Dairy Cattle Breeding Topic of 3 Meetings

Hillsboro.—Maury Gaston, in charge of field work for the Southern Artificial Breeding Association, and J. F. Brown, extension dairy specialist, will be in Orange County for three meetings in connection with the artificial breeding of dairy cattle. A motion picture will be shown and these men will discuss the good qualities of the proven bulls used in the artificial breeding program.

Orange County farmers have formed a local Artificial Breeding Association to which any owner of dairy cattle in this area is invited to join.

Two technicians have been employed—C. A. Gentry, with headquarters in Chapel Hill, and G. O. Reitzel, with headquarters in Hillsboro.

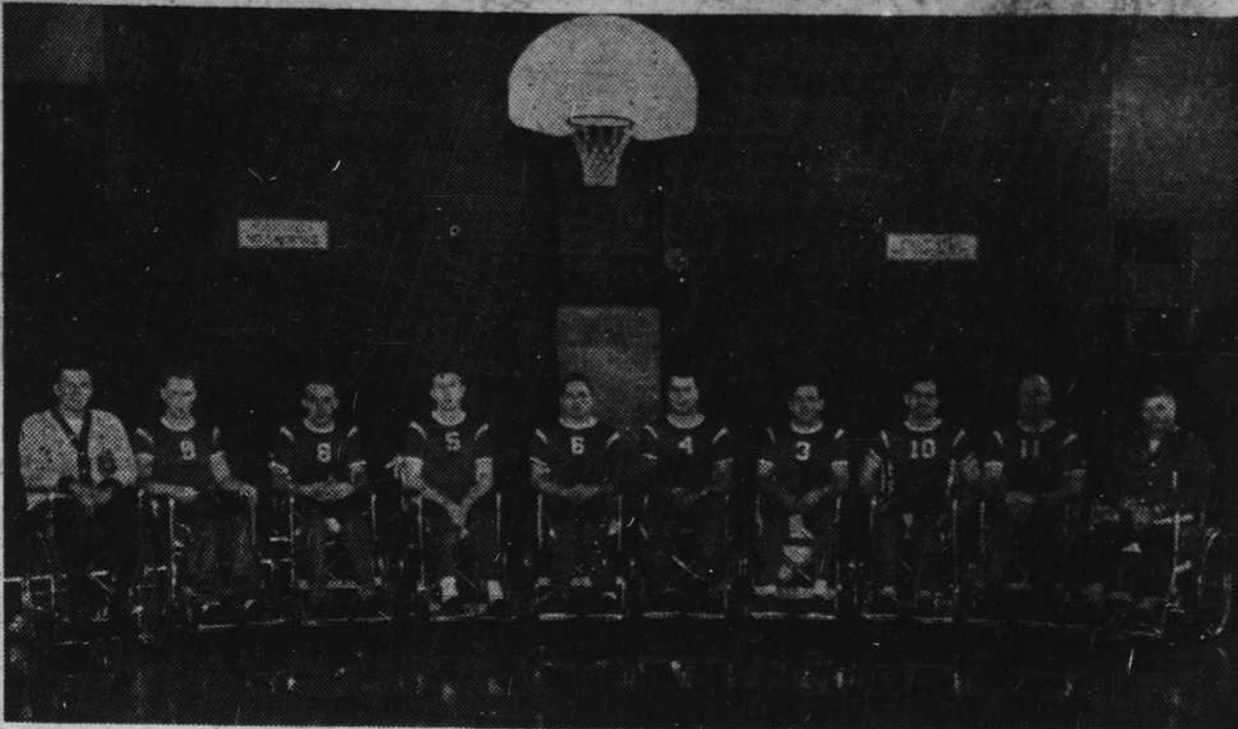

All interested persons are invited to attend these meetings which will be held at the following places: Hillsboro High School agricultural building, Tuesday night, March 8, 7:30.

White Cross Grange Hall, Wednesday night, March 9, 7:30.

Aycock agricultural building, Thursday night, March 10, 7:30.

WARREN SPEAKER
Hillsboro.—Dr. J. A. Warren of Chapel Hill will speak on "Wild Powers" when he addresses the Hillsboro Garden Club this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. M. B. Roberts.

Clowns Take To Wheel Chairs Tonight In Benefit Game At Woolfen Gym; Meet Hillsboro Exchange Team Monday

The McGuire General Hospital Chairtooters, composed of crippled war veterans, will meet the Carolina Clowns in a charity basketball game in Woolfen Gym in Chapel Hill Thursday night, March 3, at 8 o'clock. The Chairtooters, who have a perfect season to date, play the Clowns in wheelchairs under the auspices of the Chapel Hill Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The Clowns have never lost a ball game and have won 43 during the past two years. Charlie Justice, Art Weiner, Bobby Weant, Claude Crocker and a host of other footballers make up the Chapel Hill aggregation.

Packed House Expected When Clowns Appear

The Carolina Clowns, featuring all-American Charlie (Choo Choo) Justice, Art Weiner, Bob Cox, Bobby Weant and many other Carolina athletic stars, will come to Hillsboro Monday, March 7, to play the Exchange Club.

The Clowns, dressed in various foolish looking costumes, have played to packed houses throughout the state for the past three years without a defeat. The Clowns feature dancing by Bob Cox and balancing acts by three acrobats.

In a preliminary contest at 7:30, the Exchange Club girls team will play the Hillsboro High girls. Each of these teams holds a one-point victory over the other this season, and this game should attract much attention.

These events are sponsored by the Hillsboro Exchange Club.

Fire Destroys Lloyd Home

Carrboro.—Fire completely destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Lloyd last Sunday morning two miles west of the University Lake near Carrboro.

Only the electric stove and refrigerator were saved and a few articles of clothing. The home had only been built about a year, and was not covered by insurance. The fire was discovered in a closet about 6:30 Sunday morning and was thought to have been started by mice or rats.

NEW JET-PLANE

The Air Force has a new jet-powered research plane with a triangular wing—the first of its kind to fly. The plane, the Consolidated Vultee model 7002, designed for speeds in the high subsonic range at altitudes above 40,000 feet, has wings which sweep back and then form a straight line across the rear of the plane. The plane "is being used to explore and test the stability and control characteristics of the Delat wing."

Board Studying Zone Proposals

Chapel Hill.—The Town Planning Board today mulled over suggestions for revising the proposed new zoning code received at last night's public hearing before making final recommendations to the Board of Aldermen.

The meeting was held at the Town Hall.

Collie Cobb, Jr., chairman of the board, presided. The other members are John A. Parker, T. J. Demerath, L. V. Huggins, and L. J. Phipps.

The Planning Board has been at work on a new ordinance for almost a year, and frequent meetings have been held to consider proposed changes. The present ordinance was enacted more than 20 years ago, and Chapel Hill has grown so rapidly since then that the Board of Aldermen requested the Planning Board to consider new regulations.

Maps showing the present zones, and proposed changes were on display at the hearing.

A copy of the proposed ordinance can be seen at Town Hall. It was prepared by a sub-committee composed of Parker, Phipps, Mrs. Roland McClamroch, William M. Cochran, J. S. Bennett, Thomas D. Rose, and James Webb.

The committee was assisted by George Franklin, counsel and field representative of the North Carolina League of Municipalities, who has had long experience in preparing zoning measures. Franklin attended the hearing to present the ordinance and to explain any provisions.

SCHOOL IN MOVIES

Carrboro.—A very interesting movie, especially to the Carrboro school students, was shown at the Carrboro School last Friday afternoon. The movie, "A Couple of Guys Named Joe," was filmed during the school term last year, and several of the scenes were taken on the school grounds and included a number of students, who saw themselves on the screen in the picture last Friday.

Congregational Church Resumes Night Services

Chapel Hill.—Sunday night at 8 o'clock, the Rev. Bernard Mühler will conduct the first in a Lenten series of Sunday night worship services in the Congregational Christian Church, 211 West Cameron Avenue.

Sunday night services were discontinued last December, but inquiries and comments showing the interest of neighborhood and community citizens led the minister and members of the Congregational Christian Church to resume these evening services of worship.

Rev. Mr. Mühler, who has just returned to Chapel Hill after serving two weeks as an instructor in leadership training schools for Christian Church-School teachers in the Norfolk-Suffolk area of Virginia, has prepared for his congregational list of daily New Testament readings for the Lenten season. These readings give scriptural background and preparation for his Lenten sermons on the general theme: "The Teachings of Jesus." The subject of the first Sunday night sermon will be "What Has Christianity to Offer?" A cordial invitation is extended to all members of the community who desire to worship at the close of the Lord's day.

OPENS OFFICE

Chapel Hill.—Dr. D. M. Getsinger, formerly associated with Dr. Walter Clark of Asheville, has opened an office here in the Stroud Building for the general practice of dentistry. Dr. Getsinger is a native of Plymouth and took his pre-dental work at Mars Hill and at Wake Forest College. He graduated in dentistry at the Medical College of Virginia and he also served on the clinical staff of the School of Dentistry at the Medical College of Virginia.

Tuition Hike Significant Move In Chapel Hill Area

R. H. Claytor Paid Tribute By Lions Club

Hillsboro.—Members of the Hillsboro Lions Club at its regular meeting last week unanimously adopted a resolution paying tribute to the late Robert Hume Claytor, a former president of the local club, who died suddenly on February 16.

It read as follows: Whereas, we of the Hillsboro Lions Club, realizing our great loss in the passing of Robert Hume Claytor, do hereby resolve:

That we gratefully acknowledge his untiring efforts in behalf of the Lion's Club.

That we humbly acknowledge the influence and work which he so willingly gave us; even with all his many other duties he undertook the responsibility of being our president for one year, and his far-reaching vision was of inestimable value to our organization.

That we respectfully recognize and appreciate his community work in Orange County. Of his sixty-four years, we know one-half of them, thirty-two, to be exact, were spent in the work of the Orange County schools and for the betterment of the youth of Orange County. We cannot overlook the success of his efforts.

We further resolve that a copy of these resolutions be put in the local papers; a copy preserved in the minutes of the Lion's Club; and that a copy be sent to his family.

Lastly, we wish to extend to his family our sincere and deepest sympathy in their bereavement.

Hillsboro Lion's Club.

Women Voters League Speak To H. D. Clubs

Chapel Hill.—The Chapel Hill League of Women Voters, which was organized last year to promote better government, has completed a month's project of sending speakers to the home demonstration clubs throughout Orange County.

On February 1, Mrs. Donald Haymon spoke to the Carr-Aycock club; on February 2 Mrs. George Nicholson spoke to the Schley club, and Mrs. James Pessier spoke to the Stroud Hill club; on February 8 Mrs. Minna Abernathy addressed the White Cross club; February 9 Mrs. R. H. Hamilton addressed the Fairfield club; February 10 Mrs. John Gillin spoke to the Smith Level club; Mrs. W. O. Waite spoke to the Antioch Road club February 14; on February 17 Mrs. Ed Hiatt addressed the Mt. Carmel club, and Mrs. J. E. Adams spoke to the St. Mary's club; Mrs. Arthur Pink spoke to the New Hope club on February 22; on February 23 Mrs. Gillin spoke to the Elford and Gravelly Hill club; and on February 25 Mrs. Charlotte Adams addressed the Tram Road club.

The representatives from the Chapel Hill league led group discussions in these clubs on county officials, their tenure of office, duties, and extent of authority, and on the finances of Orange County. At each meeting the speaker distributed free copies of the handbook, "Your Local Government," prepared by the League of Women Voters last spring.

Pilgrim Holiness Church in New Building Sunday

Hillsboro.—The Pilgrim Holiness Church will hold services for the first time in its new church building Sunday at the 11 o'clock hour.

Rev. William S. Deal, district superintendent, will be the preacher, according to the announcement by Rev. J. F. Kernodle, pastor.

The new church has been under construction near the site of the old building since last August.

TOP HONORS

Hillsboro.—The Hillsboro Exchange Club team defeated Youngville, Pittsboro and Nashville and won top honors in the annual Goodfellows Tournament at Camp Butler last week.

State Welfare Head Laymen's League Speaker

Hillsboro.—Dr. Ellen Winston, Commissioner of Welfare of North Carolina, will be the speaker at the monthly Laymen's League meeting Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock in the High School Auditorium.

Dr. Winston's topic will be "The Church and Social Service." Special music will be rendered by the Glee Club of Hillsboro High School under the direction of Mrs. Miriam Kurbjun.

Sunday night's service is another in the regular series of such meetings sponsored by the interdenominational group for the entire community. As usual, a large audience is expected.

Hillsboro Mayor's Father Succumbs At Elon College

Elon College.—Funeral services for Charles David Johnston, 78, superintendent of the Christian Superintendence for 33 years and father of Mayor Ben Johnston of Hillsboro, were held yesterday morning at Whitley Memorial Auditorium here. Interment was in Magnolia Cemetery.

Dr. Leon Smith, president of Elon College, officiated with the assistance of Dr. J. H. Dollar, pastor of the Community Church.

Mr. Johnston died suddenly Sunday night from a heart attack. Survivors include his children, Mrs. E. N. Deaver of Burlington, Ben C. Johnston of Fayetteville, Mrs. Minnie Johnston of Smithfield, Mrs. E. J. Young of Kingsport, N. Y.; Dr. C. T. Johnston of Elizabeth City; Mrs. Harold Harold Barber of Madison, N. C.; Dr. James W. Johnston of Frankfort, Germany, with the Army; and Robert E. Johnston of Charlotte, and one brother, Andrew N. Johnston of R. F. D., Burlington.

The health department will continue to give all other vaccines, and especially urged that people take typhoid vaccine now and not delay it until the vacation season.

Chapel Hill.—In a move of widespread significance to the Chapel Hill community and its environs, the trustees of the Greater University this week approved tuition increases "as an emergency measure."

The vote was 58-15 in favor of the higher rates, recommended by the Advisory Budget Commission and preceded by hot debate not indicated by the vote itself.

Rep. John W. Umstead opposed the increase and predicted that "thousands of boys and girls in the future will look the increase in the face and be discouraged." He indicated that he believed that money could be found to avoid raising the tuition. Umstead is chairman of the Lower House's committee on University Trustees.

From the standpoint of the University community, the matter of tuition fees is closely allied with business expansion in that enrollment curtailments may result.

The trustees' action sets a tuition rate of $150 at each of the three institutions, effective with the next scholastic year. Students from out of the State will be required to pay $210 more than the in-State rate.

At present, Woman's College charges $50, Carolina charges $81 and State charges $90, for students from North Carolina. Out-of-State students pay about the same differential as will exist when the new rates go into effect.

The board adopted the new rate schedule after being informed it was necessary to secure about $1,300,000 additional during the next biennium to give faculties of the three schools increases in salaries proposed in the 1949-51 budget.

In other actions affecting the community, the Governor named a committee of the board to study the question of whether the University should dispose of its utilities plant to the town of Chapel Hill or to private interests and released the University's interest in a cemetery fund at Chapel Hill.

Health Office Not To Vaccinate For Spotted Fever

Chapel Hill.—Dr. O. David Garvin, district health officer, reports that Rocky Mountain spotted fever vaccine will not be available this spring or summer through the District Health Department, because the United States Health Service laboratory in Hamilton, Montana, cannot afford free vaccine to the department.

The department is not in a position to purchase the vaccine for distribution nor can they afford for its administration. Private physicians will administer the vaccine when in their opinion it is thought advisable.

The health department will continue to give all other vaccines, and especially urged that people take typhoid vaccine now and not delay it until the vacation season.
