Masons Receiving Funds For Orphans

Hillsboro — The local Masonic Lodge is now receiving Thanksgiving contributions for the 300 boys and girls at the Masonic Orphanage in Oxford. This Thanksgiving campaign is an annual event for members of the order which has the orphanage as one of its major projects. A committee is now making an appeal by letters to the membership and public is invited to participate in this worthy cause. Approximately 5,800 feet of street will cost $8,700 to pave. "Just as rapidly as the town's financial resources permit," the report promised, these streets would be hard-surfaced. Immediately upon annexation police and auxiliary fire protection would be rendered. As quickly as water lines could be laid for hydrants, full protection would be assured. Within 30 days, the report stated, twice-a-week garbage collection would be started, and after 45 days a zoning hearing would be scheduled. All of these proposals are the same as offered the residents of Strowd Hill prior to that annexation. Following are the proposed boundaries for the annexation: Beginning at Pritchard's Branch on the western town limits, following this stream southwest to the rear property line of house on the north (town) side of Smith Ave., thence along this line east to the Pittsboro Highway, and back up the north side of the highway to the present town limits at the Medical Center.

Chapel Hill — A public hearing to decide on the question of annexing the 66-acre Westwood section to the present 1120 acre municipality of Chapel Hill will be held on December 10, according to action of the Board of Aldermen last Monday night. There is little doubt that the area containing a real and personal property valuation of $532,094 will be taken into the town. The Board voted unanimously to institute proceedings for the second enlargement of this University municipality in at least 91 years. From 1895 the town limits were not changed until annexation of the Strowd Hill section in August of 1950. A majority of the 66-property owners in the all-residential southside district last night presented the Board a petition requesting annexation. Unless 15 percent of the voters in either Westwood or Chapel Hill request a municipal election on the matter, the section can be annexed by vote of the aldermen following the hearing. The 280-acre Strowd Hill was brought in in this manner. Town Manager Thomas D. Rose presented the Board a nine-page brochure covering all facts of the proposal. Within the week 200 copies of this will be mimeographed and distributed. Following State statutes for annexation, the matter is to be advertised for the next four weeks. If reaction to the plan is favorable some members of the Board have already indicated they would like to bring in the new section as of Jan. 1. Prof. F. Stuart Chapin, who presented the Westwood petition, pointed out there were no refusals to sign, although not everyone was approached. The boundaries of the section were determined according to the ease with which the sector could be served by town sewer lines. All except 17 Westwood lots will be able to tie in for town sewage disposal, and 29 lots are already served. The 1951 Orange County tax valuation on the district was $532,094. Of this $90,104 was in personal property and $441,990 in real property.

Chapel Hill — Only a scant 1,057 persons are eligible to go to the polls in Chapel Hill next Tuesday for the special election to decide on enlarging the special tax district.

The special registration held for the election closed Saturday at the two polling places set up for the voting Tuesday. The total registration was considered small for the event, perhaps indicating little interest on the part of the citizens. This Saturday from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. will be considered as Challenge Day. Polls will open at 6:30 on Election Day. If the proposal succeeds all taxpayers will join in paying a special $.20 per $100 property valuation levy for support of Chapel Hill schools.

The election will be held in two precincts, north and south, with the dividing line running along Main St. in Carrboro east through Chapel Hill and out Route 15-501 (Durham Road) to the Durham County line. Polls for the north precinct will be the Town Hall, and for the south precinct, in the Cone House at Chapel Hill High School. Officials will be: For the South precinct, Registrar, the Rev. B. J. Howard, judges, Mrs. W. A. White, Theodor M. Danziger, and R. C. Andrews; North precinct, Registrar, Mrs. Coy E. Durham, judges, G. S. Baldwin, J. Thayer Lloyd, and William T. Smith.

The boundaries of the new district if approved by the majority of voters in the special election will be as follows: Beginning at the point of the southeast corner of Orange County and running thence in a northerly direction with the Durham County line to the point of intersection of the Durham County line and County Highway No. 552; thence directly west crossing County, Highways No. 551 and No. 550 to the tracks of the Southern Railway (State University Railway); thence with said tracks in a southerly direction to Main Street in the town of Carrboro; thence S 4° 21' E along the eastern boundary of the property of the Carrboro Woolen Mills to the town limit; thence with town limit in a westerly direction to the back property line of the property on the east side of County Highway No. 558 to the Chatham County line to the point of beginning.

The vote will be decided according to the majority of votes cast, rather than by a vote against those registered. The boundaries of the section were determined according to the ease with which the sector could be served by town sewer lines. All except 17 Westwood lots will be able to tie in for town sewage disposal, and 29 lots are already served. The 1951 Orange County tax valuation on the district was $532,094.
