

KIDD BREWER'S Raleigh Roundup

Of the several recent Democratic victories, the biggest to us in Orange County is the one which William T. Hatch won in the Superior Court judgeship (Lake County) district. Hatch is running against one of the best of the bunch, Jim Vogler in his bid for a seat in the Senate seat in Mecklenburg. He ran third and carried a single box. If Hatch is mistaken, Vogler has a House try, never won by a Democrat. The enormous victory of Congressman J. Scott of Danville is a surprise. Winfield Blackwell of North Carolina is being re-elected twice as many times as Kurfee. The Rev. R. C. Stubbs, retired minister of the Methodist Conference and a native of the Chestnut Ridge Community, will be the principal speaker for the ground-breaking ceremonies. Invited to participate are the widows of former Methodist preachers D. R. and T. A. Williams, who went out from Chestnut Ridge Methodist Church. Also, the Rev. J. S. Minnis and family, former Missionary to India, who went out from Chestnut Ridge Methodist Church.

The ground breaking service, to be at 1:30 p.m. in the Church Grove near the present church, will include the reading of the church history and scripture. The Rev. R. C. Just as the election results turn out, a favor here, a bad walk, a twisted ankle has been said many times. Tom Dewey's 840 hairs upper lip—a little, old square mustache—kept the Presidency of the United States in the Elizabeth City of North Carolina. Copeland of Orange beat out A. P. Goddard for the State May 31, because Copeland had a certain precinct in Orange—he went there often—and Godwin had the votes in that little district which spelled the difference. Copeland's infection kept George W. P. Hunt out of the campaign trail in North Carolina. But it also won a few sympathy votes. Politicians should remember slogan now going the rounds in business circles: "hardly any business got that ain't went out."

WEEKEND. If you are planning a vacation trip this weekend, you'd better make reservations within the next few days or you may find yourself in the car.

A picnic lunch and a fellowship hour will be enjoyed on the grounds immediately following the morning service. Fight Is Over But The Problem Lingers On Non-District Pupil Pact Signed -- But Now What?

The full meaning of the agreement for acceptance of Carrboro and White Cross pupils in the Chapel Hill Schools next year—subject to a tuition payment of $30 apiece—remains to be seen here today. Approval as expected of the terms proposed last Wednesday by the County Board of Education has been given by the Chapel Hill School Board, thus ending the long-standing controversy. Chapel Hill Board Chairman Grey Culbreth said his group would formally ratify this agreement at its next meeting. It is the announced intention of the Chapel Hill school administration to have all of these non-district pupils attend their school as they have in the past—subject to their perfunctory individual release as agreed to by the County Board. Assumed Payment This intention on the part of the Chapel Hill Board also includes the necessary assumption that all of these White Cross and Carrboro pupils will pay the required out-of-district tuition. But if they don't—then what? Many parents—a large share of them Negroes—have had a half-dozen or more children in Chapel Hill schools. And this would now necessitate several hundred dollars in tuition payments for next year. If they don't have the money to pay tuition Chapel Hill cannot admit them under terms of the agreement it has signed. But State Law makes their attendance at public school compulsory. Four Channels Seen There appear to be four channels now open: (1) Some private source might provide the tuition payment; (2) The County might provide some school facility for them—in Hillsboro perhaps—though no space is now available there; (3) These pupils might apply for admission to Carrboro and/or White Cross schools, or might ask that a special school be set up there for them; or (4) These pupils would not attend a public school next year. The answer to the big question, of course, won't be forthcoming until the problem directly presents itself. It's expected in the next few weeks that the Chapel Hill administration will make an effort to complete all of these non-district pupil assignments for next fall so that it can proceed with plans for the new year.

Keep Segregation
At that time also he said, the mass pupil assignment for the coming year will be formally ratified, as earlier drawn up. This of course

Bootleggers Try Rye; Get Jailed Anyway

Could be Orange County's taste in moonshine is changing. The Sheriff's department captured a still in Cheeks township yesterday morning making Rye booze instead of the traditional "corn" that has been the standby of local bootleggers from time immemorial. Two Well-known figures who are veterans of many a brush with the local law were captured at the site and charged with illegal manufacture of whiskey. They are Luther Workman, West Hillsboro, and Boyd "Mutt" Jones, Old Highway No. 10 west. Sheriff's officers searched themselves at the still site south of the old Will Ed Thompson place in Cheeks about 1:30 a.m. yesterday. About 3 o'clock Workman and Jones put in an appearance in a 1955 Ford automobile and began busying themselves, unloading fruit jars and getting things ready to run the 2,000 gallons of rye-malt fortified and fermented mash awaiting them. They were surprised completely and captured before Workman, who has a reputation for swiftness on foot, could make his move. Sheriff's officers have been seeking Jones on another warrant for about a year. Both were still in jail late yesterday.
