

Pay parking time is to be moved up to 9 o'clock start

Motorists in Chapel Hill will be given an extra hour's grace in the mornings from the downtown parking meters.

The Board of Aldermen has agreed to the drawing of an ordinance changing the daily starting hour for metered parking from 8 until 9 a.m. The change is to take effect after new informational tabs are affixed on the 400-odd meters subsequent to formal passage of the amended ordinance.

No Need Seen

The Chapel Hill Parking Association sought the roll-back of the pay-for-parking hours on the grounds that less than half of the 92 metered parking spaces on the main downtown business block were occupied before 9 a.m. during a month-long check.

In addition, the Association asked the elimination of eight 12-minute meters in the middle of this block. The aldermen, at their Monday evening meeting, deferred

12 minutes to clip!

Is 12 minutes really long enough for a customer to do any business?

This is the question to which the Chapel Hill aldermen are seeking an answer in determining whether or not the 12-minute meters in the middle of the downtown business block should be eliminated as requested by the Chapel Hill Parking Association. "They're just traps," said an Association spokesman. Police agreed that several times as many overtime parking tickets are handed out for the short-termers than for the one-hour meters nearby.

"I like 'em," said Mayor O. K. Cornwell, rubbing his bald dome. "I can get a haircut in 12 minutes all right."

ed this matter for further study. Mayor O. K. Cornwell said public opinion and the views of the Merchants Association would be sought on this.

The meters were installed in the business district about a year ago. Town Manager Thomas D. Rose said that $12,449 of the $22,200 cost for them had already been paid out of 50 per cent of the receipts from them, and that the remaining $9,700 would likely be paid before the end of this fiscal year.

Accommodating 'legger walks up to still site

Conviction in federal court may prove Lonnie Denison of Route 1, Durham one of the most accommodating bootleggers in Orange County history. Denison, along with Wesley Browning, also of Route 1, Durham, was arrested at the site of a still operating in Eno Township, Orange County, near the Durham line Monday afternoon by Sheriff's Deputies and federal ATU agents.

According to the local officers, Denison walked up to the still site with a case of fruit jars on his shoulder while the officers were in the process of destroying the 180-gallon capacity outfit and pouring out

Nine semi-finalists for scholarships

Two Hillsboro and nine Chapel Hill High School seniors have qualified as semifinalists in the National Merit Scholarship competition.

They are among 10,000 of the highest scores on the nationwide qualifying test given in over 14,500 high schools last spring. The semi-finalists will be given a three-hour examination in testing centers across the country on Dec. 5. Those who repeat their high scores on this test will become finalists.

At Hillsboro, Principal G. A. Brown announced that Harry Lloyd and Nicky Kenyon had qualified as semifinalists.

Of the 117 juniors who took the test at Chapel Hill High School last spring, Principal Miss Marsbanks announced the following semi-finalists: Roger White, Joe Straley Jr., David Henry, Barbee Alexander, Bill Straughn Jr., Bill Bowerman, Anne Prince, Sue Wallace, and Susan Keith-Lucas. Last year and the year before there were eight semi-finalists in in Chapel Hill.
