On Railway Freight, Express And Telegraph

Hillsboro Loses Weekend Service

Hillsboro—Hillsboro will be without railroad freight, express or telegraph service on Saturdays and Sundays after this weekend railroad officials advised here this week.

The three-man staff of the Southern Railroad station here will be on a five-day week, brought about by the railroad's recent agreement with the labor union. In accordance therewith, the station, including the Western Union office, will be closed for the week each Friday afternoon.

Pointing to the coming establishment of a 5-day-40-hour week by the nation's railroads on September 1, the Southern Railway System asked for the "cooperation and sympathetic understanding" of the public and pledged itself to make the changeover with the least possible inconvenience to its patrons.

The announcement said that the railroads "necessarily agreed with the non-operating railway labor unions to establish the shorter work week to carry out the findings of an Emergency Board appointed by President Truman under the National Railway Labor Act."

"This will require the closing on Saturdays and Sundays of many freight stations and offices heretofore open to the public—on the Southern as well as on all other railroads throughout the country—so that employees generally may be given two consecutive days off each week. Under the settlement, the employees will receive for five days' work the equivalent of wages formerly paid for six days' work."

"As President Truman's Emergency Board pointed out, the shorter work week is in keeping with the increasing trend in industry, banking and business generally, but for the railroad industry, which must keep the trains running day and night every day in the week, it will create many difficult problems. The Southern, with your whole-hearted co-operation and sympathetic understanding, pledges to make the changeover with the least possible inconvenience to the public."

More Than 500 Persons Expected to Attend Meet

Costly Battery Charge

Chapel Hill—The cheapest way to charge a run-down battery is not to speed through a 25 mile per hour zone at the rate of 75 miles an hour.

Such, in effect, was the advice given William A. Staley of Hillsboro by Judge John T. Manning in Chapel Hill's Recorders Court this week.

Judge Manning fined him $15 and costs for speeding. Staley had told arresting officers that his battery was run down and that he was trying to build it up. Local garage men list the cost of recharging a battery at $1.

Three More Bond Meetings Planned For Next Week

Hillsboro—Three more meetings to sound out local opinion on proposed bond issues for school building construction and a county office building are scheduled for next week by the county commissioners and school officials.

They will be held Wednesday night at Scheley Grange Hall for the Schley-Caldwell section, next Thursday night at the Carboro school auditorium and next Friday night, September 2, at the Efland School auditorium. Refreshments will be served at the Schley meeting, it was said.

These meetings follow three previous meetings held in different sections of the county.

In commenting upon the idea of issuing bonds, county officials point out that the county fiscal condition at the present time is very favorable for an issue of at least a million and a quarter dollars. The state's statute of limitation on local government debt is 10 percent of which five may be for schools and five for other purposes. With an assessment of 30 million expected for the next year, Orange County's limitation would be in the neighborhood of $3,000,000. Our present indebtedness, $237,000, some of which will be retired this year, plus a million and a quarter, should it be authorized, would only lift the county's debt to 50 percent of the limitation state law allows.

Deputies Raid Charlie Long;

Hillsboro—Bootleggers and some of their customers fared rather badly here last weekend.

Sheriff's Deputies raided Charlie Long's place Saturday night, found 11 pints and charged him with possession for the purpose of sale. He gave $100 bond and trial was set for September 5.

Herman Craven, West Hillsboro, was arrested and charged with illegal possession and transporting and Ike Pugh was charged with illegal possession when he was found with whiskey.

Naval Reservists Back From Cruise

Hillsboro—Lt. (jg) USNR Elmer R. Dowdy and Wordie R. Fitzgerald, M. M. 2-C USNR, have returned to their homes here after a two-weeks training cruise aboard the Navy Destroyer USS Ludlow.

The destroyer left Pensacola, Fla., on August 3 and returned August 20. During the cruise, training under simulated battle conditions, gunnery practice and war-time tactics were stressed. Liberty ports for the local men were Vera Cruz, Mexico, and New Orleans, La.

The Wildcats still competing in Class A District 3 conference race have a very rough schedule to dispose of. The schedule is as follows:

Chapel Hill—Between 500 and 600 Kiwanians will gather in Chapel Hill Sunday for the 29th annual Carolinas District Convention of the Kiwanis International.

Convention highlights for the delegates and their families, who will represent more than 95 clubs embracing a membership of 7,000 business and professional men, in the two Carolinas, include three major addresses, a memorial service, several business sessions, and various special events and social activities.

Local Kiwanian President Charles Milner of the University Extension Department has announced that registration for the three-day convention will begin Sunday at the Naval Armory.

A Sunday dinner meeting of the Board of Trustees at the Carolina Inn will be followed by a religious service in Hill Music Hall with Dr. Frank S. Wickman, Dean of the Duke University Chapel, as speaker.

Special music for the services will be provided by Miss Catherine Bunn of Henderson and New York City and Norman Gordon, Director of the North Carolina Music Foundation.

District Governor Spurgeon Boyce of Durham will officially open the convention in Gerrard Hall Monday morning. Welcoming addresses will be extended by Mayor Edwin S. Lanier for the Town of Chapel Hill and by J. Marvon Saunders, past District Governor for the University of North Carolina. U. N. C. Chancellor Robert B. House will then deliver an address.

The official representative of Kiwanis International, John R. Wright of Lakeland, Fla., who serves on the International Board of Trustees, will speak before a fellowship luncheon on Monday.

Official delegates from the local club are Milner, T. A. Rosemond, and John B. Riggsbee. Milner stated that every Kiwanian in Chapel Hill has registered for the convention and each has been named to some committee.

Arrangements for the three-day program are being directed by general-convention chairman Russell M. Groman with the aid of Milner, Boyce, District Secretary Herb Hennig of Darlington, S. C., and J. L. Morehead of Durham.

A complimentary movie at the Carolina Theatre on Monday morning, and a luncheon at the Carolina Inn, and motor tours of the University and the Town have been scheduled to provide entertainment for the ladies.

Superior Court Term Next Week

Manning Charges Muirhead Project Will Gain $97,500 By Rate Policy

Chapel Hill—In an open letter to Mayor Edwin S. Lanier, Judge John T. Manning has charged that William Muirhead will make $97,500 over a period of 33 years if Muirhead's proposal for sewerage service to the new Raleigh Road apartment project is approved.

Manning declares that the Durham contractor under proposed arrangements will not be required to abide by the sewer construction and maintenance policy recently established by the Board of Aldermen.

The judge listed the following requirements which he said other suburbanites must comply with when connecting on to the Town's disposal lines:

- (a) Pay a connection fee of $25 for each family unit.
- (b) Pay a service fee for each family unit of two and one-half times the service fee charged inside town.
- (c) Install and maintain a line from the place served to the city line.

According to Manning, Muirhead will NOT:

- (a) Pay the $25 per unit connection fee—a total of $7,500.
- (b) Pay $9 per unit additional amount required by the policy of the Board or $2,700 per year for thirty-three years, or $90,200.

Judge Manning further stated that "Chapel Hill residents by loss of revenues have invested in the project about $100,000 any way you figure it and will lose not less than $13,462 cost in the capacity of the new plant. There are areas in town with no city sewer reasonably available even at the cost of lines from houses in town to the sewer lines in the streets, much less outsiders."

He asked, "If the Muirhead proposal is not discriminatory, please advise wherein it is not?"

Manning agreed that the expansion of the University necessitates additional housing, but he asked Lanier to explain why this housing should be provided by Chapel Hill residents and others by a discriminatory rate in favor of private enterprise to enable either, (a) Muirhead to make more profits, or (b) the tenants to get cheaper rents.

In conclusion Judge Manning asked the Mayor:

"Are you and your Board willing to say that Chapel Hill will furnish sewer service to anyone inside or outside the Town at the same rate and pay all the costs of installing connecting lines? If Chapel Hill, as a governmental unit needs the housing, can't it legitimately and in fairness to all provide it and make the profit? If it cannot legitimately and fairly provide it, why should the governing body be a part in a scheme which does otherwise?"

WOMBLE REUNION

The Joel Graham and Louisa and Womble family reunion will be held Sunday, September 4, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cole in the Smith Level community three miles southwest of Chapel Hill. All members of the family are urged to be present.

Drinking Cost Goes Up

Chapel Hill.—In the short period of two weeks the cost of drinking has risen 250 per cent in Chapel Hill.

At least for Walter Johnson it did. When he was hauled into Recorders Court on the charge of public drunkenness on August 9, Johnson had to pay a fine of $10 and the costs of court.

This Tuesday he was back again for the same offense, only this time the fine was $25 plus costs—a 250 per cent increase.

Long Suffering Hubby Shoots Man In Leg

Hillsboro—Duff Carr, who has been going with Joe Pugh's wife, Ella, for a long time and even served time on the roads for it, finally got it Friday night—in the leg from Pugh's 22 rifle.

Pugh found Carr with his wife in the section beyond Fairview and let go a few bursts from the 22. One shot below the knee broke Carr's leg and Ella said she would have been hit too if she hadn't dodged.

Both Carr and Mrs. Pugh have been convicted several times for using rooms for immoral purposes, disorderliness and fighting and officers said they thought Pugh finally got tired of being "run away from home" by Carr. When found by officers following the shooting, Carr was drinking a can of beer, sitting with his injured leg in a ditch by the side of the road.

BRUNSWICK SUPPER

The Women's Society of New Sharon Church will sponsor a Brunswick supper at St. Mary's school house on Saturday, August 27, beginning at 5 p. m. The menu will include Brunswick and chicken stew; home-made cakes, pies, and ice cream; soft drinks, coffee, and tea. The public is cordially invited.

Exodus Of Summer Students Nears

Final exams for the second term of summer school are scheduled to start Thursday morning and end Saturday. The vast majority of the 3400 summer students and many of the faculty members are expected to leave "The Hill" by plane, train, bus, or car with as little delay as possible, following the end of a generally hot and sticky session.

Name Calling Leads To Blows, Fine In Court

Chapel Hill.—Henry Atwater declared in Chapel Hill's Recorders Court Tuesday that his wife, Jennie, woke up calling him a dirty name last Friday morning.

Atwater was trying to show cause for striking his mate on the back—a blow which he testified, under cross examination by Prosecuting Attorney Hinshaw, was in reality a "love lick."

According to Jennie, it was Henry who was doing the name calling. She stated that when she protested against his abuse of their children, he struck her.

When she first took the witness stand, Jennie disowned any relationship to Henry. In answer to Prosecuting Attorney Hinshaw's question: "Are you any kin to the defendant?" Jennie answered "No." Under coaching, however, she later agreed that Atwater is her husband. He was fined $10 and costs and was ordered to pay a $4.40 balance on a fine levied against him in March, 1940.
