wartime levels."

An increased supply of most cheese products is now available in many sections of the country and other milk products are expected to be adequate during the fall and winter months, Diehl said. These products contain nearly 14 percent of the calories, 24 percent of the proteins, 18 percent of the fats, 74 percent of the calcium and 45 percent of the riboflavin consumed by the average individual.

Orange County's 1,850 farms are expected to produce more than 8,500,000 quarts of milk this year.
