Commissioners Refuse to Intervene In Protest of Chapel Hill Boulevard

Hillsboro — The Board of County Commissioners Monday refused to intervene in connection with the proposed route of the new super-highway between Durham and Chapel Hill.

Protest against the proposed location of the road was lodged with the Commissioners by Attorney Victor Bryant of Durham in behalf of C. M. Hunt, who claimed the new boulevard would require demolition of his home.

In the letter of protest, the complainant said the road would run through the middle of his property of 20.64 acres. He said: "This would destroy my home. The house, which I have built at considerable expense is located at a high point on the property and I do not think it can be satisfactorily moved to any other location. The road would require demolition of the house."

Hunt said he thought there could be other locations for the road and requested that he be accorded a hearing after notice.

A map of the proposed highway has been posted at the courthouse door since March 6. A period of one month was set by the Highway Commission for protests to be filed by the county's governing body if it deemed any feasible. In other actions the board paid Dr. J. W. Beard $50 for the loss of 10 sheep and Currie T. Johnson $29.50 for the loss of 59 chickens killed by stray dogs.

A report of the tax collection for the period up to March 31 showed that 80 per cent of the '49 levy had been collected, $226,169. Levy had been collected, $226,169-91.

CORRECTION

Hillsboro — The School Board this week revealed its meeting with the school committees named to effect a solution to the Aycock Hillsboro boundary problem would be held at 7:30 o'clock on April 17 in the Court-house.

Last week, The News erroneously announced that the time for this meeting was 2:30 in the afternoon.

Courthouse Plans Shape Up As Architect Signed

Five School Committeemen Reappointed; State Approves Negro School Program

Hillsboro — Five school district committeemen whose terms expired were reappointed Monday by the County School Board, holding its regular monthly meeting.

The new appointments were for three year terms.

They were: Mrs. Beth Roberts, Hillsboro; Joe Howard, Efland; Robert Earl Hughes, Aycock, Jeter C. Lloyd, Carrboro-White Cross; and Henry Miller, Caldwell.

Meanwhile, the Board heard reports from Superintendent Glenn Proffitt and Chairman Kemp Cate that the first hurdle in the county school consolidation and improvement program had been cleared.

Friday, Proffitt and Cate, along with C. W. Davis, superintendent, and S. T. Emory, School Board Chairman, at Chapel Hill, appeared before the Review Panel of the State Board of Education and presented plans for the county's building program. The plans for Negro schools, which include a new building at Chapel Hill and a new school in the Cedar Grove area, to consolidate 16 one-and-two teacher units now operating were approved completely. Some changes were required in plans for the White schools to be built. When these are approved by the State organization, the county will be eligible for its share of the $50,000,000 appropriation for school construction made by the last legislature.

Following this approval, the construction program, which was supplemented by approval of a million dollar bond issue in this county, will proceed as rapidly as possible.

85 Per Cent Orange Tobacco Plants Are Up

Reports from some twenty County Agents and farmers from counties in this area indicate that:

1. All beds have been seeded.
2. The percentage of plants up range from 10 per cent in Campbell County, Virginia, to 85 per cent in Orange County, North Carolina, Henry and Pittsylvania Counties in Virginia.
3. All counties report that plants are in good condition. Most plants are still small. Very few farmers have started to use Ferrimate.

There has been no report of any blue mold. However, in Person County, North Carolina, and Pittsylvania County, Virginia, reports indicate that some farmers are complaining of mildew fly larvae. According to reports to this office, this larvae, or long transparent worms work under ground and kill plants.

Stone to Speak Over Network For Graham

Hillsboro—Jerry Stone, young Hillsboro attorney and solicitor of the County Records Court will speak tonight at 8:30 over the radio stations of the Tobacco Network in behalf of the senatorial candidacy of Frank P. Graham.

In a speech prepared for delivery at that time, Stone called for a return of the Orange resident to the United States Senate.

He pointed the former University president as a man "who loves his fellow man," a pioneer in the direction of right, and a man of courage in carrying out Democratic principals. Pointing to Graham's record in the Senate, which has neither been "radical or reactionary," Stone said he was a man of "independent judgment and exceptional statesmanship."

Clean-Up Campaign Underway Here

Hillsboro—Mrs. Garland Miller and Mrs. Owen Robertson, of the clean-up committee of the Hillsboro Garden Club urge all citizens of the town to participate in the April clean-up campaign in order to present Hillsboro at its best for the Garden Pilgrimage, on April 29 and 30.

Hillsboro — Plans for construction of the new Orange County courthouse with the $250,000 approved for that purpose in a bond issue election held last Fall moved forward Monday with the approval by the County Commissioners of a contract with Archie Royal Davis, Chapel Hill architect, for architectural services in connection with the new building.

Davis presented preliminary plans for the new building earlier last month. Monday, heads of various county departments met with Davis and the commissioners to present their requests for space allocations and give their ideas of needs for their departments.

While no final decisions have been made, it seems likely that the Health and Welfare departments will be given space on the ground floor of the new building with entrances on the sides inasmuch as many visitors to these departments would be unable to climb stairs to upper floors. The main floor of the building, fronting on Margaret Lane, will house the Clerk of Court, Register of Deeds, Sheriff, Tax Office and the courtroom.

Davis' contract called for an overall fee of 5 per cent of the construction costs.

The Commissioners declined to approve a Board of Education resolution calling for the purchase of the former Latta Cooperative Dairy building for office space for the County Schools System. Board members indicated their belief that purchase of the building was not in the best interest of the County in view of the architect's estimate of costs required to make the building suitable for office space.

Negro Health Clubs Pushing Adult Exams

Chapel Hill — Each year the Negro Health Clubs in Orange County conduct one of their community activities during the week of Dr. Booker T. Washington's birthday which is observed as National Negro Health Week. In observance of the occasion this year the health organizations are promoting drives to get all adults to have physical examinations.

Several physicians, ministers, members of the health department staff, and interested citizens are cooperating with sponsoring organizations in Hillsboro, Chapel Hill, and Efland in this endeavor. The project began April 2nd and will end April 16th.

During the two week period club members are contacting adults in their respective neighborhoods urging them to have check-ups and explaining the necessity of such action. As an incentive, written receipts for "an investment in health" will be given to those persons who have had a check-up at any time during the year and to those who promise to have one during the campaign. Further, the names of persons having been examined by a doctor will be reported to the chairman of the drive and in turn will be placed on a large health honor roll located in a public spot.

Realizing that the diseases which are leading in killing and disabling adults can be controlled and even cured when discovered early, members of the organization hope for and expect community-wide cooperation.

tests and both promise to draw very large crowds.

Prof. Earl Slocum, director of the University Band, has extended an invitation to many high school bands to attend the game and perform at the half-time.

Chancellor Robert B. House has invited all seniors in high schools throughout the State to attend the activities here on May 6. The students have been requested to bring picnic lunches for the day, but special lunches will be available in Chapel Hill and in the University dining halls all day Saturday.
