Green's Work For Community Cited In Rites

Sidney Green's long and varied service to the community was cited in the Hillsboro Exchange Club's presentation of "The Book of Golden Deeds" Sunday in an impressive ceremony at the Hillsboro Presbyterian Church.

Members of the local civic club, their wives and out-of-town visitors swelled the congregation to fill the sanctuary and balcony for the occasion recognizing one of the community's most active and distinguished citizens. The ceremony took place during the regular morning church service.

Arthur Makin, plant manager of the Tabardry plant, Haw River, a long-time friend and fellow Englishman, presented the book and framed copy of the citation to Mr. Green. Marion E. Allison explained the background, purposes and significance of "The Book of Golden Deeds" and introduced Mr. Makin. The book will remain a permanent part of the local library, itself a project long dear to the heart of Mr. Green, who for many years served as the chairman of its Board, rendering valuable service during its formative years.

Mr. Green was born January 2, 1894 in Lancashire, England, where he later went to school and won prizes for his achievements in English and Math courses. He came to America at about the age of 17, settling in Newmarket, New Hampshire, where he remained for 12 years as a textile firm employ while continuing his education through night school and correspondence courses. There he was active in the church, the Boy Scouts, the Masonic Order, the Grange, in which he served as Master, local sports, sang in the church choir and played the trumpet with a band and orchestra.

Mr. Green and the former Vera Wentworth were married in March, 1918, and he enlisted the same month to serve this country during World War I as a member of the 302nd Field Artillery Band in the St. Mihiel Sector in France. After the war he continued his work in the textile field and his civic and church activities in New Hampshire and Massachusetts until he came south to Greensboro, N. C. and in 1933 to the Eno Cotton Mill at Hillsboro. He is now manager of Eno Plant of Cone Mills Corporation, the largest industrial plant in Hillsboro.

Extension Director To Speak Blue Ribbon Program Finale Next Thursday

Director D. S. Weaver of the State Agricultural Extension Service will address the County Blue Ribbon meeting to be held at the court-house in Hillsboro next Thursday night, December 12, at 7:30 o'clock. Certificates of award will be presented to 122 rural families who have carried out 18 or more of the 25 possible points in the Blue Ribbon Farm and Home Program this year.

Making these presentations will be Watts Hill, Jr. for the Durham Bank and Trust Company and W. E. Thompson for the Bank of Chapel Hill, financial sponsors of the county program.

This meeting is a culmination of a farm and home program conducted in eight-Orange County commu-ities during the year. In the Aycock Community it was sponsored by the Farm Bureau. The Grange was the sponsoring agency in each of the following other communities, Schley, New Hope, Caldwell, Buckhorn, White Cross, Calvander, and St. Mary's.

Quarterly meetings were held in each of these communities featuring some outstanding speaker on subjects of interest and value to members of the community. Individual family score cards were submitted by 600 families, 122 of whom qualified for the Blue Ribbon Award by completing 18 of the 25 desirable goals. Besides honoring these families, recognition will be given the community having the largest number of Blue Ribbon families.

Commissioners Set Meeting For Monday

Election of a chairman for the next year, appointment of tax lists and other routine matters are on the agenda for the monthly meeting of the Board of County Commissioners at the courthouse Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

The regular meeting of the board was postponed from last Monday morning because of the funeral at that time for the son of County Accountant S. M. Gattis, who serves as the board's executive officer.

No change in the chairmanship now held by R. J. M. Hobbs, the oldest member of the board both in age and length of service, is anticipated. Reorganization of the board takes place annually at the December meeting, as does the appointment of tax lists and approval of other plans for the January tax listing.

Meeting Set On Aromatic Weed Growth

Farmers interested in Aromatic tobacco are invited to attend a meeting at Aycock-Agriculture Building Monday night, December 9th, at 7:30 o'clock.

High Cagers Open Season Friday Night

Hillsboro boys and girls Cagers open their season this Friday night against Aycock High.

The prospects for the boys are brighter than they have been in the last few years and the girls should have a good team too.

- The boys have returning the following lettermen from last year: Joe Crawford, Harvey Reinhardt, Eugene Kennedy, Monroe Knight, J. W. Dickey, and Ray Barnes. Other boys who will see plenty of action are: Jim Ray, Lindsey Efland, Richard Blackwelder, Harry Lloyd, Ralph Queen, Sam Ray and Marvin Teer. Two transfers, Steve Whitt and Jimmy Roberts, will also be of great help when called upon.

Merchants Set Holiday Plans; Turn On Lights

The closing dates for the coming holidays were set by the Hillsboro Merchants Association at a luncheon meeting at the Hillsboro Lunch.

In observance of Christmas they will close Wednesday, Dec. 25 and Thursday, Dec. 26. Merchants will close Jan. 1, New Year's Day.

It was voted to purchase an electric mimeograph machine from the County and sell the one operated by hand now in use.

There will not be an official Christmas Opening by the Association this year. The new Christmas lights were turned on as soon as installation was completed Tuesday.

C. D. Jones, chairman of Trade and Promotion committee, reported up to last Thursday $499.00 had been received for the Christmas lights leaving a balance of around $250. Person desiring to help towards the payment of the lights are asked to get in touch with Mr. Jones or Mrs. Edna Dawkins, secretary of the Association.

The only decoration contest to be held this year is for all business concerns in Hillsboro, West Hillsboro and Fairview.

There will be no entry fee. All stores, offices and organizations are urged to decorate. Windows will be judged Dec. 12 and it is asked that all windows be completed by Wednesday, Dec. 11.

There will be three categories: scenic, commercial and religious with a first prize in each and honorable mention. Contestants are asked to place cards in the window to designate the category they wish to be judged in.

Christmas Ideas House Is Planned

On next Thursday afternoon, December 12, the meeting of the Hillsboro Garden Club will be held in the form of a Christmas Ideas House.

The setting will be the home of Mrs. Robert Murphy Jr. on E. King Street.

The ideas will be furnished by members of the Garden Club and assignments have been given for each of the rooms downstairs including the porch and basement recreation room.

All interested people are cordially invited from 4 until 5:30 o'clock. Refreshments will be served.

Members will meet for a brief business session from 3:30 to 4 o'clock. Those who have not received a definite assignment are asked to bring any Christmas idea they may have, such as decorative wrapped gifts, etc. for which a table will be placed.

'Thin Floors' Charged Carrboro School Job

- "General Catch-All" Charges - Reverie Capital Goal In Sight; NLRB Says Complaint To Be Filed

Officials of the county development committee seeking to raise $25,000 in local capital pledges to help finance a building to house Reverie Lingerie's manufacturing operations said yesterday they were "in sight of the goal."

The campaign has been a success and scores of local citizens have pledged funds as a loan to get the firm back into production to provide work for local citizens and an expanding payroll for the community.

Meanwhile, in Winston-Salem yesterday an official of the National Labor Relations Board Regional office said a complaint charging violation of the Fair Labor Practices laws would be issued against the Reverie firm, should it go back into production.

and a hearing date will be set. Filing of a complaint would be the first formal NLRB action in the case, according to Mr. Walburg, the examiner handling the matter, in a telephone conversation with The News yesterday.

Later a hearing will be held before an examiner from Washington.

The News queried the NLRB after members of the group formerly on strike here began to pass out information throughout the community that a ruling adverse to the management had been issued.

Walburg said the burden of proof that a violation has occurred will be on the NLRB examiner in this case. He said no complaint should it go back into production.

MISS KNOX JONES

MISS CAROLYN WILSON

Misses Jones, Wilson Chosen 'Good Citizens'

Miss Knox Jones of Hillsboro High School and Miss Carolyn Wilson of Aycock High School have been selected as "Good Citizens" in their respective senior classes to compete in the state DAR's Good Citizen Contest.

These Orange County girls will enter the state contest under the sponsorship of the Davie Poplar Chapter, Chapel Hill, of the N. C. Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution of which Mrs. R. M. Lester is Regent and Mrs. R. W. Isley of Cedar Grove, chairman of the Good Citizen Committee.

This year questionnaires will be filled out by those participating in the contest.

Three girls are selected by the student body of each school and the faculty picks the contestant from the three in each school.

This Saturday the two contestants along with Mrs. Lester and Mrs. Isley have been invited to attend the State meeting to be held in Raleigh. They along with other contestants will be guests of honor at a luncheon, visit the museum and visit the Governor's mansion. District and State winners will be selected.

Knox and Carolyn will be honored guests Dec. 19 at the meeting of the Davie Poplar Chapter, in Chapel Hill and will at this time be presented with a DAR emblem of good citizenship and a certificate of award from the national society.

Miss Jones is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Jones of Hillsboro. Knox is quite active in school. She is president of the Beta Club of which she has been a member for three years, treasurer of her senior class (was treasurer of her junior class also), this year she is editor of the school newspaper staff and served as assistant editor last year. Patron Brings Complaints On New Building

Charges by a Carrboro school patron that floors in the new Carrboro school are being poured too thin were aired by the County Board of Education at its meeting in Hillsboro Monday.

Complaints by Duteh McAdams brought to the attention of the board by Carl Ellington, Chairman of the Carrboro District Committee, against Dickerson, Inc., General Contractors on the Carrboro School building project, were brought to the attention of the board. Most serious of the complaints alleged that "the floors have been poured very thin in many places. In some places they are not more than two inches thick and the floors where terrazzo is to be poured are very thin. There are some pipes not covered more than one-half inch."

Clyde Dorsett, representing J. Hyatt Hammond Associates, Inc., Architects, presented answers to each of the complaints separately. He presented evidence in the form of photostatic copies of bills to show that the cubic volume of concrete mix delivered by Constructors Supply Company, Inc., was sufficient to pour the floor 4 1/2 inch and agreed to arrange for test borings throughout the building if requested by the board.

The board approved leaving the supervision of the building to the architect and requested that the architect certify to the board that he building meets specifications in respect to all matters alleged to be improper in the complaints.

Two bids on the Carrboro water line were provided by the architect. The bids were for approximately 300 lineal feet of 4" cast iron pipe class No. 150 with necessary valves and fittings and a 2" meter to be furnished and installed. Boyd & Goforth, Inc., Charlotte $2,230., Wham & Hunt Const. Co., Asheboro $1,890.

Upon motion by C. D. Jones, seconded by J. E. Hawkins, and passed, the board instructed the secretary to advise the Town Board of Carrboro that it would pay $1,890 if the Carrboro board would construct a 4" line or larger to the school and install a 2" meter thereon.

CAKE SALE

The Hillsboro Exchange Club will again canvass the community in their annual Fruit Cake Sale next Monday and Tuesday, December 9-10 and urgently request that persons who may be missed in the solicitation contact some member of the club for delivery of one of the delicious cakes. The price, 3 lbs. $3.25, 5 lbs. $5.50. Profits go to the Exchange club park fund and other club projects for community service.

Principal's Home Proposition Headed For County Action

The committee named to draft plans for proposed construction of a principal's home at Aycock School will take their request directly to the Board of County Commissioners at its meeting next Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

This action was approved by the Board of Education at its meeting this past Monday following presentation of the plans by the committee composed of Melvin W. Wright, L. J. Rogers and Wilfred Phelps.

Along with their plans the committee will carry a letter of transmittal from the Board of Education to this effect: "The Orange County Board of Education does not now have funds for this project. If the Board of Commissioners has funds presently available, the Board of Education would favor this project now. If no funds are now available, the Board of Education favors including this item in its next budget."

The plan presented by the Aycock committee calls for constructing a 1200 square foot residence by a local contractor on a cost-plus basis, estimated to cost $9,600 for the basic house, and additional $1,000 if a basement is approved, and another $1,500 to $2,000 if a carport is added.

In other actions, the Board of Education:

Approved temporary drawings of the Architect for the following projects: Efland-Cheeks additions, Efland classrooms, and Cedar Grove lunchroom.
