COUNTY P.-T. A. TO SPONSOR TALENT NIGHT

The county unit of the Orange County P.-T. A. will sponsor a talent program at the Hillsboro high school on Friday night, November 21, at 8 o'clock. The program promises to be interesting from beginning to end. Parents and teachers from each school community in Orange county will participate in the program. A short one-act play will be presented by a few members of the Hillsboro high school faculty. The teachers glee club will render three selections. Mrs. Lucy James and Marinda D. McPherson are special soloists for the evening.

THE CLEAN UP CAMPAIGN

The clean up campaign, sponsored by the Garden club of Hillsboro, was of great success to the entire community. Winners of the essay contest were printed last week.

Special commendations: Punctuation, James White; originality, Berry Whitted.

The students chose the following who in their opinion were the best citizens during month of October: Winefred Collins received

OCTC Seeking New Veterans For Farm Class

The agriculture department of the Orange County Training school is accepting new veterans for the veterans program in farming which will begin January 1, 1948, under the supervision of the agriculture teacher, R. D. Smith.

The program for 1948 will operate under Public Law 377, 80th Congress, which sets up certain requirements and qualifications that each veteran must meet before entering the program. These requirements are: The new enrollment will be confined to self-proprietorship cases, the farm must be properly equipped, the size and quality of the farm must be a satisfactory facility for the veterans training and productive enough to insure the trainee an income sufficient under normal conditions for reasonable living at least by the end of his training period, the veteran must be assured control of farm until at least the completion of his course either by lease, management agreement, or other tenure agreement, the farm must be large enough to occupy the full time of the veteran, and the veteran must attend class regularly for at least twice a week for two hours each night.

Those veteran farmers desiring to enter the program should do so immediately as all the paper work in connection with their entering the program must be in the Raleigh office by January 1, 1948.

All veterans should contact R. D. Smith at the Orange County Training school, Chapel Hill, by December 1, 1947.

the highest rating; Hilda Ruffin, Betty McBroom, Constance Wilson, Annie D. Whitted, Daisy Mae Compton, Vivian Faribault, Marie Allison and Annie Wright were rated second in line of best citizenship in the school. This activity was carried on by the pupils in each class of the whole school.

During the campaign, waste baskets were made from crate baskets and placed all around the school grounds. New garbage cans were purchased and painted, then placed in the halls of the building. Several bicycle racks were made. The principle objectives of the clean up campaign is our hope that it will have some transfer value, to be carried from the school to our homes.
