

Exchangeites tour Cone Mills

About 35 members of the Hillsboro Exchange Club toured the Eno Plant of Cone Mills Corporation recently.

Marion Allison, Overseer of the Spinning Department, was in charge of the program. Immediately following the dinner at the Colonial Inn, Mr. Allison outlined some of the contributions that Cone Mills Corp., is making to the community.

Each member of the club was given a Cone Corduroy Pouch as a souvenir and a copy of "The Story of Cone Mills Corporation." From the Inn, the members traveled to the Eno Plant where they were divided into six groups and guided by the following members of the management team through the plant:

Marion E. Allison, Overseer of Spinning; John W. Dickson, Overseer of Weaving; Anderson L. Hinson, Overseer of Carding; Bobby Knight, Overseer of third shift Spinning and Carding; John H. Terrell, Overseer of the Cloth Room; Willie E. Kennedy, Overseer of the Shop; and Thomas E. Rice, Assistant Supt.

Pictures were made by James M. Faucette, Cost Engineer and Otto A. King, Personnel Manager.

Beverly Lake Jr., who was graduated from the Wake Forest University Law School last week.

THE VOTING ISSUE DEFINED

There are people who believe that all judicial rulings and effective devices should be used to bring about integration as quickly as possible, regardless of the will of the people. The NAACP and other holders of this view will oppose Beverly Lake.

There are other people who say they are not integrationists but whose words and acts indicate that they would approve the use of tricks and revolutionary interpretations of the Constitution to slide us into integration somewhat more slowly but surely. The holders of this view will oppose Beverly Lake.

Many, perhaps most people in North Carolina believe that integration in our schools would be bad for North Carolina, bad for the United States, bad for friendly relations between the races, and bad for future generations. They believe that all legal means should be used to prevent this evil.

IF YOU WANT TO SUPPORT INTER-RACIAL PEACE AND EFFECTIVE SCHOOLS RATHER THAN INTEGRATION AND RACIAL CONFLICT, IF YOU WANT TO SUPPORT FINANCIAL STABILITY RATHER THAN BOOM AND BUST —
