If Rover bites the postman you may have to go after mail

If you have a dog that likes to bite mailmen, you had better keep him locked up, or you may have to pick up your mail at the Post Office.

There are many jokes about mailmen and their not-so-happy relationship with man's best friend. But to mailmen it's no joke being bitten or chased from someone's yard while trying to deliver their mail.

Chapel Hill Postmaster J. Paul Cheek says that over the past 30 days one mailman has been bitten and two chased out of yards. He says this is a serious problem, and postal authorities have been trying to solve it since 1957 when over 6,000 mailmen were bitten.

"When we have an incident, we simply call the dog's owner and tell him to pick up his mail at the Post Office," says Postmaster Cheek. "And it stays that way until something is done about the dog. We cannot tolerate this sort of thing."

ASCS will pre-check tobacco crop acreage

Any farmer in this county may have the acreage laid off for him on which he will plant his tobacco crop for this year. This service which is offered to producers of all allotment crops by the ASCS is termed "premeasurement".

This premeasurement service can be requested through the Orange County ASCS Office. The farmer will be required to pay the actual cost of the visit to his farm and the determination of acreage on his farm. The deposit to cover this cost is made by the farmer at the time he makes application for premeasurement.

The premeasured acreage will be accepted by the ASCS Office as the "official" measured acreage provided the farmer plants the entire premeasured area exactly as premeasured, and provided no obvious error was made in the premeasurement.
