Adulterated Milk Sale Is Fought

Raleigh—Agriculture Commissioner W. Kerr Scott says that the State Agriculture Department is making "definite progress" in its efforts to prevent the sale of adulterated milk in North Carolina.

Scott has announced that a survey of the State's milk supply is being conducted, and will continue for several months. However, it will be some time before a full report on these findings can be made. Tests have been in progress for quite a while on milk offered to the public through retail outlets, to determine whether it is mislabeled, said Scott.

In carrying out its survey of milk conditions, Scott said that evidence of violations would be provided the district solicitors in the areas affected.

Commenting on the failure of the Legislature to pass the State-wide Minimum Milk Bill sponsored by the N. C. Department of Health, Scott said: "It all boils down to this: The Department of Agriculture now has the law to carry out the provisions contained in this act, but it doesn't have the funds. The State Board of Health has the funds, but the Legislature has not given it the law." "It must be understood," he added, "that in order to build up a case against a single violator, there must be proven in court not just one instance of mislabeling, but a series of them. It takes time to get such evidence. If we should attempt to base a case on a single instance of violation, or perhaps even two violations, the case would likely be thrown out of court."

Draft Board Ceases Work; Changes Name

The Orange county draft board clerk, said Tuesday that she had not yet been officially informed where to send the records for storage. A number of Federal record depositories are to be established over the country where all the records of every draft board in the United States will be placed for reference in the future.

The Selective Service act officially expired on March 31 which makes it unnecessary for 18-year-olds to continue registering with the draft boards, Miss Jones pointed out.

Thus the work of Orange county's draft board members and employees in the office has entered its last stretch preliminary to the closing of the draft board office.

Games Will Start At 11 a.m. and Lunch

Those attending will be given an opportunity to view the grounds, and something of the proposed plans will be explained.

The churches of Orange Presbytery have been asked to give an amount equal to $1 per member to help with the initial expenses of the camp and to purchase equipment.

The New Hope church has offered the use of its grounds, and an additional 60 acres have been purchased to be used for this purpose.

Hillsboro, Chapel Hill Town Politics Simmers As 4 Candidates File

Political pots in Orange county began to simmer this week with candidates announcing for offices for town elections to be held in Chapel Hill and Hillsboro in May.

CHAPEL HILL ELECTION

In Chapel Hill E. B. Patterson, proprietor of the Patterson Tire Company and commander of the Chapel Hill post of the American Legion, is the only candidate to file formally for the municipal election to be held on May 6.

Officers to be elected in the vote are the mayor, the judge of the Recorder's Court, and four aldermen. The four present members of the board whose terms are expiring are R. J. M. Hobbs, P. L. Burch, F. O. Bowman and Obie Davis. The terms of R. B. Fitch and E. S. Lanier have two more years to run.

Three of the aldermen elected this year are to serve four years. One, completing the term of Bruce Strowd, resigned, will serve for only two years. A candidate may file for either a four-year or two-year term. If all candidates file for a four-year term, the three receiving the highest number of votes will serve for four years, and the one who stands fourth in number of votes received will serve for two years.

The term for the mayor and the judge of recorder's court is for two years.

Period of registration will be from April 19 through April 26 (except Sundays): 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturdays; 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on other days.

The Rev. R. L. Bolton will serve as registrar; Mrs. V. A. Hill and Mrs. John F. Crawford will be judges of election.

JOHNSTON NOT TO RUN

Mayor Ben F. Johnston, mayor of Hillsboro for the past 14 years, announced this week that he would not be a candidate for mayor while some of the board members—who did not care to have their names divulged yet—have indicated that they will not seek re-election.

This is the first year that Hillsboro voters have had the opportunity of naming their town officials in a regularly conducted election. In past years, officials have been named in mass meetings which in the past few years have proved to be impractical.

To be named in the election on May 8 are a mayor and five commissioners for the town of Hillsboro. Present commissioners are Lucius Brown, A. J. Snipes, Frank Walker, Charles James and F. E. Joyner.

Charles M. Walker, Jr., has announced his candidacy for mayor while Thomas E. Shute and Marshall L. Cates, Jr., have announced their intention to seek places on the board of commissioners.

All three are Hillsboro natives and served in the armed forces during the second world war.

H. G. Coleman, Jr., also a Hillsboro native and world war two veteran, has been named registrar. Books are now open, Mayor Johnston announced, in the office of Coleman-Laws Co., Inc.

LEGION STATEMENT

Following the meeting of the Hillsboro Post No. 85 Tuesday night, Legion officials released a statement that they are not embroiled in a political fight with the town of Hillsboro or the county commissioners and are not going to run a slate of officers—supported by the Legion—in the forthcoming town elections.

The post went on record in its meeting Tuesday night to stay as far from politics—as far as the Legion post is concerned—as possible.
