Aerial View of New Carolina Industry

This new asphalt plant at Wilmington, N. C., built by American Oil Company for its associate, Mexican Petroleum Corporation, will be dedicated September 21 by Governor W. Kerr Scott. It is the only asphalt plant of its kind on the Atlantic Coast, and can produce from 750,000 to 1,000,000 pounds of paving asphalt every 24 hours.

Aldermen Plan Street Inspection

Pranksters Taunting Local Policeman Discover Fire

Hillsboro — Youthful pranksters, an alert night policeman and members of the Hillsboro Volunteer Fire Department collaborated last Wednesday night to prevent a serious fire and heavy damage at the Walker Milling Company here.

It happened this way. When several local youths of high school age rang the courthouse bell and scurried off into the night, Officer Tom Roberts took off in hot pursuit. Hurrying behind the old mill building on the northeast side of court square they saw a fire just getting started around a window sill. Throwing caution to the winds, they rushed back toward the pursuing policeman, sounding the alarm.

Commission Has Hearings

Hillsboro — The North Carolina Industrial Commission held hearings here Monday in several liability cases involving accident claims.

Claimants were Miss Estelle Brown, who was injured in a fall while a teacher in the local school and Mrs. Colleen Buchanan of Hillsboro, Route 2, who was hurt in a wreck while serving as operator of the Bookmobile.

Mrs. Douglas Davis, district librarian, also appeared seeking reimbursement from the Commission for damages to the Bookmobile which were incurred in the accident.

No announcement of findings was made by Commissioner Bean, Bean, who conducted the hearings.

The James Webb Family To Move To Greensboro

Hillsboro — James Webb, president of the Eno Cotton Mills, said here this week that he would move to Greensboro with his family the latter part of this year to assume new duties with the Cone Mills Corporation, which operates the local plant.

The move will take place probably in December upon completion of a home which the Webbs are building in Greensboro. There will be no change in the Webb family here at Eno, he said, and he went on to say in addition to will continue to serve as president of the Cone Mills at Haw River and serving in other capacities with the firm.

Raising Each Farm's Income $1000 Goal Of Rural Progress Campaign

Orange County farm leaders have completed concrete plans for this county's participation in the North Carolina Rural Progress campaign and announced a comprehensive program aimed at increasing farm income, improving home and community life.

The Rural Progress Campaign is a concrete effort in Orange County by farm, civic and religious organizations working together with farm men and women to provide the incentive, the leadership and the means by which great progress can be made.

Bank To Present New Farm Signs To Contest Winners

Hillsboro — Community Committee members from six of the ten communities in the county have nominated three farmers in each community to compete in the best pasture contest sponsored by the Bank of Chapel Hill.

The winner in each community will be awarded an attractive farm sign. The three nominations for each of the six communities are: White Cross - Andrew Womble, Colon Thompson and Lex Whitfield.

Orange Grove - Cecil Lloyd, G. W. Lasley, and Hugh Wilson.

Caldwell - G. W. Hall, H. G. Bales and Frank Laws.

New Hope - C. R. Brown, L. A. Hogan, and J. R. Whitfield.

St. Marys - Henry Walker, Clyde Roberts, Sterling Hunt.

Hillsboro - Dr. J. W. Beard, Ted Colman, and Frank Perry.

Nominations for the other four communities will be published next week. Any farmer in the community who wishes to nominate some other farmer may do so in writing within seven days time. Judges will visit these farms and make their selections after October 1st.

MRS. CHARLOTTE CREIGHTON

Chapel Hill — Funeral services for Mrs. Charlotte Gilliam Creighton of Chapel Hill, who died in a Washington, D. C. hospital Saturday, were held Tuesday at 11 A. M. at the St. Bede Catholic Church in Williamsburg, Va., her former home.

Burial was in the Williamsburg Cemetery.

Mrs. Creighton, who was active in business and civic life of Chapel Hill for 10 years, had been ill for about a year.

7 PLANTS IN ORANGE

Orange County was once an important tobacco manufacturing area containing 7 manufacturing plants in a directory compiled in 1881-82 and published in the United States Tobacco Journal as shown in the current issue of "The E. S. C. Quarterly," published by the Employment Security Commission of North Carolina and edited by M. R. Dunagan.

This directory shows that at that time 6 plants were operating in Hillsboro and one in Chapel Hill although tobacco manufacturing at that time was frowned upon by the residents of these historic and cultured places.

The list of manufacturers shown in 1881-82 is as follows: Hillsboro - L. C. H. Brown & Co.; H. P. Jones & Co.; L. H. Lambeth; E. H. Pogus; Webb & Co.; J. Y. Whitted; Chapel Hill - J. M. Corbin.

and photo slides, some practical suggestions for adding $1,000 to the income of each farm family in 1952, for improving the living conditions in every home and for carrying out some worthwhile activity in each community. These practical suggestions were said to be within the reach of every farm family.

Additional meetings will be held

Large Attendance Marks Opening Of PTA Year

Hillsboro — The local P. T. A. got off to a good start Tuesday evening when it met for its initial meeting of the year in the high school auditorium. There were about 200 present.

The Rev. Charles S. Hubbard led the devotional part of the program stressing the co-operation of parents and teachers.

Lucius Brown has been selected treasurer of the association in the place of Vernon Errod who is leaving Hillsboro.

G. A. Brown introduced the speaker of the evening, Paul Carr, Superintendent of Orange County schools, who used for his topic "The Characteristics of a Good School." Included in his list of characteristics, Mr. Carr listed a happy school, childcentered, clean, democratic, good morals, and a working school. Mr. Carr paid our community a compliment when he said, "One would not have to live here long before seeing evidence of the co-operation of the school, parents, and civic clubs."

German Teachers To Study Here

Chapel Hill — The group of 15 young German teachers who are being sent to the University of North Carolina by the U. S. Office of Education to study during the current academic year will arrive in Chapel Hill Saturday, September 22, Dean Guy B. Phillips said here.

Miss Christine Babb of the staff of the School of Education here will be director of the German teacher project.

According to the U. S. Office of Education, the University here was selected because of the emphasis it places on teacher training, particularly in the elementary field.

in communities throughout the county, by Granges and the Farm Bureau, and community clubs.

A general prospectus on the program has been prepared giving both the reasons for the campaign and the practical ways it can be achieved. In a background statement as to the reason this was said:

"Rural Orange County has made progress during the past decade by increasing the cash income of the farms, by improving the living conditions in the homes and in general providing a better place to live, but we have not made enough progress. The estimated average gross cash income for the family sized farm in 1951 is only $1885.00 which means that the net cash income will be around $1000.00, and this for a family of 4.2 persons. This is entirely too low.

"There are many attractive, livable homes in the county, yet the majority of our farm homes are not as attractive in appearance as they could be, nor are they equipped with modern conveniences as they should be.

"The community life of our county is perhaps above the average for the state, but a lot is to be desired. Many communities have no community buildings, no recreational program, no telephones, no community pride in home and roadside beautification and very little interest in community betterment."

In an effort to give some practical suggestions for increasing income by a family size farm by $1,000 per year, such examples as the following were given:

New Chimes At Local Methodist Church

Hillsboro — Residents of this community listened in wonder Tuesday afternoon as the pleasing sound of musical chimes drifted over the area.

Investigation determined that the music was emanating from the new instrument installed at the Methodist Church on a trial basis by the Norton Chimes Equipment Company of Atlanta, Ga.

No one would say but the concensus seemed to be that some generous donor might be planning a surprise gift for the congregation, but his or their identity remained unknown.

John M. Studstill, the company's representative, said the chimes might be attached to an organ or microphone and recorded can be used.

Chapel Hill Students Again 'U' Opens

Chapel Hill — The University aroused itself -- and with it -- from its "between sessions" lethargy over the weekend. Some 1000 new students arrived on the campus for registration which got under way in the College Gymnasium Monday afternoon.

Beginning Saturday, the campus and community began a hectic bustle to get settled for the beginning of the fall term which starts with classes on Thursday morning.

Freshmen, a new crop of coed transfer students, and well over 100 old students serving as advisors were all over Chapel Hill throughout the weekend.

The new students' orientation program, which will continue un-interrupted, was in full swing Saturday.

With many eating establishments closed since the end of the summer session, those operating were crowded with customers. Extra help had to be sought and permanent employees were working overtime.

Franklin street, the main thoroughfare of Chapel Hill, all of a sudden became congested with students and people -- students, others and fathers and friends. Parking was at a premium, and everywhere there seemed to be an air of suppressed excitement and anticipation.

President Gordon Gray welcomed the newcomers at a general convocation in Memorial Hall Saturday night, and Sunday afternoon Chancellor and Mrs. R. B. House gave a reception in honor of the students.

Campus offices quickly assumed their normal atmosphere today, telephones buzzed, papers rustled, and waiting rooms were soon filled.

School had really started in earnest, and before the orientation program is over, the 158th year of University operation will well on its way to normality.

New Chapel Hill Scout Executive Introduced

The Chapel Hill Council of the Boy Scouts held its first meeting of the year, Monday, Sept. 17, at which time Mrs. Sam B. Turner, the new executive director, was introduced.

Mrs. Joyner, a graduate of Duke University who has done advisory work with the Scout and Y-Teen Groups, will maintain a downtown office in the Sutton Building.

The Girl Scout Program will start October 1 following the national theme - "Girl Scouts Grow Up For Freedom." The success of the program depends largely upon volunteer workers.

Mrs. N. J. Demerath, the Girl Scout Commissioner, urges women interested to volunteer their services. No previous experience necessary. A complete course of training will be offered in preparation for the year's work. Interested persons should get in touch with Mrs. Demerath - telephone 5106.

Pasture Event Loses Soon

Hillsboro — There is a lot of interest among farmers sowing pastures for the first time this year in the new pasture contest sponsored by Coleman-Laws Company of Hillsboro.

Each farmer who places an acre for pasture grass seed for the first time this year is eligible to draw one of the five $20 prizes awarded by Coleman-Laws Co. in the county PMA Office at Hillsboro, September 29th. Details of the drawing can be obtained at the County PMA Office.

Baptist Speaker

Hillsboro — Dr. I. G. Greer, a well known speaker and Baptist minister, will speak next Sunday at the First Baptist Church here.

Dr. Greer, currently the executive secretary of the Business Administration at the University, was formerly the Superintendent of the Baptist Orphanage.
