

LEGAL NOTICE OF THE UNIVERSITY'S request for a hearing on its superior court motion for dismissal of the anti-fluoridation lawsuit has been served on the attorney for complainant Manning A. Simons, according to Assistant N. C. Attorney General Horton Rountree. The University's legal counsel is hopeful of a hearing on the matter any time after this week during the second week of the current civil term of court in Hillsboro.

A NEW TROPHY—A CONSOLIDATED University flag, the first for Carolina, State and the Woman's College—will be presented the winner of the Tar Heel-Wolf-pack football clash here on Saturday. It was designed by Consolidated University Council member Bill Criswell with the intention of initiating a tradition akin to the Carolina-Duke Victory Bell award.

"WILL THE REAL FOOTBALL road please make itself known." Latest designation of this tag for a highway leading out of Chapel Hill is officially recorded for what has been variously known as "new Greensboro highway" on the State Highway's newly-released secondary road improvement plan for Orange County. Other roads that have borne this title, or epithet, if you will, are the Chapel Hill-Durham boulevard, the dual-laning of Raleigh Road, Manning Road, and N. C. Highway 54 west.

THE TOWN OF CHAPEL Hill, in having 7,000-lumen mercury vapor lamps installed to replace 10,000-lumen incandescent white ways on W. Franklin St., will be making an $.85 a month saving per lamp. Cost of running the incandescents is $3.85 a month, the mercurys, $3.00. The new bulbs, it is reported, will give off as much light as the more powerful ones, and are color-corrected, to boot. —No yellow skin pallor appearance from their rays.

ANENT ROAD NAMES, AS noted above, the hot-rod set calls the road into the Glendale development of Chapel Hill "Thunder Road," also "Hell's Hill." It's become quite a speedway for youthful speedsters. Police learned of the Thunder Road appellation this week when they were called about a '61 Buick that had thundered itself around a power line pole. A 13-year-old girl who'd been driving the car owned by a UNC student was uninjured. Another teen-age girl was unhurt; the owner, slightly injured.

MRS. JAMES R. (RUDIE) FAR-low of Chapel Hill is the only announced candidate for the Presidency of the Orange County Young Democrats Club. The group's annual elections meeting will be held at the courthouse in Hillsboro tonight at 8.

THERE WERE 78 ORANGE District Boy Scouts among the 4,000 from across the Oconeechee Council at last weekend's annual camporee near Ft. Bragg. The local contingent did quite well in patrol competition, the boys from Troop 835 capturing first place in

Circulation Today
7,407
PCT. DISTRIBUTED IN ORANGE COUNTY

County board displeased with secondary road plans

—Story on Page 2

The News of orange county

—Chapel Hill, Hillsboro, Carrboro—Between and Beyond—

Vol. 69, No. 39

HILLSBORO AND CHAPEL HILL, N. C., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1961

28 Pages

Race precedent again seen in action of school board

—Story on Page 3

Local CAP aids at crash scene...

THEY WERE PREPARED—Members of the Chapel Hill Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol were on the spot to give much-needed emergency help when a C-123 Air Force transport crashed just after take-off during a CAP-sponsored air show at Wilmington on Sunday afternoon. Photos taken by Chapel Hill CAP communications officer Jim Botsford show a fireman racing toward the burning plane (above) and (below) the local unit's emergency communications vehicle which was pressed into service as an ambulance. Squadron members Art Storm, Sam Wilburn, P. E. Barrow, and W. D. Neville, in addition to Mr. Botsford, were watching atop a hangar when the plane carrying newsmen and sky divers crashed a quarter-mile across the field. Their vehicle was used to transport injured men to a helicopter for air ambulance to the hospital, and also as the only direct radio communication from the crash scene to the airport tower.

