

Goodwins' life in Korea busy, as Christmas letter attests

CHRISTMAS 1960

(From J. G. Goodwin Jr., Baptist missionary in Korea, and a Hillsboro native)

Dear Friends,

Another year is nearly gone as we look forward to our fifth Christmas in Korea. How the time has flown by! It hardly seems possible that furlough time is just a few months away. These initial years of orientation, adjustment, and study have been difficult ones at times. But the Lord has been gracious and has blessed us in more ways than we can enumerate and understand. We give Him thanks for all that He has done and is doing day by day. And how thankful we are for you, our friends and loved ones in other places who are as truly partners as though you were with us here. Your love and prayers are strong arms of support that we cannot do without.

The year 1960 has brought many changes to Korea, as you have doubtless heard and read. There is yet much apprehension and unrest here. New inflation is threatening the economy. The words of Jesus, "The poor you have with you always," take on a real significance when one walks through the streets of Pusan. But in spite of political unrest and physical poverty, the greatest need of this nation is Christ. Pray for Korea and for more national and missionary preachers to tell the "good tidings of great joy."

All of our family is fine. June is active in W. M. U. work and is studying the language. Jimmy is in second grade at the army dependents school here. Johnny had his third birthday in November and is really a big boy. He

Christmas mass rites planned by Catholics

The centuries-old traditional observance of a Midnight High Mass will be held with solemnity on Christmas Eve at St. Thomas More Catholic Church in Chapel Hill.

Father Francis Murphy will be celebrant of the Mass and preacher.

Doss Phillips will be guest conductor of the choir. Carols will be sung before and after the High Mass. The public is cordially invited.

Confessions on Christmas Eve will be from 3:30 to 5 and 7 to 8 p.m.

Other Masses on Christmas will be at 8:30 and 10:45 a.m. and 12:00 noon.

keeps the house buzzing while Jimmy is at school. J. G.'s hospital and evangelistic duties, as well as part-time language study, keep him well occupied. There is one thing for sure out here—you do not have to spend your time looking for something to do!

As your thoughts are turned to foreign missions during this Christmas season, we hope that you will endeavor to pray more fervently for the increasing multitudes of the world who do not have the joy of Christ in their heart; for the Christians in many lands who are faced with trials and testings and persecutions for righteousness sake; and for those of us, who because of His calling and your faithfulness, have the privilege of being ambassadors for Him in a foreign land.

With our love and best wishes,
J. G. Goodwin Jr.
