Registrars Open Books On Saturday

Registration books in 16 Orange County voting precincts will be opened Saturday for the pre-election registration in connection with the Bond Election for school and courthouse construction, scheduled for November 22. Announcement of the election was made last week by the Board of Elections and the County Board of Commissioners. Registrars will be on duty at the polling places this and the two following Saturdays and persons desiring to register may do so at any time during the period that the books are open by contacting the registrar and making the necessary arrangements. The campaign in behalf of the passage of the two issues led by the steering committee named by the Commissioners has been conducted thus far with the appearance of speakers and committee workers at civic and parent-teacher groups. There is no organized opposition to the issues, as far as can be ascertained. Most active plans for getting out the vote have been set up in Chapel Hill where Harold Weaver is serving as head of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro-White Cross-PTA. Weaver said that plans are nearing completion for telephone and car teams which will make themselves available to anyone who may find it inconvenient either to the polls on election day.

Counterfeit Bills Found In Hillsboro

Hillsboro—The circulation of counterfeit $20 bills, recently reported in several nearby towns, has extended to Hillsboro. Two of the spurious bills have been caught by Hillsboro Dry Cleaners in deposits made at the Fidelity Bank in Durham. B. E. Beck, manager, said the firm new who passed one of the bills did not know when or from whom the other was obtained. Officials of the Fidelity Bank were quoted as saying they had a total of four of the counterfeit $20 bills in deposits made from Hillsboro. No other firms have reported catching any of the bills and the local branch of Durham Bank and Trust Company indicated also none had been picked up there. The United States Secret Service earnings issued to law enforcement officials gave the following description of the bills: "$20 Federal Reserve Notes identified by the number of the adjacent capital letters appearing in the Bank Seal to left of the portrait: New York 'B,' Chicago 'G,' St. Louis 'H,' Minneapolis 'I,' Dallas 'K' or San Francisco 'L,' bearing the following check letters and face plate number in lower right corner on back of note: C43, C107, F11, J16, K00, or K51; bearing the following check plate numbers in lower right corner on the reverse side of the note, '48,' '48,' '88,' '92' or '592.' On some of the notes colored fibers have been simulated by adding fine ink lines and on some a very light brown coloring has been added to simulate age."

Carrboro Civic Club To Hear Mrs. Homewood

Carrboro—Mrs. Roy M. Homewood of Chapel Hill, District Director of the Eighth District of Garden Clubs in North Carolina will be the speaker at the regular October meeting of the Carrboro Civic Club tomorrow at 3 o'clock. The meeting will be held in the club's building near the Carrboro school, and all interested persons are given a cordial invitation to be present at this meeting. An enthusiastic meeting of the executives of the Civic Club was held on Monday afternoon of this week at the home of the club president, Mrs. W. E. Williams, and members are looking forward to the visit of Mrs. Homewood who will bring interesting and helpful information concerning garden club activities in North Carolina.

New Education Building Aided To Historic Structure

At left, a recent picture of Hillsboro Presbyterian church showing the new education building constructed to the rear of the old structure, long one of the show-places visited by tourists because of the age and beauty of the old church and historic graves which lie in the old church yard.

Presbyterians Will Dedicate New Building Here Sunday

Hillsboro—The historic Hillsboro Presbyterian church, organized in 1816, will observe another milestone Sunday afternoon in the dedication of its new education building at a special service. The Rev. Dr. S. Wilds DuBose, a former pastor and now professor of Bible at Davis and Elkins College, Elkins, West Virginia, will be the principal speaker on this important day in the life of the local church. The new educational building was begun on May 10, 1948, after nearly half of the estimated cost of construction had been raised, and seven months later the building was used for the first time by the Church School. Now being completely paid for and equipped to meet the present needs of the school, it will be formally dedicated.

Building Committee, will present the keys to the building to Deacon Deacon Edwin M. Lynch, who will represent the officers and congregation of the church. Lynch, in turn, will present the keys to the pastor, who will represent the Presbyterian Church in the United States in receiving the property. Johnston was ably assisted by Harold F. Latta Sr., and D. Glenn Auman in the work of directing the building program while Lynch served as treasurer of the Building Fund. Dr. T. Henry Patterson, Executive Secretary of Orange Presbytery, will lead the prayer of dedication, and the Rev. Irving E. Birdseye, the pastor, will moderate the service. The Chancel Choir under the direction of Mrs. C. D. Jones will sing "Sanctus" by Gounod with Dr. Vurman McLarty of Durham, N. C., as soloist. Seth Lippard, baritone and student of music at Wake Forest College, will sing "The Holy City."

Blockaders Faring Hard In Orange

Hillsboro—Whiskey blockaders have not fared easy in Orange County during the past two weeks, three outfits have been found and destroyed by Sheriff S. T. Latta and deputies, with the assistance of Investigator J. R. Brandon of the Alcoholic Tax Unit office in Durham. None of the stills were owned by Orange County people. On October 13, a 75-gallon fully equipped still was found on the branch back of John Watkin's tobacco barn in Eno township. Approximately 2,000 gallons of mash were destroyed along with 85 gallons of whiskey. Nobody was at the scene and no charges preferred. On the following day, a 450-gallon submarine type still was cut up on the Old White Place north of Mebane and 9 boxes of mash, totalling approximately 2700 gallons, were destroyed. Arrested here were George L. Boyd, 33, white man, of Rocky Mount, Va., George Calvin Wade, 57, Negro, of Union Ridge in Alamance County, and Walter Cooper, 42, Negro, of Mebane Route 3. Indicted in Federal Court, the trio were given a hearing in Durham and bound over to next term under a bond of $1,000 for Boyd and $500 each for the other two. On October 21, another outfit near the Old White Place north of Mebane was destroyed along with 900 gallons of beer. It was not in operation at the time and no arrests were made.

Orange County Hog Breeders Win Eight First Places, Five Seconds At State Fair

Hillsboro—Ogedanka's Joy, a gilt farrowed in February of this year and owned by J. Ed Latta, of Route No. 1, Hillsboro, won a blue ribbon in the junior gilt class at the State Fair, was also declared the State Fair, was also declared the junior champion sow by winning out over the senior sow pig, and in later competition, won over the junior yearling sow and senior champion sow, thus becoming the Grand Champion sow of this breed at the fair this year. This young gilt was out of a registry of merit litter, farrowed by Jean of Berryhill's and was sired by Style Prince, the outstanding herd boar owned by Latta. A junior boar, Ogedanka's Challenger, also owned by Latta was declared the junior champion boar by the judge. This young animal was purchased in the summer by Latta from T. B. McClenny of Wakefield, Va. McClenny recently stated that a full brother to

Chapel Hill Township Young Democrats To Organize Tonight; Gardner Speaker

Chapel Hill—O. Max Gardner, Jr., son of the late governor and ambassador to Great Britain, will be the guest speaker at an organizational meeting of the Chapel Hill Township Young Democrats Club tonight at 7:30 in the courtroom of the Town Hall. Gardner was given much credit for the election of Terry Sanford to the presidency of the state YDC at New Bern last September, and is president of the University chapter here. He was president of the student body at N. C. State in Raleigh before he entered the University Law School here where he will get his degree in June. Although still a student, he is a member of the Greater University Board of Trustees and is on the special committee to pick a successor to Senator Graham as president of the University. The meeting will be the first in an attempt to organize a Young Democrats Club in Chapel Hill which will operate separately from the student organization at the University. Spokesmen for the organizing group have invited a number of persons in the area to attend the meeting, but they stressed that any man or woman interested in joining the club are asked to attend. Gardner will speak to the group on the aims of the YDC and what a club in Chapel Hill would be able to do.

Water Decision

Hillsboro—Final decision of the controversial water rate question will be made by the Hillsboro Board of Commissioners at their meeting next Tuesday night.

Hillsboro and Chapel Hill In Grid Scrap Tomorrow

Umstead Says He'll Be Candidate Again

Chapel Hill—Orange County representative to the state legislature, John W. Umstead, Jr. said Tuesday night that he would run again in the May primary "because I cannot stand to see Orange County represented by any man who does not believe in serving the people." Umstead made the remark during a talk he made before students and faculty of the University at a meeting of the Students for Democratic Action. The subject of his talk was an analysis of the part played by Governor Scott, Senator Graham, and National Committeeman Jonathan Daniels in the control of the state's government. Umstead said that he did not believe that Scott was building a "machine" as he couldn't be building one "when he has been doing and saying the things he has since he became governor." He said that he thought Graham would win against anyone in the campaign for the U. S. Senate if the campaign was not fought on issues of race and labor vs. Capital. Umstead said he would not have anything to do with such a campaign, if one should develop. The Representative from Orange said that he would vote for Graham with some "reservations," then went on to say that he had heard that "Brother Bill" would run against Graham, but he did not know anything about that. "Brother Bill" is William B. Umstead of Durham, former member of Congress who filled the vacancy in the Senate brought on by the death of Josiah Bailey, and who lost in a close race to Melville Broughton, the man whom Graham succeeded. There has been talk that Umstead would oppose Graham for the balance of Broughton's unexpired term in the Senate in the May Primary. In regards to Daniels, Umstead said that he thought the National Committeeman would not be re-elected at the end of his term in 1952 when a committeeman would be chosen by the delegates to the National Democratic Convention. He felt that the importance of Daniels in the present regime was "pure and simply an accident" and that, of the three men, Daniels was weakest in regards to influence with the people of North Carolina.

Hospital Open-House Attracts Estimated 2,000 Folks From Area

Hillsboro—In an auspicious opening day "open house," some 2,000 Orange County folks and visitors from neighboring counties trooped through the new Forrest Clinic last Sunday afternoon for a first-hand view of the county's first private hospital. From all reports they were impressed by the efficiency and beauty of the facilities and Dr. D. E. Forrest, the founder, who personally greeted and shook hands with almost every visitor, expressed gratification over the tremendous interest in the hospital shown by the people of the area. By Monday morning patients were converging on the clinic and by yesterday two babies had been born there, a boy to Mr. and Mrs. William Filyaw of West Hillsboro, and a boy also to Hubert and Cora Belle Walton of Hillsboro, colored.

125 Attend District Garden Club Meeting

Hillsboro—Some 125 visitors, including all of the State Officers of the Garden Club of North Carolina, attended a meeting of the Eighth District of the Garden Club here yesterday. The morning session was devoted to business meetings and the presentation of reports, under the direction of Mrs. Roy M. Homewood of Chapel Hill, district leader. A tour of several places of historical interest, the William Hooper House, the Regulator's Graves and the Presbyterian church and churchyard, and an address by Alden Hopkins of Williamsburg, Va. on "Garden Restoration" were features of the afternoon meeting following a luncheon at Colonial Inn. Mrs. M. B. Roberts gave the invocation, Mrs. Garland Miller extended welcome to the visitors and Mrs. Allen Tyree of Durham responded. Mrs. J. W. Richmond was in charge of registration and Mrs. H. W. Moore was luncheon chairman. Mrs. James M. Tyler, state president, presented state officers and reported on the National progress.

Sister Of Local Residents Dies

Information was received here yesterday of the death early yesterday morning of the death of Mrs. Oscar Williams, 62, of Raleigh, a native of Orange County, who has been seriously ill for some time. Mrs. Williams is the sister of Miss Hattie Brown, Mrs. Clyde Ray and J. L. Brown, Sr. of Hillsboro and E. A. Brown of Chapel Hill. Another brother, Charles Brown, resides in Springtown, Texas. Other survivors include her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Volene Brooks, and two grandchildren, of Raleigh. Funeral arrangements had not been completed late yesterday morning.

Radio Station's Chapel Hill Staff Is Primarily Snooks Family Affair

Chapel Hill—Harry E. Snook, a University student, has taken over as studio announcer at the Chapel Hill studio of radio station WDUK, Mrs. Charlotte Creighton, studio manager, announced this week. Snook, who replaces another student, Mark Barker, was formerly connected with stations WAYS and WBT in Charlotte. He was production manager at WBT. A recent addition to the schedule of programs originating in the Chapel Hill studio in the Strowd Motor Company building is a women's program, "Talk About Town." This program, which is sponsored by Chapel Hill and Carrboro merchants, reports on women's activities in the two towns. Mrs. Snook, or Patricia Lee, as she is known to her listening

Scholastic Tussle Pits County Rivals

Orange County's scholastic grid-iron classic of the year, the traditional Hillsboro - Chapel Hill football scrap, takes the spotlight in Chapel Hill tomorrow afternoon. Kickoff will be 2:30 o'clock. Annually a battle royal between the county's only high school rivals, the game will attract several thousand supporters from the two communities. Undefeated during the past two years under the coaching regime of Bill Grice, the Chapel Hill team feigns a slight favorite, by virtue of the season's record. Tied by Sanford and Oxford, two Class A conference powers, Chapel Hill has beaten Methodist Orphanage, Graham and Siler City, the latter last week by the score of 32-6. Hillsboro, on the other hand, has lost twice to Roxboro and the strong Durham High Bulldogs of the AA Conference. Victories have been at the expense of Dunn, Durham County and Siler City and the game with Asheboro ended in a 6-6 deadlock. Coach Glenn Auman's charges at Hillsboro present a hard running attack led by Harry Brown and have shown their versatility with a better than average passing attack. Feno McGinty, Jim Smith and Ed Mann are star performers for Chapel Hill. The Chapel Hill team will be wearing new uniforms of black and gold just presented to them by the Chapel Hill Jaycees. Bands from both schools are expected to be on hand to lend additional color.

Farm Family Program Set For November 2

Hillsboro—The annual Farm Family Program will be held Wednesday night, November 2nd, in the Hillsboro High School Auditorium. Summary of this year's activities will be given by Home Demonstration, Farm, and 4-H organizations. Awards will be made to the county winners in 4-H projects. 29 reading certificates and 7 advanced certificates will be awarded Home Demonstration Club members. On the preceding day, Tuesday, November 1st, exhibits will be arranged by 14 Home Demonstration Clubs in the gymnasium of the High School. The public is cordially invited to visit the exhibits Tuesday afternoon or any time during the following. These exhibits show different phases of farm and community life, and, in most instances, are illustrative of projects that have been given special attention in the community. There will be table in the gym during these two days arrayed with flowers and shrub cuttings, aprons, pot holders, tea towels, vegetables, canned goods, etc. that will be for sale.

Final Services Held Tuesday For J. H. Corn, 68

Hillsboro—Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Gospel Tabernacle Baptist church, for J. H. Corn, 68, of Hillsboro, Route 2, who died Monday morning following an illness of some time. Officiating ministers were the Rev. S. E. Elmore, the Rev. J. R. Frederick and the Rev. Mr. Edson. Interment was in the church cemetery. Mr. Corn had been a resident of Orange County for 25 years. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Ida Turner Corn; three sons, Forrest Corn of the home, and Leonard and Haskel Corn, both of Durham, four sisters, Mrs. Mary Pack, Mrs. Martha Crum, Mrs. Dora Crum, and Miss Flora Crum, all of Tennessee; five brothers, Frank Corn of Texas, Claving and Jesse Corn, both of Rock Hill, S. C. and Arthur and Howard Corn, both of Tennessee; and three grandchildren.
