White Cross Body For Merger

The White Cross District School Committee has gone on record unanimously as favoring a vote on the proposition of that District joining the Chapel Hill City Administrative Unit.

The action came last Saturday night at a meeting in Hillsboro with the Orange County Board of Education.

No action has been taken on the proposal by the County Board, which has before it a 341-name petition from group of Carrboro citizens agitating for such an election and a divided Carrboro District Committee whose majority strongly opposes annexation.

Next Move

The County Board's next move probably will be to confer with the Chapel Hill Board of Trustees to secure its official attitude as a matter of record, a move largely perfunctory on this particular point inasmuch as the City Board is known to favor the move.

However, there are a number of "ifs" which would prevent themselves should an annexation vote fail to carry, and the County Board in all likelihood may want to settle some of them before an election is called. No time for this meeting has been set.

The motion to ask the County Board to call for an election was offered by C. P. Jones, seconded by Edmond Strowd and voted unanimously by the Committee which in addition includes Bernard Durham.

Members of the committee did not indicate they thought a majority of the White Cross District voters would vote in favor of entering the Special Tax District.

Mrs. Roberts, Carr Head Heart Drive

Mrs. Marion Roberts and G. Paul Carr will serve as co-chairmen of the annual Heart Fund campaign to be conducted in Hillsboro on Sunday February 23.

Announcement of the appointment was made by the Durham-Orange Heart Association.

The campaign will consist principally of a house-to-house solicitation on Heart Sunday, when scores of volunteer workers will take the field to raise money for this important work. No solicitation will be made in the business district.

A major portion of the collections remains here and in the State to support research and local heart programs.

The co-chairmen announced that the following have accepted as signments as captains in the drive: Marion E. Allison, Glenn Auman, and Mesdames George W. Teer, H. Ted Smith, Reid Roberts, J. W. Knight, Joe Neems, Edwin Hamlin, Robert Forrest, Jake Forrest, Ira A. Ward and Joe Coleman. E. Wilson Cole will serve as treasurer.

The objective of the annual drive, Mrs. Roberts declared in accepting the appointment, is to obtain support for the association's research, public and professional education and community heart programs.

"I consider it a distinct honor to have been chosen to lead the 1958 Heart Fund drive in Hillsboro because, in my opinion, it is my best opportunity to render public service in the nationwide fight against the

8th Rural Center In County Community Center Ready At Calvander

The Homestead Community Center has just been completed in the Calvander community, climaxing a major community activity of five years duration.

In 1952 the Calvander Grange and Home Demonstration Club, realizing the need for a community center, began money making projects to secure funds to start this project. With the first money a lot was purchased near Lake Hogan Farm. The next step was getting a well drilled. Then step by step, with the cooperation of the entire community, this building has been completed.

This Sunday, February 16th, the Homestead Community will hold open house from 3-5 o'clock. Members of the Grange, the Home Demonstration Clubs and other communities are invited to attend.

The building has a main auditorium 30' x 70' with an adequate kitchen annex. It is of durable concrete block construction with ample space around the building for parking and play grounds.

With the completion of Homestead Community Center all eight organized Orange County communities are now provided with community buildings in which to conduct their social, recreational and business programs.

Donors For "Progress" Plan Set

The Bank of Chapel Hill and the Hillsboro Branch of the Durham Bank and Trust Company are again sponsoring the Orange County Rural Progress Program by providing funds for individual family prizes in all eight communities.

Progress in agriculture and home-making this year will be measured by the improvements made by the individual families over 1957. These incentive prizes will go to families making progress in twenty phases of farm and home activities. In addition to these individual prizes $500 has been offered in twenty community prizes to be awarded to the communities making the most progress in these same lines of farm and home work.

Here is the list of the activities to be worked on with the names of the donors of the $25 community prizes.

Move To Get Carrier Mail Delivery Begun

A series of moves aimed at getting city carrier delivery for mail in Hillsboro were underway this week.

At the instigation of Mayor Ben Johnston, Postmaster Maude Brown contacted postal officials for information relative to Hillsboro's eligibility for carrier delivery and the requirements for obtaining it.

Area postal officials, thereupon, called upon Miss Brown for data to determine the need for an investigation to see if authorization of city delivery is warranted. Mayor Johnston said he would call upon the Town Board of Commissioners for any action that may be necessary to get the delivery.

Yesterday he furnished Miss Brown a town map showing the condition of all streets relative to paving for transmittal to the post-office department.

The new concern for city delivery stems apparently from the Mayor's and town board's attitude relative to the inaccessibility and traffic hazards inherent at the new post-office site.

Miss Brown who has to submit a recommendation in connection with the preliminary survey made this statement of her position yesterday: "I am anxious that the Post Office furnish the best postal service possible commensurate with the desires and needs of the people of Hillsboro. If the population of the town desires city delivery service, I will do all in my power to further this project."

Among the questions which were asked by the Postoffice department in order to determine the need for further investigation and Miss Brown's answers were:

- (1) Gross receipt of local office last fiscal year. ($32,836.27)
 - (2) Total population. (1950 census, 1,381)
 - (3) Population residing in improved territory. (1,000 estimated additional)
 - (4) Are good continuous sidewalks provided? If not, describe etc. (No)
 - (5) Are paved streets provided? (No)

Proposed New Methodist Parsonage in County

Expansion Program Started With New Parsonage And Resident Minister At Historic Orange Church

The pastor of Orange Methodist Church, The Rev. Key W. Taylor, has announced this week plans for the construction of a new parsonage which will get under way as soon as weather permits.

This will be a first step in an expansion program to keep pace with the rapid development of the Orange Church Community.

A large building lot for the parsonage has been donated by Mr. and Mrs. John Link and Mrs.

Link's mother, Mrs. Lena Burch, as a memorial to the Henry Johnston Burch family.

The site is located half a mile from the church on Homestead Road near the Burch homeplace. The parsonage will be a split-level type house of brick veneer construction.

Much of the work and materials going into the parsonage will come from members and friends of the church.

Members of the Parsonage Finance Committee are: Dr. V. A. Hoyle, Preston Hogan and Mrs. Eugene Blackwood.

The Building Committee for the project is composed of Robert Shelton, Ernest Turrentine and J. B. Holland.

Henry Burch will serve as secretary-treasurer. As a second step in the expansion program Orange Church has asked the conference to separate Orange Church from the Chapel Hill Circuit which presently consists of Orange Church, Cedar Grove and Orange Grove.

Orange Church is therefore expecting to have a resident pastor for the coming conference year starting July 1.

After these accomplishments have been realized, other expansion moves are anticipated.
