

GIVE I

The News of orange county

—Chapel Hill, Hillsboro, Carrboro—Between and Beyond—

VOL. 66, NO. 45

HILLSBORO AND CHAPEL HILL, N. C., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1959

24 PAGES

Orange Peelings

SOME SQUIRRELS IN VICTORY Village have been on the rampage lately, according to unofficial reports. One parent reported she and two of her children had been bitten by these aggressive bushy-tailed rodents. Another mother, a girl, and even the ordinarily dauntless mailman were similarly bitten. District Health Officer Dr. O. David Garvin reported that no cases of rabies are known in the area.

OUR PET PEEVE ON THE civic club circuit is to hear from the speaker that "Our program tonight is in charge of Mr. Soandso . . ." Ever so many otherwise grammatically astute persons use this improper terminology. —Always causes us to visualize a massive thing called a "program" leading the chairman around by a ring-in-nose. It's egg before the chicken, please: "The program is under the chairmanship of," or "Mr. Soandso is in charge of the program . . ."

PROF. ROBERT MILLER ENDED his UNC history lecture early the other day to learn students' opinions on TV quiz show contest winner Carl Van Doren's confession. All students except one coed disapproved of the fired Columbia U. professors admitted deception. She said that TV was entertainment and Van Doren would've received at least $129,000 as an actor. Prof. Miller himself said he disapproved of a New York Congressman's compliments to Van Doren, which he felt "seemed to imply that falsehood is the normal standard . . ."

STUART SECHRIEST OF THE UNC journalism faculty is one of 14 N. C. national guard officers whose promotions were announced yesterday by Gov. Hodges' office. Sechriest has shed his captain's bars for the gold leaf of a major. He served actively in the air force from June 1942 until Feb. 1946 and has been in the Army National Guard HQ unit in Raleigh since 1948.

At doorstep . . .
News delivery boys have standing instructions to leave their newspapers at the doorstep of each household in the Chapel Hill-Carrboro community, except by special arrangement with our readers. In the event of improper delivery or failure to receive The News, householders are invited to telephone The News office in Chapel Hill—8-444.

Like father, like sons . . .

TOP FOUR-H AWARDS IN SAME FAMILY— Looking over their achievement awards, presented at Tuesday night's County Four-H Achievement Night program at the County Courthouse in Hillsboro, are County Commissioner Henry Walker of St. Mary's Community, who received an adult leadership award; his son David, who won the county championship in senior achievement; and his brother, Michael, county champion in soil and water conservation.

News photo by Lee Gupton

Glenwood addition okayed

—See story on Page 2

Agent hits joint use of kitchen

—See story on Page 8

Today's Press Run:
7,461

Larkins laughs

GOVERNOR-HOPEFUL AND CHIEF CAMPAIGNERS—An informal kick-off for John Larkins' un-announced campaign for governor of North Carolina was staged in Chapel Hill last Saturday night by a group of University law students. About 150 persons turned out for the occasion. Larkins, of Trenton, is seen with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Loftin of Hillsboro.

News photo