Hillsboro Goes Over The Top

Quietly and without much publicity a group of men in Hillsboro interested in the future progress of scouting in this section of the county has contributed slightly in excess of $600 as this section's share of the budget to carry on the scouting program in the county.

We feel that this is quite an accomplishment when it is considered that no public appeal was made, the money coming from a select group of individuals in the section.

We wish their desire to do something about the scouting program went further than the mere giving of funds to pay the hired help who administer the program. Several days ago we asked one of Hillsboro's Eagle scouts who was serving as scoutmaster of the troop and he was unable to say.

Adult investment of time and effort in the scouting program in providing the leadership needed is nothing more than an investment in the youth of our town. They need the supervision of adults in carrying out their programs. They need to have adults—their mothers and fathers—attend their functions and encourage them in the steps from tenderfoot to Eagle.

Yes, we have done our part in giving the money for the program. But we have apparently failed our youth in giving them the leadership they need.

White Cross Has Newest Scouts

Still on the scouting theme, we offer our congratulations to the scouts of the neighborhood patrol at White Cross school who comprise the newest group of scouts in the Occochee council.

In his address to the county council of scouts in Chapel Hill Friday night, Roy Liles, council executive, referred to them as the newest group of scouts in the growing and expanding council.

May you scouts at White Cross grow and prosper. We look forward to the day when we print the story of the first Eagle scout from your organization.

Promise With Alibi

Declaration by Carroll Reece, chairman of the Republican National committee tee, that his party will support President Truman in an "effective cure" for inflation. The cure could hardly be termed "effective" until tried out; it cannot be tried unless the Republicans support it, and already Reece is setting specifications which seem to us to preclude this support.

The administration's plan, he says, must avoid "regimentation, statism or impairment of the freedom of the individual."

Who believes there can be price control or threat of price control which does not tend to regiment dealers in foods and other commodities, and what individual manufacturer or wholesaler will concede his freedom is unpaired when the government says how much he shall charge for his products or his wares?

We'd like to believe Reece is as concerned for heading off inflation as he is with striving to show that a Democratic president hasn't got sense or courage enough to do it; but he no sooner supports under certain conditions than he announces in advance what may be expected to be his alibi.

Lest We Forget

Seeing a picture in the Sunday Daily News of a new schoolhouse at Dobson, we are constrained once again to deplore the loss of the bond issue which would have afforded Chapel Hill the means of more nearly meeting its needs for a high school plant.

If one is to judge from the photograph, the Dobson building cost as much as it has been proposed to spend on the Chapel Hill structure—and Dobson, while county seat of Surry, is a wide place in the road and nothing like so large as Carrboro, which community is also served by Chapel Hill high school.

The education commission which was set up by the General Assembly at its last session to make a thorough study of the public schools of North Carolina has before it the task of recommending what should be done about school buildings. Orange is one of the counties in which a special study will be conducted.

This may help the voters of the county to comprehend the need for doing something about a situation which the nakedest eye at a glance sees is untoward. It may well be that before the state is through with rehabilitating and augmenting its school system into some semblance of adequacy the state as a whole will be called upon to assist Orange and other counties with their buildings; but not we think until Orange has put forth considerably more effort to help itself.

In fitting a collar on a horse or mule, it should be put on and so buckled that the sides of the collar are snug enough against the neck to make it feasible to pass the fingers only, held flat, between the rim of the collar and the sides of the neck when the collar is pressed or drawn strongly back against the shoulders.

"They're the talk of the coffee stops!"

"Try that seat. It's fully adjustable. They tell me it's got 12 inches more foot room, and eight inches more seating space, too."

"Take a look at that cab, all one piece. Not a rivet or bolt. There's 22% greater visibility—and even more with those new rear-corner windows!"

"You ought to get a look at that new frame. It's REALLY built!"

"That's the new cab that 'breathes'! It 'inhales' fresh air—'exhales' used air—draws in fresh air that's heated in cold weather, and forces out used air!"

"Have you seen that new Chevrolet truck, Mac? It's the truck with Advance Design!"

"The cab's specially mounted... on rubber! It practically eliminates road-shock and vibration!"

"I took a look under the hood and, boy, it's still got that valve-in-head engine! It does more work on less gas than any other engine of its size!"

*Fresh-air heating and ventilating system optional at extra cost.

CHEVROLET Choose Chevrolet trucks for Transportation Unlimited! There's a new Advance-Design Chevrolet truck to meet your hauling or delivery requirements—107 models and eight wheelbases. See them at our showroom... see the cab that "breathes."
