SPEAKING BEFORE THE UNC Faculty Club luncheon Tuesday, Tar Heel Coach Jim Hickey said his team quarterbacks get considerable leeway in calling plays. Only about 30 per cent are called from his bench, the Coach stated. "If he's moving the ball okay we just let 'em go." As for the new "wild card" substitution rule, the Coach called it "the poorest substitution rule in football. You need an JBM machine now to keep track of the other substitutions."

PETE MITCHELL, SPECIAL policeman from near Birmingham, Ala., who was fined for contempt of court during the arson trials at Hillsboro last week is completely on the level, according to County officers. They said they checked and found him to be co-incidentally in Orange County on family business when he was hailed into the courtroom from the corridor by Judge Mallard. The other person given a $25 fine, Negro labor organizer Mason London of Atlanta, left Hillsboro immediately after paying a $25 fine for not standing up when court was recessed. Reliable reports showed he was en route to northeastern N. C. on labor union business when his car broke down in Albemarle and he came to Hillsboro to sit in on the trial while waiting for repairs to be completed.

THE JURY IN THE ARSON- conspiracy cases took three or four polls before coming to its verdicts of guilty on all charges, according to one of the men who returned these findings. They had no foreman as such. When the Judge first questioned 'em on how they were coming along William Powell, Librarian of UNC North Carolina Collection responded. Later when the verdict was turned in UNC Buildings Department employee Thomas Cotten announced it.

POLITICKING SEEMS TO BE cutting on some raw edges around highly-organized Chapel Hill lately. Police were twice asked to go to the Glen Lennox area recently because telephone callers said some Democrats were soliciting for the party without a license—which, of course, is unnecessary. Party Chairman Jim Phipps has a list of all "Dollars for Democrats" solicitors turned in to Town Manager Thomas D. Rose, who now doesn't know what to do with the un-requested list!

HILLSBORO FOLK ARE HOP- ing for a big Chapel Hill turn-out at tomorrow night's Battle of Orange Chapel Hill-Hillsboro football contest in the new Hillsboro Stadium at the Orange Speedway. They point out that there's plenty of parking space right at the field, seats for about 4,000 persons in newly-constructed concrete grandstands, and the playing field is comparable Kenan Stadium.

YOU COULD HAVE KNOCKED over the Chapel Hill tax collector with an abstract form when he read a note enclosed with a bill payment he received this week: "It has been a pleasure to live here . . . I wish you the best of good fortune in the future."
