Christmas Season Opens With Parade; Decorations Go Up

Hillsboro.—Various activities marked the official opening of the Christmas shopping season in Hillsboro Tuesday.

Tuesday afternoon, a large crowd gathered in the downtown area for the Merchants Association-sponsored parade led by Santa Claus riding on a float prepared by the Jack and Jill Shop and the Richmond Motor Company. The parade also included a toyland float from Western Auto Associates, Inc., and the Hillsboro High School band, under the direction of James Rittenhouse.

In the evening the large Christmas tree on the courthouse lawn was lighted, to add the festive touch to the community.

Judging of the window displays took place at 7 p. m. Gordon's Store was awarded the $25 first prize. A second prize of $10 was given by the Hillsboro Sundry and Hardware, and a third prize of $5, went to Wynne's Beauty Salon. The Hillsboro Flower Shop was awarded honorable mention.

Well-Baby Clinic At Efland Set For Next Monday

Chapel Hill.—The District Health Department announces that the Efland well-baby clinic will be held Monday afternoon, December 6, at 2 o'clock in the Efland school.

All parents living in that section are encouraged to bring their babies. Immunizations will be given and Dr. Mendel Sheps, the attending pediatrician, will give necessary advice on the care of the baby, including proper diet and care for physical corrections.

Any information concerning the growth and development of the child, its habits, and even selecting its clothes, can be given by the nurses who will be present, or by Dr. Sheps.

During the present month and the months following, childhood diseases seemingly spread more rapidly than at other times; for that reason all mothers should attend the clinic to make certain that their child receives the protections that are given to ward off these diseases.

Unique Store Opens At Hill

Chapel Hill.—Milton's Clothing Cupboard, owned by Milton Julian, opened at its new location on West Franklin street on Monday. A deli-cateness table was set up in the store for visitors on the first two opening days. Julian opened his business the first of September in his home on East Franklin street, awaiting completion of the colonial-type building at 420 West Franklin.

Mrs. Julian designed the cupboards from which the clothing store gets its name, and C. E. Johnson built them of knotty pine. The walls of the store are also of knotty pine paneling. The unusual wood-carved sign hanging outside from a cedar post was made by Charles Valentine.

A special feature of the new store is the "photo-fitting" equipment, which photographs a customer against a measurement scale for correct tailoring.

Hillsboro Lions Again Sponsor T.B. Seal Sale

Hillsboro.—The Hillsboro Lions Club is sponsoring the annual sale of tuberculosis seals during the Christmas season.

The committee that served Orange County last year has been reappointed as follows: E. R. Dowdy, chairman; Clarence Jones, Ed Barnes, the Rev. Charles S. Hubbard. Also on the committee and in charge of the distribution of seals in the colored community are M. C. Burt and A. L. Stanback.

Seals will be distributed throughout the county in the near future. The committee plans to send approximately 1,000 appeal letters in Hillsboro and vicinity.

Chairman Dowdy stated, "Hillsboro sale is late getting started this year, but I hope and believe that the public will offset this by sending in their contributions promptly."

Last year the Hillsboro organization purchased to 11-mm. movie projectors and screens for use in the schools. Seal Sale funds were also used to augment the public health department's tuberculosis control program. "Education is the most effective weapon we have to fight tuberculosis," stated Mr. Dowdy. He pointed out that this belief is shared by public health authorities who assert that tuberculosis can be controlled and eventually eradicated by getting the pertinent facts about the disease across to the population as a whole. It is in the interest of the cause that the civic-minded citizens of the Hillsboro Tuberculosis Committee give freely of their time and energy."

Hillsboro.—The Board of County Commissioners, meeting next Monday in the first session of their new term, face a full schedule of inaugural day business, including the appointment of several officials whose terms expire.

The terms of County Court Judge L. J. Phipps and Prosecuting Attorney J. R. Farlow were set until the first Monday in December, 1948, or until their successors are chosen, at the time the court was established by legislative act in the last term of the General Assembly.

Judge Phipps is expected to be reappointed and Jerry Stone, young local attorney, is expected to receive appointment to the solicitorship, succeeding Farlow, who asked that he not be considered for reappointment. It is not believed there are any additional candidates for either post.

Ira Ward, county accountant and tax supervisor, also is slated for reappointment, it is believed, as his term also expires. The office of County Treasurer, held by Grover G. Bivins, will be abolished as result of the legislative act of the last session which transferred his duties to that of the county accountant.

Commissioners, themselves, must organize by election of a chairman from among the elected commissioners, Collier Cobb, the present chairman, H. G. Laws, and F. Wilson. They will receive the oath of office from Clerk of Court Edwin M. Lynch and they, in turn, according to information available, will swear in the township constables to take office at this time.

A flood of road improvement requests are expected by the next board at the first session. Bonds of county officers must be examined and approved and returns on fund collecting and disbursing officers are required.

A report from the fact-finding group named to look into all phases of the county program and make recommendations was expected by some county officers but apparently will be delayed by the failure of some sub-groups to complete their work. James Webb, state senator, is chairman of the full committee.

No hint as to their recommendations has yet been given but they are expected to cover a wide range of subjects from school construction to "what to do about the courthouse."
