'1836 Taxes'

Carl Davis, Orange county tax collector, feels that a lot of honest people live in Orange county, but for a second or two this week he thought he had discovered the most honest man in the county.

To save the taxpayer any possible embarrassment his name will not be revealed.

Tuesday, however, Davis received a check for $36.12 in payment of '1836 taxes.' The taxpayer in reality was paying his 1947 taxes, but in typewriting his check his fingers had hit the keys '1836.'

Bank Official Here Says Loans Available For G.I.'s

Last week in a front page news story THE NEWS quoted information received from attending two meetings in Hillsboro that veterans were unable to secure loans under the provisions of the G.I. Bill of Rights.

S. A. Johnson, vice president of the Durham Bank and Trust company in Hillsboro, Tuesday replied to the story. His letter to THE NEWS follows:

Hillsboro, N. C.
Oct. 13, 1947

The News,
Hillsboro, N. C.
Gentlemen:

Let some one infer from your article last week that veterans cannot get loans in Hillsboro, I should like to say the Durham Bank and Trust company here in Hillsboro has made substantial loans to veterans and will gladly make more. Making loans is a major activity here and all comers are welcomed. Anybody who can and will meet the reasonable requirements can get a loan.

We have not made loans under the G.I. Bill because we believe we should not make twenty-five year loans. Inferentially, at least, the government shares that belief; because it does not permit commercial banks to own and hold U. S. bonds maturing in even half that time. To us it seems unwise to project a financial appraisal of any Hillsboro property over a twenty-five year period, or much less for that matter.

I have also been reliably informed the local building and loan association has made loans to no fewer than forty veterans.

Yours very truly,
S. A. JOHNSON.

George A. Cates and Gordon D. Couch, employees at Duke Power company's Eno Steam Station at University, received awards for outstanding records of service in the presence of approximately 75 of their friends and co-workers last Thursday evening at a fish fry held at the Eno recreation park.

Two of his sons, Onie A. and Winston D. Cates are also employed at Eno.

Gordon D. Couch, whose service with Duke Power began October 15, 1922, received the pin for 25 years service. Couch lives about three miles from the power plant. He, like Cates, has spent his entire period of employment at the Eno Station.

The awards were made by Grover C. Truesdel Thursday evening when employees and their families and friends gathered for a supper of fish, coleslaw, potato chips, pickles and soft drinks.

New Hope Camp Is To Be Ready Next Summer

Dr. T. Henry Patterson, secretary of board of trustees of Camp New Hope, said last week that plans are to have accommodations for at least 200 campers next summer.

In a talk to the Hillsboro Lions club, Dr. Patterson outlined plans for the Presbyterian camp and showed blue prints of the many proposed buildings. He stated that eventually the camp would accommodate 500 persons, but naturally the building would have to be extended over a period of years. Dr. Patterson made it clear that the use of the camp would not be limited to Presbyterians alone, but would be available for all groups of young people.

Late Dr. B. B. Lloyd Is Memorialized At 10th Annual Family Reunion Sunday

The 10th annual reunion of the Lloyd, Hogan and Lindsey families of Orange county was held at the Bethel Baptist church Sunday, October 12, at 11 a. m. with J. Ralph Lloyd, president Lloyd Memorial association, presiding.

Approximately 500 attended the gathering, which was a memorial service in honor of the late Dr. B. B. Lloyd.

Dr. Archibald Henderson of the University of North Carolina delivered a speech relating some of the history connected with the Lloyd Memorial association. He told of Gen. Thomas Lloyd, who was famous during the American Revolution. Dr. Henderson said he had no reason to doubt that General Lloyd fought with George Washington during the French and Indian war. He pointed out that General Lloyd built Fort Necessity at Pittsburgh and was with Washington when he surrendered to the French. Lloyd later returned to Orange county and built a home which he named Great Meadows.

Dr. Henderson also gave the resolution in memory of the late Dr. B. B. Lloyd, as follows: "The Lloyd Memorial association assembled at its annual meeting, Bethel church, Orange county, October 12, 1947, hereby goes on record in the following: "Resolved: That the principal object of this meeting is to honor the life and services of the late Dr. Braxton Bynum Lloyd, who by his scientific skill and salty humor and consecrated devotion to the health and welfare of the people of this community, Orange and Chatham counties, greatly endeared himself to all who knew him and left behind a precious memory of service which will never be forgotten."

Dr. William DeB. MacNider of the University of North Carolina in his speech titled "The Life and History of the Late Dr. B. B. Lloyd" said, "Today, with an affectionate appreciation, we memorialize the life of Dr. Braxton Bynum Lloyd who was born near Chapel Hill on Christmas day, 1886, and who died in his home near the place of his birth on Thursday, March 20, 1947. He was fortunate in being born and raised on a farm. Here he lived close to nature and to the naturalness of the things of nature, its creatures and its human beings. An appreciation of such natural things not

If the president's food saving program inaugurated last week is to be successful, it must have the cooperation of farmers throughout the nation. Orange county farmers have already signified their willingness to help.

Listed below are a few suggested farm practices, which, if adopted, will work right along with this food program and at the same time make for more efficient farming.

(1) Kill fattening hogs before they reach 300 lbs. All records indicate that a hog makes the most efficient gains up to 250 lbs. After this weight, it takes a lot more grain to put on a pound of weight.

(2) Seed all corn land to small grain. Prepare land well, fertilize heavy, and use cleaned and treated seed.

(3) Sell cull poultry and low producing cows before winter sets in.

(4) Seed small acreage to temporary grazing crops. It is not too late to sow a little rye grass which can be obtained through the AAA office in Hillsboro for 3c per lb. Thirty to forty pounds seeded on an acre will make excellent early grazing for cattle, hogs, and poultry. Plan to use electric fences in your grazing program next spring.
