Big Hands In Orange...

ONCE AGAIN THE MUCH-heralded postal poll on fluoridation of the local water supply has been postponed by the University. Originally scheduled to have been sent out on or about Friday, April 28, the questionnaires are now—according to the latest communique—going to be put in the mail “sometime next week.” The deadline, if there be one, is to be pushed back appropriately.

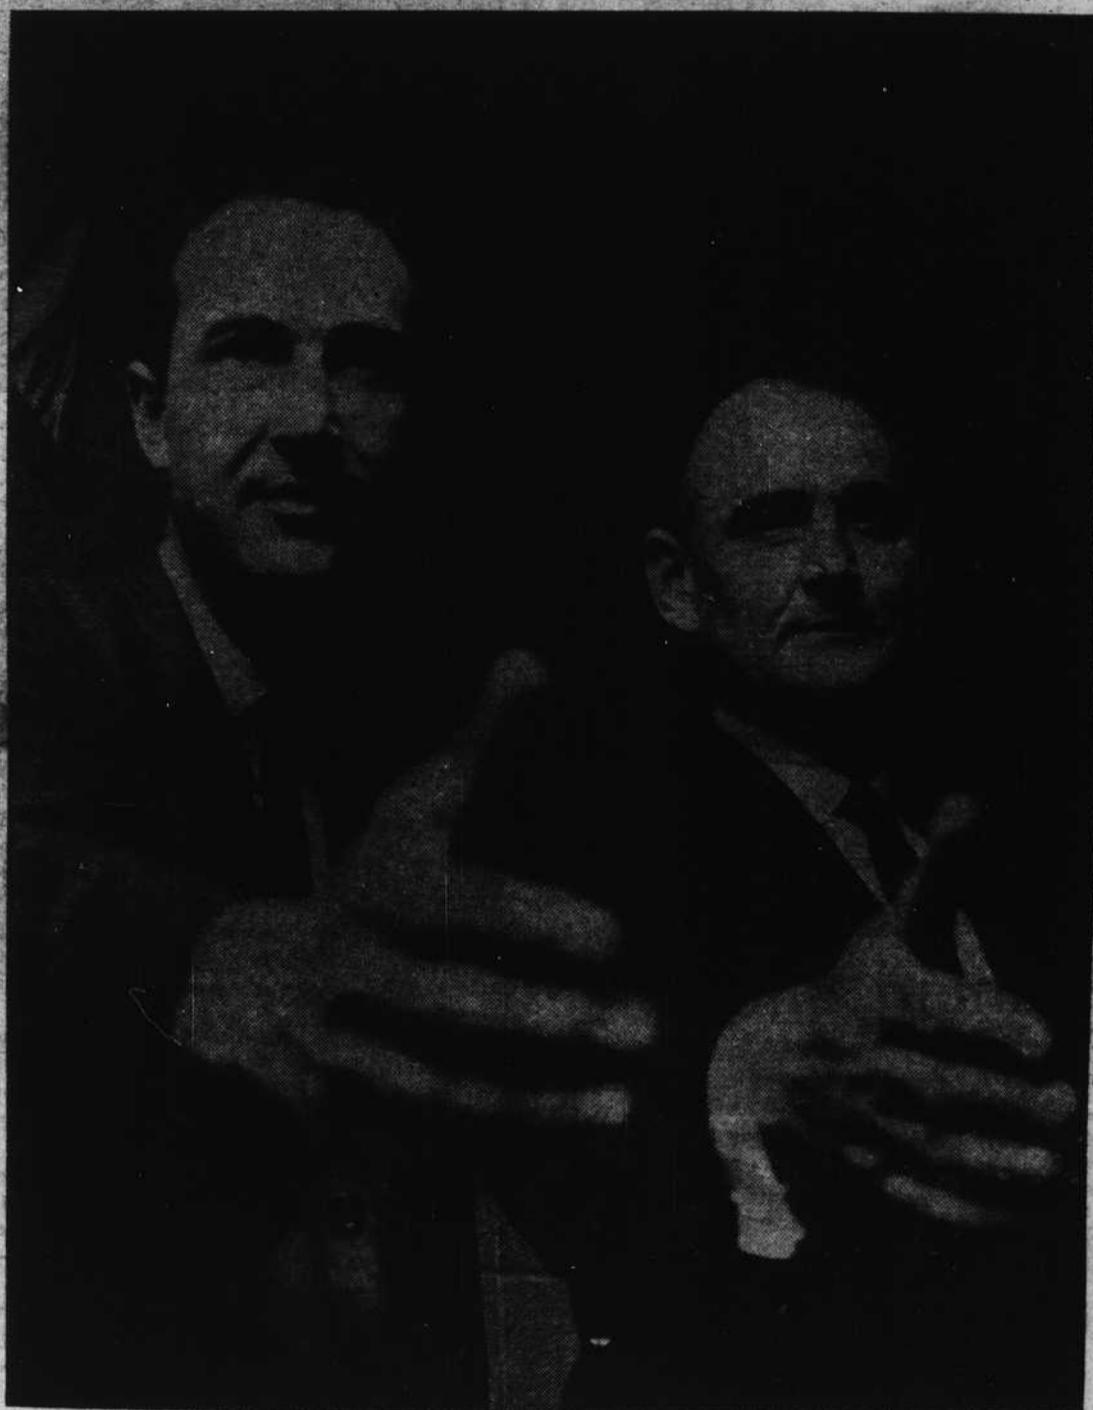

THE CANDIDATES WERE caught in various stages of verbal unawares when the four-minute gong sounded on their campaign speeches during Tuesday night's candidates meeting. When the “ding” came Horace Kornegay stopped in the middle of a word as if shot. Col. Holland Robb continued on authoritatively for another couple of sentences until a second gong was sounded. Philip Schimhan, talking fast, barely made it through his text. Donald Stanford had to quit just as he started to “look to other sources of revenue.”

THE ATTRACTIVE LEAGUE of Women Voters gal on the gong is a woman who knows her stop watches well. Mrs. Sam Magill is married to a former UNC track star. She used to hold the watch on him back in their courting days.

ONE MORE NOTE ON THE candidates meeting, if you please: The bouquet for the best example of one-upmanship during the evening goes to Republican County Commissioner candidate Louis Sparrow. Every other speaker had formally introduced his talk with “Madam Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, and fellow candidates.” Mr. Sparrow, a staunch GOP-er, topped 'em off with “Ladies and gentlemen and fellow travelers.”

AND WHO IS THE JOKER IN the U. S. Postoffice Department, we cannot help asking, who yesterday put in the Newsman's personal P.O. box a letter from High Point addressed simply to “Dr. I. Beverly Lake, Chapel Hill, N. C.?” We resisted the temptation to write “unknown at this address” and simply marked it “Not Box 44” before putting it back in the mail slot.

A “FIRST” IN LOCAL BOY Scouting, according to the Newsman's recollection, is the advancement record last night of University Baptist Church Troop 826 in Chapel Hill. All 35 members of the Troop—including Scoutmaster Gene Lanier who attained the Eagle rank—was given some award at last night's troop court of honor. The Eagle rank also went to Charles Lloyd.

BIG HANDS IN ORANGE—Sixth District Congressional hopefuls Horace 'Dagwood' Kornegay (left) of Greensboro and Bill Murdock of Durham have been more in evidence around Orange County during the last few days. With each having solid support in his home County, and Alamance appearing closely split, Orange will undoubtedly be a big ballot battleground during the closing days before the May 28 primary as the two candidates probe this comparative virgin voter territory.—Stories on their local appearances recently in this issue.
