

Museum Allocated $300 From Recent Tour Profit

Orange Garden Club at the beginning of the summer recess allocated $300 of the proceeds from a highly successful Homes Tour to the Orange Historical Museum.

Community Plans Forward

Meeting to plan the formation of a Community Family for West Hillsboro was held Saturday night in the parlors of the West Hillsboro.

Assembly heard the reports of Terrell and Bernice at the management of the club and Belle Vue Mills operate with the Family following the use of their recreational purposes will make their proper use upon the full organization.

Membership campaign. A committee was set up to people in the community maintain them with present activities now under the leadership of Mr. Dock Andrew and Mrs. Bernice Hurley Dickey. Mrs. Lar and Mrs. Francis Executive Board Meeting will be held the last of May to make plans for the new year beginning in September.

Homecoming At Cane Creek This Sunday

Cane Creek Baptist Church at Orange Grove will hold its annual homecoming and memorial day observance Sunday, May 17th.

Armed Forces Day Flight Slated

jets from Seymour Johnson over seventeen North Carolina cities including this Saturday from 9:30 a. m. as part of their aerial Armed Forces Day.

100 Supersabres from Johnson's Fourth Tactical Wing, four F-102 Daggers, 482d Fighter Interceptor and four T-33 twin seat will rear off the Seymour Johnson runway at 9:30 for a formal demonstration as part of the morning show which the flight line at 9 a. m. for three hours.

Seven jets will pass over Orange County cities at 1500 feet in various formation: at 9:30 a. m.: Selma - 9:35; Raleigh - 9:37; Hillsboro - 9:42; Greensboro - 9:48; High Point - 9:52; Sanford - 9:57; Air Force Base - 10:11; Clinton - 10:13; Kinston - 10:25; Seymour Johnson at 10:30.

passes will be made over the line at Seymour Johnson for the free morning show. North Carolina exhibits of the latest bombers plus fire and demonstrations will round off the morning festivities. The base are encouraging their cameras and pictures taken with jet

Seeking Action By General Assembly

Schley Pushes 'Guidance' Program

"Children have special talents and interests which often show up at an early age and persist through life," Mrs. Ella S. Barrett, Vocational Guidance Director of the State Board of Education, told Schley Community members and guests from throughout the county at Schley Grange Hall Tuesday night.

There is something for every child, Mrs. Barrett pointed out, Vocational Guidance provides a child with the information needed to size up his strengths and weaknesses and to make an intelligent decision as to what he is best fitted for.

Mrs. Barrett pointed out that the Federal Government is offering to provide fifty percent of the funds needed to establish vocational guidance.

Mrs. Barrett was introduced by Grady Brown, Principal of the Hillsboro High School. A general discussion period followed Mrs. Barrett talk, revealing much interest in securing vocational guidance in the local schools.

The securing of Vocational Guidance in the local schools has been a community project of Schley Grange for some time. Following the general discussion Schley Grange members voted to draft a new resolution urging the North Carolina General Assembly to provide Guidance Counselors in the schools, pointing out that the North Carolina State Grange had adopted such a resolution submitted by Schley Grange at the State meeting last October.

Parker Roland and Harry Woods were also delegated to call on Orange County's legislators this week end to urge the enactment of measures needed to provide vocational guidance in the schools of North Carolina.

There are many thousands, even millions of these buzzing creatures in the vicinity of the M. R. McGirt home between White Cross and Dodsons Cross Roads. You may drive along the road for several miles and stop the car and hear the whirring "buzz-saw" noise of these insects.

The insects (only the male makes the noise) have their sound-producing organs, a kind of "drum", on each side of the base of the abdomen.

This year's "crop" of locusts (cicadas), by means of a saw like appendage, will lay eggs in the twigs of trees. The nymphs, upon hatching, will drop to the ground and bury themselves. They feed, in that stage, by sucking juices from the roots of forest and fruit trees, and finally change into the pupae. In the latter stage, after 13 years, they crawl from the ground, clutch hold of a suitable leaf or limb and emerge as full-fledged cicadas which appear each year, but in relatively small numbers.

Insofar as it can be learned at this time, no serious damage has been done to trees or shrubs.

Liquor Case Of ABC Man Transferred

The case against a Negro ABC investigator from Raleigh charged with illegal possession of non-tax-paid whiskey and speeding in Orange County, was transferred Monday to Middle District Federal Court for hearing on the whiskey charge.

The petition for transfer on behalf of Harold D. Wright, was filed in federal court by Howard V. Hart, an assistant U. S. Attorney, and allowed here Monday by Assistant Recorder A. H. Graham, who placed the defendant under $500 bond, however, for trial in this county in Superior Court on the speeding charge.

Wright claims that as an investigator for the state ABC board he had legal right to have possession of the quart of whiskey found on him.

Locusts Are Back In White Cross Area

After a period of about 13 years the peace and quiet in the White Cross Community has been broken by the hum and buzz of a red-eyed insect which most people call a locust.

There are many thousands, even millions of these buzzing creatures in the vicinity of the M. R. McGirt home between White Cross and Dodsons Cross Roads. You may drive along the road for several miles and stop the car and hear the whirring "buzz-saw" noise of these insects.

The insects (only the male makes the noise) have their sound-producing organs, a kind of "drum", on each side of the base of the abdomen.

This year's "crop" of locusts (cicadas), by means of a saw like appendage, will lay eggs in the twigs of trees. The nymphs, upon hatching, will drop to the ground and bury themselves. They feed, in that stage, by sucking juices from the roots of forest and fruit trees, and finally change into the pupae. In the latter stage, after 13 years, they crawl from the ground, clutch hold of a suitable leaf or limb and emerge as full-fledged cicadas which appear each year, but in relatively small numbers.

Insofar as it can be learned at this time, no serious damage has been done to trees or shrubs.

Plans For Golf Course Being Formulated Here

A strong movement to establish a country club and 9-hole golf course in the Hillsboro area is well into the advanced planning stage.

Several interested citizens of the community have been busy contacting potential members and obtaining reactions for several weeks. Two weeks ago, a representative of the National Golf Foundation, Harry Eckhoff, met with some dozen or 15 community leaders at a supper meeting at Colonial Inn in the interest of such an organization.

This was in the nature of a fact-finding session, with the visitor supplying information on various aspects of the program and evaluating the suitability of one potential site for the course.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kirkland have agreed tentatively to make available for lease or sale up to 52 acres in a tract on the Kirkland's Aymount Estate which was described by Eckhoff as an "excellent natural site" which would require a minimum of work to bring into shape for use.

Another site is also being considered by the group making the preliminary organizational survey. No definite plans have yet been made, all activities thus far being exploratory. However, if feasibility is established a formal organization will be set up.

Named as a preliminary committee to proceed with organizational plans at the recent meeting were the following: R. J. Smith Jr., B. F. Allison, Jack Ray, Dr. H. W. Moore, C. Scott Cates, Ira Ward, Marion Allison and E. J. Hamlin.

School Census Is Underway In All Units

A general census of all persons in the area embraced by the Orange County Schools Administrative unit of all ages below 21 years is now underway.

Census cards for compilation of family data and letters seeking parental cooperation have gone out to the individual schools from the County Superintendent's office this week. Various methods will be used by individual schools to assure that the data is complete.

The explanatory letter from Superintendent G. P. Carr to be sent all parents is as follows: "At its regular meeting on Monday, May 4, the Orange County Board of Education asked that a census be taken of all persons in the Orange County Unit between birth and 21 years of age.

"This census is being requested at this time to bring up-to-date our record of pre-school students and students who have dropped out of school but are still of school age. This information will be useful for future planning.

"One card is to be used for each family. Where there are children in both elementary and high school, separate cards should be made; one for the high school children in the family and one for the elementary school children in the family.

"Will you please help us make this census complete and accurate by filling out a card for your family for each school which your children attend. Please also get cards filled out by your neighbors who have children if they do not have children in school.

"By helping with this census, you will help us assure your children adequate schools. We appreciate your help very much.

County Meeting On White House Conference Monday

Dr. Harold Harris, Instructor, Department of Psychiatry, UNC School of Medicine, will address the first meeting of the Orange County Committee, 1960 White House Conference on Children and Youth, Monday evening at 7:30 p. m. in the court room of the Orange County Courthouse in Hillsboro.

county committees will be invited. President Dwight D. Eisenhower in his call for the golden anniversary White House Conference on Children and Youth said: "The rapidly changing times in which we live, and the increasing pace of change, make it incumbent on us to do everything we can to plan ahead and to see that we prepare today's children for life in tomorrow's world."

March 27 through April 1, 1960 has been set for the golden anniversary White House Conference on Children and Youth. This will be the sixth time in fifty years that citizen representatives from all states and territories will meet to share a common concern for advancing the welfare of children.

Governor Luther H. Hodges designated the North Carolina Conference for Social Service as the state coordinating agency for the conference. Dean Merib E. Mossman, Woman's College, UNC, is the chairman. In the first bulletin to county chairmen, Dean Mossman says, "If this White House Conference is to achieve any measure of success, it must start with the people themselves, their problems, and their efforts to solve these problems. The county, then, is the starting point and the County White House Conference Committee is the nucleus for this."

Following are the committees working on the play: Scenery—Ray Barnes, chairman, Joe Crawford, Advertising—Eugene Kennedy, chairman, Agnes Scarlett and Cecil Davis; Make-Up—Hilda Settlemyre, chairman and Judy Graham. Stage Manager—Charles Mincey; Announcer—Sally Kenyon and Pianist—Gene Nordan.

Marshals of the Hillsboro School this year are: Nicky Kenyon, chief and Linda Efland, chief; Harry Lloyd, Clarence Roberson, Dupre Jones, Nancy Roberts, Evelyn Lloyd, Lynda Brewer, Jan Ward King and Linda Terrell.

Senior Class Play Friday Opens Commencement Season

Tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Hillsboro High School Auditorium, the Senior Class will present its annual play, "June Wedding," a comedy in three acts, under the direction of Mrs. Edgar T. Campbell.

As usual, the play begins the high school commencement exercises. The cast is as follows: Dandy Perry—Kay Williams; Mrs. Martha Perry—Mary Miller; Linda Perry—Nancy Oakley; Claudia Jones—Catherine Roberts; Ruthie Miller—Annie Laurie Blackwelder; Mrs. Lucia Gavin—Mary Lou Jarrett; Mrs. Millie Henshaw—Louise Riley; Beverly Gavin—Judy Graham; Gladys, the maid—Hilda Settlemyre; Alan Perry—Harvey Reinhardt; Gordon Gavin—

Wayne Roberts; Billy Bridges—Tommy Adkins; Art Coleman—Philip Dodson; Dutch Whyte—Kenneth Cook and Prof. Roderick Gavin—J. W. Dickey.

Following are the committees working on the play: Scenery—Ray Barnes, chairman, Joe Crawford, Advertising—Eugene Kennedy, chairman, Agnes Scarlett and Cecil Davis; Make-Up—Hilda Settlemyre, chairman and Judy Graham. Stage Manager—Charles Mincey; Announcer—Sally Kenyon and Pianist—Gene Nordan.

Marshals of the Hillsboro School this year are: Nicky Kenyon, chief and Linda Efland, chief; Harry Lloyd, Clarence Roberson, Dupre Jones, Nancy Roberts, Evelyn Lloyd, Lynda Brewer, Jan Ward King and Linda Terrell.

Musical Bill To Feature PTA Finale

A musical program is planned for the last meeting of the school year of the Hillsboro Parents and Teachers Association Tuesday night beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Dodson's sixth grade will have the devotional by Billy Lloyd and "The Lord's Prayer" by Avis Lloyd. The class will sing, "Follow the Gleam." They will also give a play, "In the Southland," a short musical romance of the Anti-Bellum period, by H. L. Bland.

The characters of the play are: Nancy Porter by Avis Lloyd; Colonel Benjamin Porter by Don Plummer; Richard Whitson by Steve Neighbors; Franklin James by Steve Johnson; Marybelle Han-

By JOHN W. UMSTEAD The General Assembly received Governor Hodges' statement in regard to state finances on Monday night of last week. The Governor raised the estimate of state revenue formerly submitted by the sum of sixteen million dollars, or eight million dollars per year for each year of the biennium. This was welcome news to the Legislators until they began to take into consideration the valid request for increases over and above the Budget Commission's recommendations. When they did this the problem of money for necessary services still remained since this eight million dollars would not take care of the services that many think are absolutely necessary.

The Finance Committee has not voted on a single measure to increase revenue up to date, however, they have before them a number of Bills to raise new taxes and provide the necessary services. It is to be hoped that they will take some action very soon which will show their Appropriations Committee whether or not they can expect additional money over and above the sixteen million dollars available under the revised estimate.

Representative Blue, Chairman of the House Finance Committee, introduced the Withholding Tax Bill during the week. This was discussed at length in committee and there has developed among members of the Assembly quite a lot of opposition to the plan. Inasmuch as this plan would raise forty-eight million dollars of the amount recommended by the Budget Commission it's defeat would really present a problem.

As the readers of the News have already seen from the daily newspapers the Minimum Wage Bill was passed by the Senate and is now a law. This Bill originally was supposed to increase the salaries of some 70,000 persons in N. C. (See UMSTEAD, Page 2)

Withholding Tax Defeat Would Present Problem

By JOHN W. UMSTEAD The General Assembly received Governor Hodges' statement in regard to state finances on Monday night of last week. The Governor raised the estimate of state revenue formerly submitted by the sum of sixteen million dollars, or eight million dollars per year for each year of the biennium. This was welcome news to the Legislators until they began to take into consideration the valid request for increases over and above the Budget Commission's recommendations. When they did this the problem of money for necessary services still remained since this eight million dollars would not take care of the services that many think are absolutely necessary.

The Finance Committee has not voted on a single measure to increase revenue up to date, however, they have before them a number of Bills to raise new taxes and provide the necessary services. It is to be hoped that they will take some action very soon which will show their Appropriations Committee whether or not they can expect additional money over and above the sixteen million dollars available under the revised estimate.

Representative Blue, Chairman of the House Finance Committee, introduced the Withholding Tax Bill during the week. This was discussed at length in committee and there has developed among members of the Assembly quite a lot of opposition to the plan. Inasmuch as this plan would raise forty-eight million dollars of the amount recommended by the Budget Commission it's defeat would really present a problem.

As the readers of the News have already seen from the daily newspapers the Minimum Wage Bill was passed by the Senate and is now a law. This Bill originally was supposed to increase the salaries of some 70,000 persons in N. C. (See UMSTEAD, Page 2)

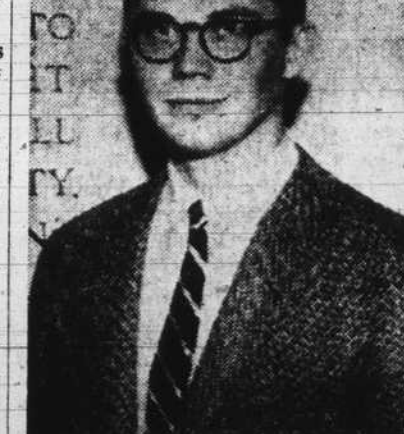

Selected For Phi Beta Kappa

Two from Hillsboro were among fifty-two seniors and juniors at the University of North Carolina initiated into Phi Beta Kappa, top scholastic society, in ceremonies on the campus Tuesday.

They are Bryan "Buck" Roberts and Charles Frederick Floyd. Roberts is a junior and Floyd is a senior.

Those initiated who are from Chapel Hill were: Marian Lou Dickens Oakley, senior and John Howard Payne Helms and Theodore Carlton Moore Jr., both juniors.

Chancellor Robert B. House addressed a banquet held in Lenoir Hall honoring the initiates after the induction ceremonies.

BRYAN (BUCK) ROBERTS

Locusts Are Back In White Cross Area

After a period of about 13 years the peace and quiet in the White Cross Community has been broken by the hum and buzz of a red-eyed insect which most people call a locust.

There are many thousands, even millions of these buzzing creatures in the vicinity of the M. R. McGirt home between White Cross and Dodsons Cross Roads. You may drive along the road for several miles and stop the car and hear the whirring "buzz-saw" noise of these insects.

The insects (only the male makes the noise) have their sound-producing organs, a kind of "drum", on each side of the base of the abdomen.

This year's "crop" of locusts (cicadas), by means of a saw like appendage, will lay eggs in the twigs of trees. The nymphs, upon hatching, will drop to the ground and bury themselves. They feed, in that stage, by sucking juices from the roots of forest and fruit trees, and finally change into the pupae. In the latter stage, after 13 years, they crawl from the ground, clutch hold of a suitable leaf or limb and emerge as full-fledged cicadas which appear each year, but in relatively small numbers.

Insofar as it can be learned at this time, no serious damage has been done to trees or shrubs.

Plans For Golf Course Being Formulated Here

A strong movement to establish a country club and 9-hole golf course in the Hillsboro area is well into the advanced planning stage.

Several interested citizens of the community have been busy contacting potential members and obtaining reactions for several weeks. Two weeks ago, a representative of the National Golf Foundation, Harry Eckhoff, met with some dozen or 15 community leaders at a supper meeting at Colonial Inn in the interest of such an organization.

This was in the nature of a fact-finding session, with the visitor supplying information on various aspects of the program and evaluating the suitability of one potential site for the course.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kirkland have agreed tentatively to make available for lease or sale up to 52 acres in a tract on the Kirkland's Aymount Estate which was described by Eckhoff as an "excellent natural site" which would require a minimum of work to bring into shape for use.

Another site is also being considered by the group making the preliminary organizational survey. No definite plans have yet been made, all activities thus far being exploratory. However, if feasibility is established a formal organization will be set up.

Named as a preliminary committee to proceed with organizational plans at the recent meeting were the following: R. J. Smith Jr., B. F. Allison, Jack Ray, Dr. H. W. Moore, C. Scott Cates, Ira Ward, Marion Allison and E. J. Hamlin.

School Census Is Underway In All Units

A general census of all persons in the area embraced by the Orange County Schools Administrative unit of all ages below 21 years is now underway.

Census cards for compilation of family data and letters seeking parental cooperation have gone out to the individual schools from the County Superintendent's office this week. Various methods will be used by individual schools to assure that the data is complete.

The explanatory letter from Superintendent G. P. Carr to be sent all parents is as follows: "At its regular meeting on Monday, May 4, the Orange County Board of Education asked that a census be taken of all persons in the Orange County Unit between birth and 21 years of age.

"This census is being requested at this time to bring up-to-date our record of pre-school students and students who have dropped out of school but are still of school age. This information will be useful for future planning.

"One card is to be used for each family. Where there are children in both elementary and high school, separate cards should be made; one for the high school children in the family and one for the elementary school children in the family.

"Will you please help us make this census complete and accurate by filling out a card for your family for each school which your children attend. Please also get cards filled out by your neighbors who have children if they do not have children in school.

"By helping with this census, you will help us assure your children adequate schools. We appreciate your help very much.

CHARLES F. FLOYD

REEL PROBLEM — Loading his camera in preparation for some Armed Forces Day "picture taking" at Cherry Point, 5-year-old Mickey Shutak finds himself flabbergasted by the job of loading a film into his camera. Unless he gets some expert coaching, and a film into his camera, Mickey won't have a pictorial record of Armed Forces "Open House" festivities to be held aboard the Marine Corps Air Force Stations in North Carolina on Saturday. The public is invited to come and make pictures.