KIDD BREWER'S Raleigh Roundup

SESSION? . . . During the first days of the 1957 session the General Assembly—on June 1 when the session had several days to run—began which would end it so the 1959 legislative session would begin about the 1st of January.

the last-minute rush of matters, the idea did not seem legal, and so the next session of the Legislature was called to meet "on the first day after the first Monday next after their election by a different day by law . . ."

The Governor himself has asked to bring the legislators to Raleigh before next February can do it by calling for a special session . . . "on extra-ordinary occasions."

Luther Hodges has had a special session—the one to carry the Plan into effect—earlier he may have another. The Legislature would become organized and do business, and then regular business on February work!

The Governor has over and over again asked the 1959 Legislature will be the most troublesome. Extraordinary! If he is considering calling a special session, he will do it to bring the General Session in July. We have no record of a special session having been called to do the work usually done in a regular session. Also, it has been estimated that a special session of the Legislature costs a minimum of $100,000.

The Legislature met for the first time Wednesday after the first day in January. We have our State Constitution in the change. Governor must have the approval of the Council of State to call a special session. The idea seems to have merit.

AMENDMENT . . . of amendments to the Constitution, at least one will be voted on in November. At present time, magistrates are limited to items in value of the property is $50. People approve the change, justices of the peace are of greater service to people in repossessions, and delivery papers, and business of this type. At the lot of these matters go through already-cluttered calendars. This means extra expense. The Governor for the November vote by the 1957 General Assembly. Father-of the bill was W. Crew, Fourth, District

CHAPEL . . . A program more than five years old. Edwin Pou in the Legislature being brought to our friend, Bill Bailey, State Prison. The late George Ross was the need for the new chapel at Central Prison though he is no longer in the legislature—having volunteered from that office—he is some satisfaction in seeing the realization of his idea. It might never be in our recollection the prisons of North Carolina in better hands than today under the capable of William Bailey.

ROUNDUP . . . One of our people, Mrs. Roy Parker, widow of Hertford Representative J. Roy Parker will be hostess at the Memorial for girls, University of North Carolina, until 1946. His son, Roy Jr., one of the editors of the Parker papers published in the papers of Hertford, Northampton, and Bertie. Top people. ROUNDUP, Page 2)

High Wildcats Roll Over Favored Graham; Face Big Test Here Friday

By HARRY W. LLOYD
A fighting band of Hillsboro Wildcats stormed over the Graham Red Devils in Graham Friday night by a one-sided score of 33-6. In clearing their second hurdle of the young season, the Wildcats gave every indication that they are going to be the team to beat in the District III race.
The Hillsboro team was unstoppable in its quest for a win. Many observers stated that the game was the best they had ever seen played by a group of Hillsboro footballers. Although that's a broad statement, the savage blocking and tackling and the offensive finesse plus the spirit and determination exhibited by the entire squad, was sufficient to draw cheers from any football fan.
It was in the first quarter when the locals, really laid the foundation for the victory. Although some penalties kept the offensive from rolling as it would later in the game, the Hillsboro defense broke Graham's back as it held Graham to no first downs in the entire quarter. The clincher came on a Hillsboro punt. Don Guthrie, the Red Devil tailback who had run wild against Henderson the week before, received the kick. Before he punted, he was hit by Hillsboro end Jimmy Ray in a crushing tackle. Guthrie had to be carried off the field, of no more use to the Graham cause that night.

Caught Spark
Guthrie's injury took all the life out of the Red Devils, but then the Wildcats caught the spark that made them unstoppable. Hillsboro swept 67 yards early in the second period for their first touchdown. Ray Barnes grabbed a screen from Harvey Reinhardt on the twenty-five yard line and scampered untouched down the right sideline into the end zone. He made it seven with the point. Within minutes Bryant Scarlett recovered a fumble on the Graham 35, Hillsboro took advantage of this opportunity, scoring on another Reinhardt pass. Right end Joe Dickey hauled this one in on the two and dragged his defender across the goal line with him. Barnes again added one more.
Hillsboro wasn't content with just a 14-0 lead. Before the fruitful second period was over they scored again, this time with Richard Blackwelder lugging the pigskin into paydirt. He also added the point on an end sweep. To the surprise of everyone in the stadium, the amazing Wildcats now held a commanding 21-0 halftime lead over the Graham Red Devils, who had been picked by most to be the conference champs.

Hillsboro piled on six more in the third quarter. Right halfback Walter Swaney, who had intercepted a Graham aerial and returned it to the 24, carried to make the score 27-0. A point try failed.
Graham Finally Tallies
Graham finally mustered enough strength to score against the Hillsboro substitutes in the final quarter. A series of passes carried for the TD, the score being made on a 23-yarder from Billy Moore to Dick Johnson. A fake kick didn't fool the Hillsboro defense, and the point try was stopped.
The top play of the game came late in the last period. While the Graham line converged on Barnes, Kenneth Cook took the ball and slipped off right guard for 48 yards. Cook was well in the clear, before the stunned Devils realized he had the ball. A pass for the point went incomplete.
The Wildcats perform on their home field tomorrow night, hosting the Wildcats. (See WILDCATS, Page 6)

Second Negro Integration Appeal Denied By County School Board

For a second time in the past two weeks, the Orange County Board of Education has denied the appeal of a Negro couple seeking to have their children reassigned to the Carrboro White Elementary School.
After deliberating for some time, the board Tuesday night denied the appeal, which was filed under the terms of the 1955 Pupil Assignment Act of North Carolina, for reasons it considered "in the best interest of the children" involved; namely, that the reasons originally given for seeking the transfer were no longer valid.
In their original application for reassignment of the four Kincaid children of Clara Mae Walden and her present husband, Darnell Walden, a University employee, the couple had asked for transfer be-

Soil Bank Open For '59 Sign-Up Now

The Sign-up under the 1959 Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank is now open in the Orange County ASC County Office.
According to W. M. Snipes, of the Orange County ASC Committee, the first step in the sign-up is for the farmer who is interested in the program to come to the ASC Office before the deadline the end of this month and request that annual rental payment rates be established for his farm.
At the same time the farmer should bring with him information to be used by the County ASC Committee in establishing rates for his farm. The chief facts needed, Snipes said, are acreages and yields of the three principal crops on the farm for the past two years and acreages for other land use on the farm.
The Conservation Reserve is the only soil bank program available for 1959. Under the program farmers retire land from general crops for up to 10 years and devote the reserved acreage to soil, water, or wildlife conservation practices. The government makes an annual rental payment for the land and will also share in the cost of establishing the conservation practices.
The average rental payment rate for conservation reserve land in Orange County in the 1959 program is $15.00 per acre per year. Payment rates will be higher for the most productive farms and lower for less productive farms. Another 10 percent higher will be available if all eligible land on the farm is put in the reserve for at least five years.

Lease For Speedway Signed By France

The future use and development of the Orange Speedway property as an athletic stadium for Hillsboro High School was assured here Tuesday with the final approval of a 10-year lease by all parties.
Racing Promoter W. H. G. France, of Daytona Beach, Fla., who with Enoch Staley of North Wilkesboro, owns the sprawling Occaneechee property on which the Speedway facility is located, came to Hillsboro Tuesday, ironed out two minor objections to provisions of the lease as drafted by the Orange County Board of Education, and placed his signature and seal on the document.
Final approval of the changes were given by the Board of Education at its meeting Tuesday night.
The signing paves the way for the early beginning of bulldozing, seeding and other activities incident to the development for high school and community use. This is expected to begin in earnest following the last scheduled race of the season here on Sunday September 28.
Messrs. France and Staley went over in detail plans of Coaches Glenn Auman and Fred Claytor for locating the football and baseball fields, which cannot be used now until next year because of the lateness of the season.
Mr. France said his plans now call for the construction of two sections of concrete stands and a retaining wall, either late this fall or next Spring. A new entrance, permanent and modern ticket offices will be built also, he said.
Plans call for the lowering of the track straight-away in front of the grandstands a foot or more, and the dirt therefrom moved into the center of the gridiron area to raise the center of the field. Plans for the move of the lights from the present field to the new facility are yet to be worked out.
Final approval of the offer made to the high school by Mr. France last Spring climaxed the efforts of a group of interested citizens, who recognized the inadequacy of the playing field at the high school and the threatened boycott of local athletic contests by other coaches of the conference in which Hillsboro has been a power for many years despite the limited facilities. Long delays and lack of interest by school board members and committeemen prevented earlier approval and use of the facility this year.
As result, only two or three football games will be played at home during the current year and the popular Chapel Hill-Hillsboro "battle of Orange" has been moved to the Carrboro field.

Move Is Made To Precede Legislature

The Board of County Commissioners, meeting in a special session last Thursday, changed their requested date for the holding of an A. B. C. election in Orange County from February 7 to Tuesday, February 3, next.
The commissioners at their monthly meeting on September 2 had voted to ask the Board of Elections to conduct the county-wide referendum on the establishment of liquor stores on February 7, coinciding with a previously announced decision of the Alamance County commissioners to hold a similar vote on the same day.
The date for the election was moved back to February 3 in order that it might be held prior to the convening of the State legislature on February 4 and possible legislative action to prevent the holding of the election or the application of the state law.
Members of the board had been advised that opponents of the referendum may have prevailed upon members of the legislature to introduce special local legislation restricting or otherwise interfering with the proposed county-wide expression of sentiment on the question by the electorate.
No vote on the establishment of ABC stores has been held in this county since the mid-1930s following the adoption of the local option law in North Carolina.
Indications have been evident for several years that there is strong sentiment in all parts of the county for another vote on the question and the Commissioners, acting on informal petitions, called for the vote.

Welfare Staff Gets Several New Workers

A number of staff changes have taken place in the Orange County Welfare Department in recent weeks and several new workers assumed their duties with the agency, according to Mrs. Jane Parker, superintendent.
Mrs. Frances Seasholes, who is child welfare worker, has had experience with the Home for Little Wanderers in Boston, Women's Prison in Raleigh, and Child Guidance Clinic in Durham. She has her Master's degree in Social Work and is from Chapel Hill.
Robert Phillips, a graduate of High Point College, who is working in the Chapel Hill and Carrboro Area, has had experience in Public Welfare. He has worked with old age assistance, aid to dependent children and aid to permanently and totally disabled programs in Florida and Iowa. He is a native of Durham and presently lives there.
Mrs. Elizabeth Vastano is a graduate of Woman's College in Greensboro and has had two years experience as a caseworker at Montrose Training School for Girls in Baltimore. She comes here from Winston Salem and will be working in the northern part of the county with adults.
Miss Judith Greene is a candidate for her master's degree and is doing six months field work in Child Welfare. She is from the University of North Carolina School of Social Work. She comes from Statesville.
Mrs. Shirley Jean Doby has replaced Miss Jean Roberts who has accepted a position in Durham. Mrs. Doby has had four years secretarial experience in Burlington. She is a graduate of Burlington Business College.
Mrs. Geraldine Fossum who has been working in child welfare is on educational leave at the UNC School of Social Work and will return to the Department in June 1959.

Goodwin Takes Over Drive-In

J. G. Goodwin Sr. will assume active operation of the Snack Shack at the intersection of Highways 70 and 86, north of Hillsboro, next Monday.
Mr. Goodwin has purchased the interest of Thomas Porterfield, who has been operating the popular drive-in for several months, as leasee from George Smith, Mountain View Estates.
Mr. Goodwin was in the grocery business in Hillsboro for many years and more recently has been manager of the meat department of J. L. Brown & Sons. He is active in the civic and religious life of the community.

Counties At Impasse In Hassle Over Assignment Of Students

Orange County school officials have now reached a virtual impasse in their efforts to secure the return of 11 school children which left the Aycock school and enrolled at Prospect Hill in Caswell county despite their assignment by the Orange board to that county.
The students, members of two Kirby families in northern Orange, are among the principals in an assignment hassle involving the three counties of Caswell, Person and Orange.
It all stems from the provisions of the 1955 Pupil Assignment Act, and its 1957 amendments, which vests in the school boards complete authority for assignment of pupils residing in their administrative units. The catch in the matter is that the law provides no administrative remedy in cases in which counties disagree short of the courts, and no test cases have been brought to the Supreme Court.
Caswell county's superintendent, in a conference in Raleigh with Superintendent G. P. Carr of Orange and State officials of the Department of Education and Attorney General was quoted as saying "I know we're wrong, but we've got 'em and our board says we should keep them."
In apparent anger over the Caswell attitude and recent actions of the Person County Board of Education in denying a number of borderline families permission to continue attending Aycock school as they have in the past, in defiance of the clear wording of the law, Board Members C. D. Jones and John E. Hawkins Tuesday night voted to permit the Person children, about 15 in number, to come to Aycock against the assignment orders of the Person County Board.

Earlier in the year the Person board had ordered the families involved who live just across the line from Orange to come to school in Person because of dwindling attendance at Hurdle Mills, Orange at that time did not demand that five Orange residents who attend in Person be returned. At the meeting last week after Person's board had declined to reverse its stand on the Aycock area students, Orange County's board retaliated by ordering all Negro students from Person, who had been attending Cedar Grove, to be returned to Person.
The Caswell hassle and the retaliatory actions by the Orange board last week and Tuesday night followed.
