County's Draft Unit,

Orange county's first contingent of draftees under the peacetime draft measure are expected to leave on October 11, it was announced at the draft board office

The exact number of men to be sent by the draft board has not been announced. Members of the board in session Monday afternoon said they had not been informed on the number.

"We are finding few men eligible to serve, however," it was pointed out. "Most of the men who registered are either students, married or are farmers." Those three categories make a man ineligible for service under the provisions of the draft measure.

It was pointed out by the board that a number of students in Chapel Hill failed to register and that provisions were being made for them to register on Thursday of this week.

To date a total of 2,001 men have registered.

Board members said that as soon as a youth reaches 18, he is required to register for the draft within five days.

Forest Fire Time At Hand, County Warden Cautions

The season for forest fires in this section of the state is just beginning, Orange County Forest Warden Wordie R. Fitzgerald reminded this week.

During the period October 1 through November 31, state law requires that burning permits must be obtained before any burning is done. These may be obtained from the forest warden or from permit stations over the county.

Mr. Fitzgerald urged farmers to employ extreme caution in any burning of fields or debris which is undertaken and asked that hunters and campers be especially careful that all campfires and cigchurches, and three members arette butts are extinguished comelected from the community at pletely before they leave the forest area.

MESSAGE FROM FORMER PUBLISHER

J. Roy Parker Lauds Local Support Of Newspapers In Letter From Bed

Editor's Note: The following letter from J. Roy Parker of Ahoskie, former publisher of this newspaper, is printed without alteration and in deep appreciation for his good will and sage counsel. Ahoskie, N. C., Sept. 25.

DEAR PUBLISHER HAMLIN:

The Laymans' league is com-

Give me enough white space in your paper to say these

1. My faith in the future growth and development of first-rate county-seat newspapers in Orange and Alamance is strengthened by the fact that The News of Orange County at Hillsboro and The Alamance News at Graham are now under the management of a home-grown and home-bred newspaperman. This is not said in derogation of those who have labored to bring the two papers out of the doldrums since the publishing company first took over a defunct and 2-weeks' suspended Chapel Hill News in early 1944 and transferred the office of publication to Hillsboro. It is my opinion that a county newspaper is more likely to succeed under ownership and management of those who are rooted to the soil of the community, county, or area the newspaper purports to serve. Job chasers and transients, not to mention absentee owners such as I have been for almost 2 years, don't ordinarily build solid hometown and county newspapers.

2. Despite my absenteeism and my inability to give even partial direction to the papers because of illness, I do have a warm spot in my heart for the many staunch friends and acquaintances I made in Orange and Alamance counties on the occasions when I was able to meet and mingle with the folks. They have loyally supported the two papers, and they are ready and eager to match their further support with all the efforts the management makes to improve and enlarge the papers.

3. I know of no other two counties in North Carolina where there is so great a need for top-ranking county newspapers. You and your associates have my best wishes in your efforts-over the long pull-to develop those two papers into the institutions they ought to be.

ROY PARKER.
