KIDD BREWER'S
Raleigh Roundup

THE REASON... Those educational officials who profess to place the blame for all wrongs at the money door—it ain't necessarily so. It is a fact that approximately 75 per cent of our schools in North Carolina opened their doors last week short of their full complement of teachers. The Pro's in the game attribute the shortage to low pay, of course. Ask some of those in the know—and talk to college students who are being urged to be teachers—and they will tell you that the main reason they like the teaching game is pay—but parents.

One of the finest school principals in this or any other state is Joseph Q. Holiday, head man of Needham High School in Raleigh. Parents now think in terms of a "modern and erudite 19th century"—that their children can do no wrong—we are raising a race of brats. Be as it may, this situation has to do with the Needham incident—the latest of several which have plagued Needham Broughton principals through the years.

Holiday last Friday morning was absent four days after the closing of school for a new term. He was served with a warrant charging him with assaulting a 16-year-old student. It seems that Principal Holiday had jerked this girl by the hair while she was standing in school hall during Thursday's period. He had talked to the girl. She told her parents. When she got home to school that evening, a warrant was worn on Holiday's forehead.

The indictment came as a complete surprise to the school principal—and served as a fitting finale to another pleasant year. You will read of other similar incidents during the next nine months throughout the State. If not a warrant, it's an insult, an intended assault on the part of parents on teacher or principal. We know of one school head in Western North Carolina last year whose life was threatened by a dimpled daddy because the principal would not let the child's awkward daughter play basketball guard on the basketball team he coached!

Getting back to Holiday, he, who knows, two or three times hence he will get a job in the insurance industry. Then they go up that he left because he knew North Carolina is in a place and blah-blah-blah! And double bunk!

Salary, of course, is a factor—an important factor—but it is not the main reason we have a shortage of teachers. And we still maintain that Joe Holiday is one of the best high school principals in the country.

GOOD VOTE... Just as we predicted here, the vote in the final election of September 8 was good—big enough to be representative of the thinking of the people.

Although in this column is a very early Sunday morning election of September 8—127 precincts of the 2,047 had not been reported, signs pointed to a good vote—about 600,000.

That's a good vote—a real good vote in this day and time... and set a record for any special election. Had it not been for the racial troubles in Texas, Tennessee, and Kentucky, I think the total ballot this past year would have run more than 400,000.

We said here three weeks ago the vote would likely run in the normal Republican-Democratic standard of 700-0. I think this would have been a situation, too, had it not been for recent Southern disturbances. WELL DONE... Although we

Norris Urges Farmers Get Trucks Ready

Patrolman Mann Morris this week urged farmers to get their trucks and trailers in compliance with the law before beginning their hauls to the tobacco market in the next few weeks.

He reminded particularly of lights and license requirements and load limitations, pointing out also that operators other than the owner of a truck must have a chauffeur's license if carrying a load over 15,000 pounds.

He expressed the hope that all farmers would familiarize themselves with laws relative to trucks in order not to be caught unawares during the important hauling season.

Mystery Farm Of The Week

Who Owns This Mystery Farm?

Mrs. Philip Johnson of Route 1, Hillsboro and Mr. Wayne Vander of Route 2, Rougemont, in that order, identified last week's Mystery Farm as the Walter McKee place on Rougemont Route 2. Mr. McKee, who rents parts of the 173 acre farm to others, says tobacco, wheat, corn, hay and oats are all grown on the place. He has received the beautifully mounted aerial photo of his farm reserved for him at this office with our compliments. The first to call and provide the correct identification of the Mystery Farm in each issue of The News of Orange County wins a year's free subscription to the newspaper. Can you identify the one above?

Orange Approves Pearsall Plan 3,359 To 1,784

Chapel Hill, Rest Of County Split Widely In School Vote

Chapel Hill 4 To 3 Against Amendment

Chapel Hill and the rest of Orange County went separate ways in last Saturday's Special Constitutional Amendments Election, which saw an electorate turn out in unusually heavy numbers virtually approximating last Spring's Primary.

Outside of metropolitan Chapel Hill's five precincts, Orange County citizens voted percentage-wise exactly as did the State as a whole, 4 1/2 to 1 in favor of the so-called Pearsall School Amendment, the State-administered plan for preventing integration in the public school system.

In Chapel Hill, it was a different story, however. There the margin was 4 to 3 against the segregation amendment.

The official canvass by the Board of Elections on Tuesday for the county as a whole, all 19 voting precincts showed 3,359 voted in favor of the school amendment and 1,784 against, a favorable margin of less than 2 to 1.

Interestingly, 69 percent of Orange County's votes against the school bill were contained in the 1,234 opposition votes in Chapel Hill's five precincts. However, including the heavy Carrboro town vote—(489)—the school bill was carried in the proposal carried in the community. For the Carrboro precinct the vote was a sharply contrasting four-to-one ballot of approval (489 to 124).

Hillsboro, as usual, cast the largest vote of the day, 579 for and 172 against the school amendment, a slightly less than 4 to 1 margin.

Many of the rural precincts cast unusually large votes in this election, Caldwell's 11 to 1 margin being the biggest majority. It cast 143 for and only 13 against the amendment.

As throughout the State, many of Orange County's opposition votes were cast unintentionally through misunderstanding of the wording of the amendment. Many poll holders and close observers at the polls noted this from voters' remarks and feared that it would materially lower preponderantly favorable attitude for the amendment.

10 Miles Of New Hard Surface

Extensive Road Improvement Work Nearing Completion By SHC Force

Approximately 10 miles of additional hard surfacing have been or will be completed shortly on Orange County roads already a part of the State system.

County Maintenance Supervisor Clarence Walters of the State Highway Commission said it was one of the largest authorizations for new hard surfacing allotted in this county in recent years. All work is being done by local highway forces.

Most of the base work and priming has already been completed and the actual paving will be completed in about two weeks on the following roads:

- (1) St. Mary's to Pleasant Grove Church.
- (2) King's Pond road to Carr.
- (3) From Old No. 10 highway to Highway 70 by way of University Station.
- (4) Hazel Street in Hillsboro.

A surface treatment has already been completed on one mile of roads in the Dogwood Acres development near Chapel Hill.

In addition to this work in preparation for paving and priming, the

Town Truck Damaged; Struck By Car On 70

A town of Hillsboro garbage truck was heavily damaged Tuesday morning on Highway 70 near the Reverie Lingerie plant.

The truck was hit by a Greensboro travelling man, Alex James Hurst, in the front portion as the truck was making a left turn into the side road leading to the town dump. The 1952 Buick he was driving then caromed off the truck, hitting David Matzo's car parked at Cole Motor Company, 100 yards away.

Eddie Nelson was driving the town truck. Damage was estimated about $500. There were no injuries.

4,353 Enrollment In County Schools

Enrollment for the first week of school in the Orange County system totalled 4,353—an increase of 124 over last year's first day in the 12 schools.

Some 2,975 were enrolled in six units of the Chapel Hill City administrative unit, giving the county as a whole a total of 7,378 in the public schools.

Wildcats Win Opener; Meet Northern Friday

Hillsboro's Wildcats opened the current football season with a 14-0 victory over Southern Durham High here last Friday night before a large turnout.

This week Hillsboro travels to Durham County's Northern High School which defeated Cary the defending State Class A champs 18-6 in their opening game.

The first quarter of last week's game here was a defensive battle with both teams being hurt by penalties. Hillsboro drove 52 yards for their first score early in the second quarter. Glenn Collins and Ray Barnes spearheaded the touchdown drive with Barnes from 2 yards out going over for the score. Glenn Collins scored the extra point on an end sweep run. The half ended with Hillsboro leading 7-0.

Hillsboro received the second half kick-off with Collins running the ball out to his own 43 yard line. A strong running attack led by Collins, Barnes, Knight and Hayden advanced the ball to Southern 23 yard line where a pass from Knight to Spangler picked up 22 yards and a first down on Southern one. Collins on a line plunge scored and Hillsboro led 13-0. Collins on an end run made the score 14-0 as he scored the second extra point of the night.

Hillsboro drove to Southern's 15 yard line midway the fourth quarter only to have penalties stop this determined drive.

Southern never threatened seriously during the game reaching inside Hillsboro 35 yard line only on one occasion. Outstanding line play led by Petty, Spangler, Batesman, Weston and Knight kept the Southern offensive under control during the entire game. Offensive standouts for Hillsboro were Ray Barnes and Glenn Collins.
