Jaycees set speech contest

Chapel Hill Jaycees will sponsor the nationwide "My True Security" speaking and script writing contest locally for Chapel Hill High School seniors.

Contest Chairman John Ulmer invited entrants to get information on the contest from the high school administration office. Winner of the local competition will receive a $25 savings bond and represent Chapel Hill in the state competition at Winston-Salem April 15.

Other Jaycee projects planned for the spring include a chest x-ray promotion, under chairmanship of George Spooner and Coy Roberts, and the teen-age Road-E-O driving contest, under chairmanship of Frank Foster and Frank Ferrington.
