People Wanted School Library; How They Got Is Remarkable Story Of Community Cooperation

our library is the prettiest I ever saw!" exclaimed a grade girl two weeks ago. She was talking about the beautiful new modern school library the Efland people have just started.

Turner Forrest, sixth grade teacher, was the spark that started the library project because early in the year she began getting people interested in this new idea. In January the P. T. A. decided to sponsor this tremendous project. Later it became everybody's business. At that time Miss Cora Bomar, the new elementary school supervisor, told the group some old classrooms could be modeled into a functional library. Since this was going to be a huge undertaking, Miss Bomar suggested that a Steering Committee be appointed that would represent all the people. Following were selected to this important committee: Mrs. John Dunn, (member of the Efland Town Council), Joe Howard, (President of the P. T. A.), Mr. and Mrs. John Cobb, Jr., (Chairman of the Efland School Board), Miss Cora Bomar, (Supervisor of Elementary Schools of Orange County), Clyde Cates (Efland School Principal), Mrs. Turner Forrest, Mrs. Claude Murray, (teachers) Mrs. Dalton Riley.

Afterwards the wheels began to turn. Superintendent Glenn Proctor agreed that the Board of Education could supply paint, lumber, new furniture, blackout curtains and light fixtures if the community would do all the work. A visiting committee visited in other schools to find out more about school libraries.

Experts were called in. Miss Camp, State School Library Adviser, and Miss Margaret from the Library School of University at Chapel Hill, met with the Steering Committee for consultation. Mr. Hanper, Duke Lighting Engineer, came to inspect the building to see what lighting facilities could be installed. The student library committee made a complete survey of the school to get a list of all parents who would contribute their time and labor to any part of the project. Soon work began. The room that housed the present book collection and the large classroom adjoining were selected. This meant tearing out storage closets, making an opening in the wall, mending the plaster, removing a sink and some blackboards. The men volunteered worked on their jobs during the day and at night to the school. These were busy times because the work might take on the old "house cleaning, corn husking, and quilting atmosphere of days gone by."

An interesting phase of the work was the day when Archie Latta, one of the painters, brought his huge electric paint machine to the school. Many of the children had never seen such a machine, and great interest was shown in looking through the windows watching the machine give the entire library two coats of eye-rest green in less than half a day.

Graham, Durham Poll Heavy Vote In Home County; Efland, Breeze Pull Upsets; Other Incumbents Win

Election Sidelights

Elections officials earned their pay last Saturday when the heaviest voting on record was recorded in the county's 16 voting precincts. Registrars and judges in some cases were on duty as much as 20 hours and were groggy with figures before they could finally call it quits. Precinct officials must remain together until votes are counted except in dire emergencies when substitutes must be appointed. Jake Forrest, Hillsboro druggist, is entitled to be addressed as Judge since two votes were cast for him as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court in Saturday's primary. S. T. Latta, who polled the day's highest vote for county offices, had at least one ultra-loyal supporter, whose only inscription on the ballot was "I want to vote for Sam Latta." No other candidates were marked. Senator Frank Graham's almost 10-1 majority in his home town must be a near-record but observers at the polls were not surprised. Had all men, women, children and babies-in-arms who made the trek to Chapel Hill polls been recorded, the majority would have been considerably more. An impromptu parade which met the Senator at Carrboro city limits after his ride from Hillsboro received enthusiastic response from on-looker from that point to the Southside precinct. Hot meals by courtesy of candidates and other well-wishers is usually the lot of some poll holders but Registrar Benson Ray at Carrboro complained the only gift to him and his cohorts was a stick of chewing gum from H. Grady Dorsett, the Republican candidate for Congress.

Carrboro Cleans As Petunias Bloom

Carrboro — As "Clean Up Week" is being observed this week in Hillsboro, a lovely bed of bright colored petunias that have been blooming profusely for sometime in front of the Colonial Motor Company, on Main Street in Carrboro is especially noticeable. All residents and property owners in the town are urged to cooperate in the drive to make this a really clean-up campaign and to keep the town clean. All civic organizations are taking an active part in the drive as in past programs to keep the town as attractive as possible.

Joe Howard Takes Oath As New Member Of Welfare Board As Budget Approved

Hillsboro — Joe Howard of Efland was sworn in Monday as a new member of the Orange County Welfare Board. He succeeded John Hanner of the Cedar Grove section. The oath of office was administered by R. O. Forrest, magistrate, in the presence of County Commissioners and Welfare Board members prior to the joint meeting of the two boards. Following a general discussion of welfare problems and a proposed overall budget, tentative approval was given by the commissioners to the section of the Welfare Budget on administration and $10 per month raises were given to Miss Fairfax Mitchell, child welfare worker, and Miss Mary Frances Kenion, clerk-stenographer. The new budget called for expenditures of $22,850 for administration of welfare activities in the county, an increase of $200 over last year's figure. Broken down the proposed expenditures for next year will be: salaries $18,600; travel $2,000; postage $450; supplies $250; rent $420; heating, lights and water, $250; maintenance and repairs $100; board members remuneration $180; other $250. In an afternoon session, the Board of Commissioners worked on road petitions and visited several roads in order to pass judgment on the merits of the petitions.

Negro Youth, 19, Is Drowning Victim Near University

Hillsboro — A 19-year-old Negro youth, Odie McBroom, son of Walker McBroom, was drowned Tuesday afternoon in an abandoned rock quarry near University. Coroner H. J. Walker ruled the youth's death resulted from "accidental drowning" following an investigation. McBroom and another youth, Eddie Lee Nunn, were cooling off in the quarry located on the old Duke Farm, land, not far from the home of the boy's father. According to Nunn, McBroom went out of sight and came up twice but he was unable to give him any assistance. He was described as unable to swim by his father. Two West Hillsboro youths, Tally Hardee and Charles Andrews, located McBroom's body and brought it to the surface.

Plan Face-Lifting For Mail Boxes Through Contest

Hillsboro — A complete face-lifting for Orange County mail boxes is the object of a county-wide mail box improvement contest being sponsored as a cooperative project by the various agricultural agencies, Orange County postmasters, rural mail carriers, the home demonstration clubs, the Grange and the Highway Department. Prizes for the best mail boxes will be $10, $5 and $2.50. Beginning at once, the contest will continue throughout the month of June. Rural carriers will select the three best mail boxes on their routes from which judges will select the best of the three for each route and these route winners will compete for the three awards. A list of instructions on how to improve and beautify mail boxes has gone out from the county farm and home agents' office to all farmers and information as to how to obtain stencils and other equipment may be obtained from the mail carrier. Residents of the Schley and St. Mary's sections have already obtained these stencils and printed the names of their farms on attractive signs.

Marching to the polls in the greatest numbers on record, Orange County voters last Saturday piled up heavy majorities for Frank P. Graham and Carl T. Durham in the National Congress, sent major county office holders back to their jobs and in a minor upheaval replaced two incumbent Board members with newcomers to the county political scene.

The veteran Sheriff S. T. Latta polled the heaviest vote of the county ticket, amassing 3,932 votes to win easily from Gaines F. Liner of Cedar Grove, who had waged a hard battle to unseat him. Liner picked up 2,599 votes and carried six precincts but Latta's heaviest majorities came from the heavy voting precincts at Chapel Hill and Hillsboro.

Register of Deeds J. Ed Laws had a closer fight with Archie G. Williams of Efland but emerged with 2,290 votes to 2,744 for Williams, also aided by heavy majorities in Chapel Hill. Williams carried seven precincts, including a heavy margin of 457 votes to 26 in his home precinct of Efland. In Hillsboro Laws was able to poll only 45 votes more than his opponent.

In the race for three seats on the Board of County Commissioners, Sim Efland replaced the incumbent Ben F. Wilson of Cheeks township and polled the second highest total in the six man race, 2,992. Incumbent Chairman Collier Cobb, Jr., won the top vote for commissioner with 3,539 and H. G. Laws retained his seat with 2,919 votes. Votes cast for other candidates were Wilson 2,881, Henry S. Walker, 2700, and Coy W. Long, 1938.

In a contest for membership on the Board of Education, Harry P. (Buddy) Breeze of Efland carried 11 precincts and nosed out Zeb C. Burton, the incumbent, by 35 votes. The official tally: 2,716 for Breeze and 2,682 for Burton. Burton's heaviest support came from the two Chapel Hill precincts and his home precinct of Cedar Grove.

Although he apparently failed to obtain a clear majority over his three opponents in returns from throughout the State, Senator Frank P. Graham polled 75 per cent of the vote cast in his home county against Senatorial Candidates Willis Smith, Robert R. Reynolds and Olla Ray Boyd. Graham's total was 5,204 to Smith's 1,233, Reynolds' 443 and Boyd's 36.

Carl T. Durham's support from his home county, which gave him a majority of 4,808 over Ernest R. Williamson's 1,757, was an important factor in his successful fight to retain his Congressional seat for another term. He carried Guilford and Alamance but lost in Durham by a slim margin.

Waldo C. Cheek defeated Hoke R. Bostian For Insurance Commissioner 4,100 to 947 in Orange County voting while support was also forthcoming for incumbent Supreme Court Justice Emery E. Denney who polled 3,307 to Oscar Efird's 1,733 in this county.

Little interest was shown in the only Republican contest in this county, only 58 voting in the race between H. Grady Dorsett of Chapel Hill and A. A. McDonald of Durham for the dubious right to oppose the Democratic nominee, Durham, for Congress. Dorsett got 33 votes and McDonald 25.

The voting in Saturday's primaries was the heaviest on record in this county when approximately 7,000 of the 8,964 persons registered went to the polls.

The official canvass of votes was made by the Board of Elections Tuesday.

Mt. Carmel Church Recreation Cabin Now In Full Use

Carrboro — The large recreation cabin started last summer at the rear of the Mt. Carmel Baptist Church is now in use, and is being enjoyed by all ages of the membership of the church. The building constructed of cinder blocks was erected mostly by members of the congregation in spare hours after their regular days work was finished. The building which is made up of a large auditorium, three class rooms and two baths is indeed a help to the church life of the community.
