FOWLER REUNION
The annual Fowler Reunion of the descendants of the late Martha, and James Washington Fowler, was held last Sunday, May 1, at Chesterfield Lake which is on Route 1, Pittsboro, on the Mann's Chapel-Mt. Pleasant hard surfaced road.

E. W. Powell, a descendant of the couple was chairman of all arrangements for the annual affair and owner of the beautiful lake where the gathering was held last Sunday really did a wonderful job in preparing for the event. More than 150 persons were present bringing well-filled baskets, wonderful food for the noonday meal. Hot biscuits were provided from an electric stove in a modern, well-equipped beach cottage which can be used on sundry occasions with its tall chimney and big open fireplace. The lake was built last year by Mr. Powell and is well stocked with fish for future fishing. The natural beauty of the surroundings has been cleverly enhanced with much improvement, and on Sunday was complete with a number of large white ducks swimming across the surface as many guests enjoyed boat rides. One duck had a nest near the water and will hatch young ducks this week among the ferns. Mrs. Powell has planted flowers also, and bright colored flocks were in bloom. Altogether it was a most pleasant day, and all who attended last Sunday are looking forward to the Fowler Reunion next year.

JULIUS CAESAR
... As played by Walter Smith ...

Walter Smith To Play Lead Role In Julius Caesar This Weekend

The title role of Caesar in The Carolina Playmakers production of the Shakespearean classic "Julius Caesar", to be staged in the Forest Theatre, Friday through Sunday, will be played by Walter L. Smith, assistant professor of statistics at the University and a newcomer in a Playmakers cast. Previously he has appeared in revues and as an amateur magician.

The faculty member is a native of London, England. Prior to coming to Chapel Hill in 1954, he was statistician to the School of Medicine at Cambridge University, from which he received his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees.

All of Mr. Smith's previous theatrical experience has been in England. While in grammar school, he began an interest in drama by

He was also responsible for organizing a playreading group while a lieutenant in the British Royal Navy. ## Over 15,000 At Opening Of Belk Store

Upwards of 15,000 persons are believed to have attended the three-day grand opening of the Belk-Leggett-Horton store held last weekend.

Store Manager Carlton Byrd, who termed the event "most successful," was unable to estimate the crowd accurately, in that it surpassed the store officials' expectations so completely. But since the store was practically packed during nearly all of the three days of the opening, the estimate of 15,000 seemed relatively conservative.

Winners of the grand door prizes or TV sets given away each day were Ruth Bodenheimer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bodenheimer of Kenan Street; William N. Gerard of 211 Church Street and J. E. Bagwell of 128 Polk Street. The regular store hours of 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. were begun today, though the store will be open until 8:30 on Friday evenings.

People attended the opening event from Siler City, Pittsboro, Durham, Mebane, and for miles around in the Chapel Hill trading area, according to Mr. Byrd. Business all over town seemed to pick up considerably with the influx of customers and visitors for the Belk opening. The big job for the Belk folks today and for the next several days will be the replenishing of its merchandise. Mr. Byrd said.
