

Orange Pealings

CHEST-RED CROSS DRIVE OPENING IN CHAPEL HILL

--Story on Page 3

SIXTH DISTRICT REP. HORACE KORNEGAY got in several licks of political homework this week when he made the circuit of Orange County postoffices to make himself available to the people. It was the first time with-in memory a congressman had made a scheduled itinerary of visits to these community centers so close to the hearts of the people in the small towns and rural communities.

The News

of orange county

—Chapel Hill, Hillsboro, Carrboro—Between and Beyond—

VOL. 69, NO. 43 HILLSBORO AND CHAPEL HILL, N. C., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1961 24 PAGES

AT HILLSBORO, FRIENDS AND passersby, some with personal axes to grind and others just passing the time of day, detained him outside the building for 30 minutes of his one hour visit. At Cedar Grove, Miss Mildred Finley, postmaster, and others had coffee and cookies ready for the distinguished guest and members of the community who gathered there to meet him. The visits seemed to go over big everywhere in the small communities, Kornegay reporting that 100 people turned out at one small community PO in Guilford.

ANENT THE APPROACHING season of the political primary contests, the report out of Durham County this week is that Watts Hill Jr. is definitely considering running for Congress. A former state legislator and city councilman, Hill is touted a strong contender, should he take the plunge. Pealings also noted the press piece about a Chapel Hill opponent for Sen. Sam Ervin. That's an outside possibility, very unlikely as of now, but could develop into something.

WONDERING ABOUT THE substance for a proposed power line route shown on a map at the public hearing in Chapel Hill Monday, Duke Power Co.'s spokesman, W. I. Ward, dubbed it "the Battle line," in deference to Gordon Battle. The latter, representing property owners fighting the proposed Morgan Creek power line route, disclaimed credit for authoring the more southerly route, but declared it had already been rejected by the utility firm.

THE TREE PLANTED ACROSS from the postoffice during the UN Day ceremony in Chapel Hill Tuesday is officially known as a Scanlon red maple—or scientifically, Acer rubrum conica, variety Scanlon. Supplied by Armstrong Tree Service, it was planted by Boy Scouts under supervision of Walter Dunsmore, UNC horticulturist.

TROUPERS IN THE PLAY-makers cast of "The Matchmaker," took a break last weekend to go aboard the USS North Carolina at Wilmington. Postal from the big ship, sent by Louise Lamont, said the show was a big hit state-wide as of then—in Statesville, Campbell College, and Wilmington. The tour ended in

(More PEALINGS, Page 12)

A tree for unity ...

PLANTING FOR THE FUTURE—Chapel Hill Boy Scouts planted a tree on the E. Franklin St. sidewalk as the highlight of the local observance of United Nations Day last Tuesday. The occasion was marked by brief ceremonies at which UN Day Chairman Dan Perry, and Mayor Sandy McClamroch spoke, and the Chapel Hill High School band played.

Public housing body asked by petitioners to aldermen

--Story on Page 2

Circulation Today
7,407
99 PCT. DISTRIBUTED IN
ORANGE COUNTY

CYANIDE CASE 'HELP' OFFERED

—See Newsman's Notepad